LEWIS TO FACE SHOWDOWN ON COAL STRIKES

Called to See F. D. R. in Mines Crisis.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—Tension mounted in the capital tonight as President Roosevelt promised drastic action to keep the soft coal mines operating to supply fuel for rearmament production, and the forces of John L. Lewis announced growing support of his demands for a union shop in captive coal mines operated by steel companies.

Mr. Roosevelt's promises of action to keep the mines producing coal for arms manufacture were contained in the letter sent to the house urging approval of neutrality act amendments. He did not say specifically that he would use troops in case Lewis called another strike in the mines, but it is known that preparations for such action have been made.

The President will confront Lewis and other officials of the United Mine Workers of America [CIO] as well as steel company representatives at a White House conference tomorrow morning.

Strike Call Possible.

Shortly before the White House session, Lewis will meet with the 200 members of the UMWA policy making group to decide whether the 53,000 union members in captive mines will be called out and possibly whether all soft coal miners will be asked to strike in sympathy. This would involve about 400,000 miners. In recent years the policy group has done as Lewis wished.

So far Lewis has been mum on his intentions since the National Defense Mediation board, in a 9 to 2 decision, on Monday recommended against a union shop in the captive mines. But in protest, all CIO representatives on the mediation board, two regulars and seven alternates, have resigned. The last two alternates, who quit today, were Emil Rieve, president of the Textile Workers of America, and Herbert W. Payne, a vice president of the same union. All CIO cases have been withdrawn from consideration by the board.

Truce Ends Tomorrow.

Lewis had agreed to a 15-day truce in the captive mines dispute pending mediation by the board and deadline for this truce expires Saturday.

Officials of the UMWA claimed that telegrams advising Lewis to "stick to your guns" were arriving from union locals thruout the nation.

The possibility was seen that Mr. Roosevelt may give the go-ahead signal for anti-strike legislation if Lewis remains obstinate in his demands. Congress is chafing at the bit for consideration of such measures.

Even Rep. Mary T. Norton [D., N. J.], chairman of the house labor committee and an ardent labor supporter, declared today that it is the "unanimous opinion" of her committee that "constructive action" be taken on the strike situation, and she scheduled a meeting for next Tuesday to consider labor legislation.

As soon as the house completed the neutrality vote today Rep. Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] asked Majority Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts: "When do we get that labor legislation we were promised just before the vote?"

He Evades Queries.

McCormack was also besieged by other members who demanded action against strikes in arms industries, but he was evasive, declaring he might be in a better position to answer the question Monday.

Typical of the comments was that of Rep. Howard W. Smith [D., Va.], who said: "The time has come when we ought to have a showdown and know when and if the leadership is going to give us a green light on labor legislation."

Sen. Clyde L. Herring [D., Ia.] introduced a joint resolution to establish a new procedure in settling strikes in rearmament industries which would prohibit work stoppages by orders of labor leaders and forbid new union or closed shop contracts in defense industries. Workers would vote secretly on calling a strike and a 30 day period for adjudication would be provided.

Son Challenges Story of Death on Honeymoon

MONTERREY, Mexico, Nov. 13 [Special].—Arthur Torrance of New York City, who indicated that he either is or has assumed the identity of the noted explorer and scientist of that name, was held by police here tonight for investigation into the death of his bride, the former Mrs. Ada Loveland, wealthy 70 year old society matron of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Mrs. Loveland died in a hospital here Saturday night while on a honeymoon with the man she married a month ago in Kentucky. Henry Waterman, United States consul here, said her body had been ordered exhumed for examination.

The actions were taken following a written accusation by the dead woman's son, Richard Loveland of Los Angeles, an American government employé, who expressed suspicion of Torrance's report that the death was caused by a motor car accident.

Tells of His Life.

Torrance was not formally identified as the explorer, but gave a brief description of his life that corresponded with that of the explorer. He said he is a Scotsman, became a naturalized American citizen about 25 years ago, had traveled thru five continents and had written four books, one of which was entitled "Jungle Mania."

The explorer, Dr. Arthur Frederick Torrance, is a native of England, who became a naturalized American in 1914. He was a scientist at the University of Southern California and has led expeditions to Africa, Borneo, Cochin China, Burma, Siam, and Manchuria. He is credited with conquering sleeping sickness in Africa and is a noted expert on tropical diseases.

The explorer is the author of "Jungle Mania," an American best seller published in London in 1933. The London publishers withdrew the book, however, after discovery that it contained striking resemblances to a novel by a well known English author.

"Assumed" to Be Explorer.

Richard Loveland said here that "It had always been assumed" that the man his mother married was the noted explorer.

The former Mrs. Loveland was the widow of William Loveland, millionaire paper manufacturer of Kalamazoo and Watervliet, Mich., who died several years ago. The Lovelands were divorced 20 years ago but were remarried about a year later.

Following their divorce, Loveland married Mrs. Helen MacBeth Mills, an actress, and honeymooned in Europe with her. During the wedding tour, however, Loveland was said to have suddenly left his bride in Paris and to have returned home alone. She returned, obtained a divorce, and received a property settlement and alimony approximating $100,000.

Torrance, who said he is 55, said he first met Mrs. Loveland in Honolulu about four years ago. He visited

ICELANDER FATALLY SHOT IN FIGHT; HOLD 2 AMERICAN SOLDIERS

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Nov. 13 (AP).—Privates Everett L. Farmer of Huntington, W. Va., and Charles H. Cox of McKee, Ky., were charged with manslaughter today and will be tried by a court martial on Monday for the fatal shooting of an Icelandic fisherman in a fight.

Thordor Sigurdsson died Tuesday of a bullet wound in the stomach suffered Saturday night in the fight at Hafnarfjorder, 10 miles from Reykjavik. The judge advocate's staff said there was "no evidence of premeditation." The shooting, however, caused a sensation here, with newspapers recommending that Icelanders avoid American soldiers as much as possible to prevent further clashes.

Newspaper accounts said Farmer and Cox were carrying guns in violation of regulations and became involved in a quarrel while they and a group of Icelanders were drinking the local 1 per cent beer in a café. When the soldiers left the Icelanders followed, and the street fight ensued. The Icelanders contend the soldiers began firing at them. The soldiers assert Sigurdsson seized Cox, who then struck him with a pistol in self-defense. During the struggle a pistol was discharged several times.

U. S. Stepping Closer to War, London Is Told

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 14 [Friday].—"They are coming over!" "First of U. S. Merchant Fleet Sails Next Week!"

Under these two headlines, Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express this morning told its readers that the United States house of representatives had voted, 212 to 194, to permit armed American merchant ships to enter belligerent ports.

The Daily Express described the neutrality revision as "the biggest help which the United States has yet given to the allied cause," and declared that President Roosevelt has "struck Hitler the hardest blow he has yet delivered."

"Probably within a fortnight," it said, "we will have American ships delivering arms at British ports."

Sees F. D. R. Policy Indorsed.

In a front page commentary on the house action, C. V. R. Thompson, New York correspondent of the Daily Express who is now in London, said:

"It was a war debate which took place in Washington and Roosevelt won it. American neutrality no longer exists. Roosevelt's policy, so unmistakably heading for open war against the axis, has been indorsed by congress."

Other newspapers also hailed the death knell of American neutrality. Said the Daily Mail:

"America may not yet be ready for full participation in the war, but she has come as near to it as she can without issuing a formal declaration."

"Long Step" Toward War.

The News Chronicle declared that repeal of the war zone ban was "one more long step" toward American participation in the war and said the United States "will be able to concentrate its supplies at any point of danger."

American Ambassador John G. Winant aroused cheers at the Royal Naval Auxiliary Patrol club dinner last night when he announced the result of the house vote.

[The Associated Press said in a London dispatch that some quarters plainly showed their disappointment over the small majority of 18 votes.]

Admiral Sir Dudley Pound, first sea lord, told the dinner guests that American naval aid already has been vital in the battle of the Atlantic.

'Pork' Credited for Close Ballot.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—The house today voted to permit armed merchant ships of the United States to sail thru war zones into the ports of nations at war, which in effect repeals the neutrality law.

The vote was 212 to 194 in favor of senate amendments which were generally interpreted as a congressional indorsement of the undeclared naval war which President Roosevelt is waging against the axis powers.

A last minute personal appeal from Mr. Roosevelt, read to members by Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, was believed to have swayed some members. The President's theme was that "Berlin will rejoice" if the amendments should meet defeat.

But a pressure campaign of almost inconceivable proportions, waged into the late hours last night by administration leaders, was given major credit for delivering the small majority of 18 votes by which the house accepted the senate's action.

Pork Barrel Tips Scales.

The talk of congress today was about the judgeships, roads, and defense contracts and other favors which were dangled before legislators who had balked at taking the nation into the conflict. Noninterventionist members declared enough statesmen yielded to these blandishments to give the President what he wanted.

Even then, a percentage breakdown showed, the administration was able to muster only a 52.2 per cent majority against a 47.8 per cent minority. The switching of 10 votes would have been enough to change the result.

Voting for the senate measure were 189 Democrats, 22 Republicans, and 1 American Laborite. Opposed were 137 Republicans, 53 Democrats, 1 Farmer Labor member, and 3 Progressives.

Foes of war declared that if the house could have voted last night, before the pork barrel was rolled out, the senate amendments would have been defeated.

400 Members Shout, Scream.

There were dramatic moments as the house prepared to decide whether to repeal three sections of the neutrality law, leaving only a few minor clauses in the act which congress once declared was intended to prevent the country's involvement in foreign wars.

More than 400 members sat in their seats, shouting their approval or screaming their derision as the final speakers arose.

"This is a peace measure!" yelled Majority Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts and the membership and the crowded galleries broke into a great roar of scoffing laughter.

Rep. James P. Richards [D., S. C.],

Plane Carrying U. S. Envoy and Red Diplomat Is Safe

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 14 [Friday] (AP).—The plane carrying American Ambassador Laurence Steinhardt, Soviet Envoy Maxim Litvinov, and Sir Walter Monckton, ministry of information head here, is safe in Iran, it was authoritatively reported today. The plane in which they were flying from Kuibyshev, Russia, was forced off its course and came down at Pahlevi, a Caspian sea port, about 175 miles northwest of their destination, Teheran.

TWO VIOLENT QUAKES ROCK LOS ANGELES AREA; BUILDINGS SWAY

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 14 [Friday] (AP).—Two violent earthquakes, only seconds apart, rocked the Los Angeles area at 12:37 a. m. [2:37 a. m., Chicago time] today. The temblor was in an east-to-west rocking motion. It was one of the strongest shocks felt here since the disastrous 1933 quake in which 100 persons were killed.

Electric power was shut off in some county areas and Hawthorne was without lights for five minutes. Culver City and Whittier were other towns which felt the shocks.

Buildings swayed several seconds. The second shock followed the first within about five seconds. There were no immediate reports of damage.

U. S. Battles Nazis at Sea, Capital Hears

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 [Special].—The Washington Times-Herald, in its issue that appeared on news stands this evening, carried a report that United States naval units had been engaged in a "big battle" with Nazi warships off the coast of Iceland and near the Norwegian coast—the normal route of approach to Russian ports.

At the navy department a press officer said there was "no comment to make" on the story.

Report Americans Win.

The Times-Herald story indicated that the fight took place early this week and that the American forces had the best of the engagement.

According to the Times-Herald, a new type of naval vessel was used by the Germans—a mosquito boat carrier. This vessel was said to have launched a large number of the speedy small craft, carrying torpedoes, to harry shipping in the most traveled north Atlantic sea lanes.

Protecting the boat carrier, it was added, were U-boats which attacked the American naval units when they closed with the surface vessel.

Believe Subs Sunk.

Some of the submarines were believed sunk, the Times-Herald reported.

There were no reports of American losses, if any. Usually well informed circles in the capital tonight said that if the fight occurred early in the week as rumored, it is likely that the news was withheld lest it have an unfavorable effect on the latest neutrality repeal provisions, which were approved by the house today.

'SMOKES' DRIVE IS NOW BECOMING A NATION-WIDE ONE

The "Smokes for Yanks!" campaign of Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., reached nation-wide proportions yesterday when newspapers in nine other American cities joined the movement at the invitation of THE TRIBUNE.

They are the Washington Times-Herald, the Philadelphia Inquirer, the Kansas City Star, the Omaha World-Herald, the Denver Post, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, the San Francisco Chronicle, the New Orleans States, and the Wichita Beacon.

[State and county Legion indorse "Smokes for Yanks!" Story on page 4.]

The newspapers reported that their readers were enthusiastic at the opportunity to show the American armed forces on the Atlantic and at the bases from Iceland to the Caribbean area that Americans at home are thinking of them. The campaigns in the other cities are being modeled after that of THE TRIBUNE on detailed information furnished by this newspaper.

Public officials in the other nine cities were receiving the program with the same enthusiasm that they showed here, and offering contributions and space in their offices for receiving stations.

Editors of the nine coöperating papers said their readers had taken up the Chicago slogan, which was used in THE TRIBUNE'S "Smokes for Sammy!" campaign in 1917. The slogan is "Fifty-Fifty"—buy a package of cigarets or tobacco for a soldier when you buy one for yourself.

A MILLION N. Y. PUPILS DRILL FOR AIR RAID ALARM

New York, Nov. 13 [Special].—More than 1,000,000 New York City school children, ranging in ages from those of the primary classes to high school grades, today were dismissed from classes long enough to be sent thru a variety of "air raid precautions" tests marking observance of civilian defense day here.

Described as a part of the "precedent shattering emergency air raid program" of the board of education, participation of school age children in the city-wide series of "tests" marked a new high in activities of city officials interested in fostering a wartime psychology here.

The drills were staged after a meeting of the board last night, on special orders of James Marshall, board president, who was appointed to office by Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, national director of the Office of Civilian Defense.

Biggest Canadian Flyer Contingent Reaches Britain

A BRITISH PORT, Nov. 13 (AP).—Hundreds of additional Canadian flyers and soldiers arrived in Britain tonight. Officials described the group as the largest sent from Canada under the commonwealth air training program. It included Australians, New Zealanders, and Britons trained in Canada.

SEE CLOSE VOTE AS MANDATE TO MOVE SLOWLY

Leaders of Anti-War Groups Confident.

Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of the America First committee, held last night that the narrow margin of 18 votes by which the administration killed the neutrality act was a cheering moral victory for those opposed to intervention in Europe's wars.

"It is to be hoped that the closeness of the vote will cause the President to proceed cautiously with his plans to send ships to the British Isles and into the war zones. The vote shows that in spite of tremendous pressure put on by the administration it was barely able to bring about the repeal."

Compares Ship Arming Vote.

Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of America First, pointed out that the President had mustered a winning margin in the house of 121 votes, or 259 to 138, on the ship arming bill as compared with 18, or 212 to 194, in yesterday's house vote.

"We are cheered by the closeness of the vote," said Mrs. Fairbank, "and we also are cheered by the fact that British Broadcasting company was heard to comment that the vote was too close. This is, after all, only an engagement we have lost. The fight is still ahead of us. The country is not at war until congress so votes, and our members are eager to continue the fight."

Recalls Civil War Days.

William J. Grace, chairman of the Citizens Keep America Out of War committee, directed attention to the meager repeal vote from midwestern states and the overwhelming southern support that put the Roosevelt program over.

"The lineup," he said, "is reminiscent of Civil war days. In return for British help then, the south is helping Britain now. Anyway you look at it President Roosevelt has failed in his main object; to get a united demonstration favoring his plans. Every test shows that congress is divided and opposed to any rash move toward war."

Meanwhile in Washington the anti-war group in congress expressed hope that the administration's slender victory in the house would restrain President Roosevelt and his cabinet from further involvement in the European war. The noninterventionists admitted that there was no practical manner in which to appeal the issue to the people.

Victory Won by "Pressure."

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], leader of the isolationists, voiced the general opinion of his group when he said:

"The house approval of the war zones amendments by only 18 votes could hardly be considered a victory which the President could crow over. That victory was won by pressure from political bosses all over the country and by the allurement of White House patronage.

"The President simply can't take the country to war on the basis of such a narrow triumph. There is nothing more that we in congress can do than hope that the smallness of the majority will exercise a psychological effect and restrain Mr. Roosevelt from warlike efforts."

In New York the executive committee of the New York chapter of America First declared that the organization had just begun its fight to keep the country out of war, and held that the house vote did not greatly change the situation.

Issue Decided by South.

"Outside of the 14 southern states, where there is, in effect, but one party, which supports the Democratic administration almost as a matter of course, the vote in the senate was 37 men against the President and 31 for him. In the house the total vote was closer, the vote against the President was better than 3 to 2.

John F. Finerty, national chairman of the Keep America Out of War congress, and Mary W. Hillyer, its executive director, declared in New York that the close vote was a warning to the President "not to further provoke war with Germany or Italy or Japan."

Women United, Inc., New York anti-war organization, issued thru its officers a statement in which it was held that "the close vote on the neutrality act amendments gives added proof that the American people are firmly against war."

18 VOTE MARGIN IN HOUSE SCRAPS NEUTRALITY ACT

Ban on Ships Entering War Zones Lifted, 212-194.

who led the fight of southern Democrats against the bill, followed McCormack and was given an ovation as he declared:

"I never before have differed with my President, my speaker, or my leader, but I cannot vote for these amendments which take the nation into war by the back door of treachery! I say to them: 'If this be treason, make the most of it!'"

Letters Read in Solemn Tone.

Speaker Rayburn then took the floor to read letters from President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull which stressed the theory that Germany, Italy, and Japan would applaud enthusiastically if the senate amendments were defeated. Rayburn spoke in solemn tones, and the views of the President and his secretary of state obviously impressed a large proportion of the membership.

The three sections of the act repealed by the senate and house had forbidden:

1. The arming of merchant ships.
2. The sending of American ships into combat zones.
3. The entry of American ships into the ports of nations at war.

Letter Closes Debate.

The reading of the letter from the President climaxed the debate. Mr. Roosevelt declared that he believed repeal of the war zones provisions was of equal importance with eliminating the section against arming of ships.

The text of the letter follows:

"I had had no thought of expressing to the house my views of the effect, in foreign countries and especially in Germany, of favorable or unfavorable action on the senate amendments.

"But in view of your letter, I am replying as simply and clearly as I know how.

"In my message of Oct. 9 I definitely recommended arming of ships and removing the prohibition against sending American flag ships into belligerent ports. Both I regarded as of extreme importance—the first I called of immediate importance at that time. Another month has gone by, and the second I regard today as of at least equal importance with the first.

Cites Three Reasons.

"In regard to the repeal of sections 2 and 3 of the neutrality act, I need only call your attention to three elements.

"The first concerns the continued sinking of American flag ships in many parts of the ocean.

"The second relates to great operational advantages in making continuous voyages to any belligerent port in any part of the world; this in all probability increasing the total percentage of goods—foodstuffs and munitions—actually delivered to those nations fighting Hitlerism.

"The third is the decision by the congress and the executive that this nation, for its own present and future defense, must strengthen the supply line to all of those who are today keeping Hitlerism far from the Americas.

"With all of this in mind, the world obviously is watching the course of this legislation.

Defeat Would Shock Allies.

"In the British empire, in China, and in Russia—all of whom are fighting a defensive war against invasion—the effect of failure of the congress to repeal sections 2 and 3 of the neutrality act would be definitely discouraging. I am confident that it would not destroy their defense or morale, tho it would weaken their position from the point of view of food and munitions.

"Failure to repeal these sections would, of course, cause rejoicing in the axis nations. Failure would bolster aggressive steps and intentions in Germany, and in the other well known aggressor nations under the leadership of Hitler.

"Judging by all recent experience, we could, all of us, look forward to enthusiastic applause in those three nations based on the claim that the United States is disunited as they have so often prophesied.

Domestic Effect Weighed.

"Our own position in the struggle against aggression would be definitely weakened, not only in Europe and in Asia, but also among our sister republics in the Americas. Foreign nations, friends and enemies, would misinterpret our own mind and purpose.

"I have discussed this letter with the secretary of state and he wholeheartedly concurs.

"May I take this opportunity of mentioning that in my judgment, failure of the house to take favorable action on the senate amendments would also weaken our domestic situation? Such failure would weaken our great effort to produce all we possibly can and as rapidly as we can. Strikes and stoppages of work would become less serious in the mind of the public.

"I am holding a conference tomorrow in the hope that certain essential coal mines can remain in continuous operation. This may prove successful.

"But if it is not successful, it is obvious that this coal must be mined in order to keep the essential steel mills at work. The government of the United States has the backing of the overwhelming majority of the people of the United States, including the workers.

The letter came in response to a letter written to the President by Rayburn and McCormack stating that certain members had asked for a direct expression from the President.

Hull Calls It "Essential."

Rayburn also read to the house a letter from Secretary of State Hull stating that he wished to make some comments apart from the points covered in the President's message. He termed the senate measure "absolutely essential to our national defense."

"These conditions are completely different from those existing at the time the neutrality act was passed," he asserted. "They present an entirely new problem of danger and of methods for dealing with it.

"The neutrality act represented an endeavor to avoid the limited danger which might arise from the entrance of American ships into areas of hostilities far from our shores. The provisions of that act did not and could not visualize the vast danger which since has arisen from a world movement of invasion under Hitler's leadership, and which now is moving steadily in the direction of this hemisphere and this country.

"As a part of this movement of conquest the greatest intermediate objective of Hitler's armed forces is to capture Great Britain and to gain control of the high seas."

To this end, Hull said, Hitler has launched a policy of "submarine ruthlessness" to drive our own and the ships of all nations from those seas.

"The breadth of our self-defense must at all times equal the breadth of the dangers which threaten us. In circumstances of today we must be free to arm our merchant ships for their own protection, and we must be free, in the event of particular and extreme emergency, to use these ships for the carriage of supplies to nations which are resisting the world-wide movement of conquest headed in our direction. This government would, of course, use caution in carrying out the power which it could exercise upon passage of the bill.

Urges Resolute Stand.

"To maintain our security we must pursue a resolute course in a world of danger and be prepared to meet that danger. We must take measures of defense whenever necessity arises. We cannot promote, much less preserve, our safety by a course of inactivity and complacency in the face of a peril which is coming toward us. Other countries, and especially countries unfriendly to us, necessarily will assume that this bill has been discussed and dealt with on its own merits. I hope this will be kept in mind."

Hull concluded by saying he "would be neglecting the responsibility of my office" if he did not frankly state what he called the imperative need for immediate passage.

Galleries Are Crowded.

In nearly four hours of debate preceding the vote members thundered their views before galleries in which standing room was at a premium. Nearly all the speakers conceded that the vote was one of war versus peace.

"The President has committed the country; the shooting has begun, and, having participated in the war, I can see nothing to do except support the carrying on of that war," declared Rep. John Taber [R., N. Y.].

"If it is to be the policy of this country to meddle in wars born out of the hates and quarrels of Europe and other foreign countries, then it is very probable that we are now writing the final chapter in the history of the United States," said Rep. George A. Dondero [R., Mich.].

One of the southern Democrats opposing the bill, Rep. Malcolm C. Tarver of Georgia, said he was not concerned with whether his vote meant war.

"But I am not convinced of the necessity of sending our ships to British ports," he said. "The maritime commission informs me that England has 16,806,000 tons of shipping to our 6,794,000. Then why does England need our ships?"

Not Our War, Says Kansan.

"This is not our war unless we say that this administration and the profiteers who fatten on war industries have adopted it," declared Rep. U. S. Guyer [R., Kas.].

Rep. Everett M. Dirksen [R., Ill.], who amazed his colleagues some weeks ago by making a speech in favor of the President's war policies, came out against the drastic senate action. He based his attitude, he said, on the fact that this nation is unprepared for war.

"This step means ratification of the last step of the naval war," warned Rep. John M. Vorys [R., O.]. "It means advance approval of the next step, whatever it is to be. If this measure passes, an AEF of 600,000 men can be ordered any place in the world without further authority from congress. My guess is that we are not going to get to vote directly on an AEF until the AEF has been in action in Africa."

Rep. Lyle Boren [D., Okla.], who voted for the ship arming proposal, said he could not stomach the senate amendments.

"Before we start doing away with Hitler over there," he told the house, "let's do away with the labor Hitlers over here."

WIFE'S STRIP TEASE FILM SHOWN COURT IN CUSTODY BATTLE

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 13 [Special].—Mrs. Florraine Kelsey, to whose shapeliness several observers were able to attest, sat nonchalantly in Chancery court today and explained how she happened to do a strip-tease act before a movie camera.

The film, which her ex-husband found in a secret compartment of a desk, had been displayed to a courtroom audience the day before as part of the contention of James C. Kelsey, publisher, that Florraine was unfit to have the custody of their 6 year old daughter. The court audience watched Florraine—on the screen—enter a bedroom, gayly remove all her garments, pose for a moment, and then jump into bed.

"That film was made when I was 18 years old," she said. "A schoolmate of mine—a girl—took it, and then I took one of her doing the same thing. It was just for fun. I put the film away in the desk and forgot all about it."

U. S. SHIPS TO GET 3 TO 5 INCH GUNS UNDER REPEALER

Some to Be Dual Purpose, Constantly Manned.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—Three major types of guns are expected to be used in arming American merchant ships, permitted by passage of the neutrality repealing today.

Secretary of Navy Frank Knox has said that, depending on their size, some ships will be given 5 inch guns, others 4 inch, and still others 3 inchers.

Some of the 5 inch guns will be dual-purpose, for both surface and anti-aircraft firing.

10 to 16 Men in Crews.

Ships also will be equipped with machine guns, effective against low-flying planes. Manning these weapons will be crews of 10 to 16 men under command of a petty officer. They will stand constant lookout against attack.

That, generally, is the way it was done in 1917-'18, but the problem of defense today is expected to be somewhat different and may produce improvements as experience brings results on which to base them.

New Submarine Tactics.

According to naval officials, the principal change is the new submarine tactics—apparently made possible by very advanced sound detecting devices—of firing torpedoes at night after lying in wait for convoys, even tho the ships at which the torpedoes are directed can not actually be seen.

During the World war, 284 armed merchantmen made 1,832 trans-Atlantic trips, according to records published by Josephus Daniels, World war navy secretary. Of those ships, 29 were torpedoed and sunk, and two were sunk by shellfire. A total of 193 attacks were repulsed successfully.

BOYS AND GIRLS GET FIREBOAT RIDE TOMORROW

Almost every city school boy has yearned for a ride on a fireboat. Tomorrow morning this dream comes true for 30 boys and girls in the public and parochial schools, winners among 400,000 students in fire prevention week activities conducted by the fire department and the association of commerce.

The lucky 30, after a ride in siren shrieking fire engines, will board the fireboat Fred Busse for a trip down the river with all hoses and turrets in action. This will come as a climax to a round of other ceremonies.

Chief Deputy Fire Marshal Anthony J. Mullaney will present to them winning certificates in his city hall office. At La Salle street and the river they will witness a demonstration of fire fighting apparatus by the fire department which will include the explosion of gasoline, thermit, and magnesium incendiary bombs. Then they will go on a tour thru a loop fire station and the central fire alarm office in the city hall.

WHAT TO WEAR IN BLACKOUTS IS TOLD BY THE OCD

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—The Office of Civilian Defense gave notice today, in a 60 page illustrated book entitled "Blackouts," that in case of emergency areas within 300 to 600 miles of the seacoast "probably will be required to black out every night.

For foggy blackout nights it recommends the use of "small, tinkling bells" on canes, umbrellas, anklets or bracelets. It suggests that luminous disks may be used as belt buckles or lapel and hat ornaments.

Kankakee River Dragged in Hunt for Missing Man

Sheriff's deputies dragged the Kankakee river near Momence yesterday for the body of Edward Kubisty, 22 years old, 14128 Winchester avenue, Dixmoor, who is feared to have drowned Wednesday while pulling a boat from the river at Buckman's resort. The search will be resumed today. Kubisty is a brother-in-law of Gus Huber, Dixmoor mayor.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—The five middle western states of Chicagoland today voted 56 to 16 against senate amendments to repeal the neutrality act's provisions against sending American merchant ships into the European war zones. These same states on Oct. 17 voted 50 to 18 against the amendment to permit the arming of American merchant ships. Comparison of the two votes shows that since Oct. 17, noninterventionist sentiment in this area picked up two votes in Illinois, one vote in Indiana, and two votes in Iowa.

F. D. R. BACKED BY GOV. JAMES IN LEWIS BATTLE

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 13 [Special].—Gov. Arthur H. James of Pennsylvania today wired President Roosevelt his support in the dispute with John L. Lewis over captive coal mines. His message said in part:

"The fathers and mothers of 160,000 Pennsylvania boys now in the army, navy, and marine corps, as well as every other patriotic American in this nation, are demanding that nothing impede the production of arms and munitions to equip and maintain these boys.

"Those of us who still hope for peace believe that our best course to obtain that end is to speed up defense.

"You may count upon my administration and upon all Pennsylvania to support, to the limit of our powers, any course you may determine upon to break the deadlock in defense production caused by shortsighted labor leaders.

"The way to stop defense strikes is to stop them."

AMERICA FIRST WELCOMES DIES COMMITTEE QUIZ

Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of America First, sent a letter yesterday to Rep. Martin Dies [D., Tex.] expressing pleasure at the decision of the Dies committee investigating un-American activities to study prowar and anti-war groups. The America First committee has excluded persons having, or suspected of having un-American views or connections, said Gen. Wood.

"You are especially to be congratulated on making the American people aware of the extent of the communist penetration in this country," the letter continued. "Now that the prowar groups are urging an American alliance with communist Russia, they have the ardent and open support of the communists.

"I assure you that the America First committee will give its full cooperation to your committee in this investigation. In order to facilitate your work we will be glad to give your representatives full access to all our files without requiring any formal order or subpena. I trust the prowar committees will take a similar attitude if, like America First, they have nothing to hide."

Charleston, S. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—The elephants at the circus grounds trumpeted dolefully tonight — after death touched their ranks for the 11th time in a week.

Three of them fought on the grounds, and the clash of the giants resulted in the serious injury of a teamster, 28 year old Philip Coaker of Hartford, Conn., who had several bones in his face crushed.

Death came this morning to Peggy, a lead elephant in the performance. She, like the rest of the elephants who have been mysteriously dying, presumably from arsenic poisoning, had responsible places in the routine.

The death of the 11 pachyderms represents a loss of $110,000 to the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus.

6TH SPY SUSPECT TAKES STAND TO DENY U. S. CHARGE

New York, Nov. 13 [Special].—Paul A. W. Scholz, the sixth of 15 defendants to take the witness stand in federal court in Brooklyn in their trial on charges of espionage, insisted today that a slip of paper found in his pocket when he was arrested last June referred to German raiders operating out of the Galapagos Islands, and not to the United States navy.

The memorandum read: "Pac. fleet again back to Pac. ocean." The government contends this was information concerning the American navy which Scholz intended to transmit to Germany. Scholz said a man named Fritz, whose last name he had forgotten, gave him the information.

Order More Relief Clients Transferred to WPA Rolls

Russell L. Peters, executive secretary of the Illinois Public Aid commission, announced yesterday that all local relief authorities have been instructed to re-examine relief cases and to refer all persons possible for Works Progress Administration work. He said one means of reducing the state relief load is to put the relief clients on WPA rolls.

ROOSEVELT SAID:

President Roosevelt in a speech on Nov. 2, 1940, three days before his re-election, said:

"There is nothing secret about our foreign policy. . . . I have stated it many times before, not only in words, but in action. I now restate it.

"The first purpose of our foreign policy is to keep our country out of war. At the same time we seek to keep foreign conceptions of government out of the United States.

"The second purpose of this policy is to keep war as far away as possible from the shores of the entire western hemisphere."

Nov. 24 to 29, Chicago; Dec. 1 to 6, Indianapolis, Milwaukee; Dec. 8 to 13, Springfield, Ill.; Dec. 15 to 20, Peoria, Ill.

SAVE INDUSTRY TO KEEP PEOPLE AT HOME: KELLY

Asks U. S. Money to Convert Plants.

The Problem

Priority difficulties threaten shutdown for 3,500 Chicagoland plants employing 70,000 men. Huge armament contracts are being let in Washington, D. C., but the Chicago area is getting only $320 per industrial worker, compared with thousands of dollars per worker in many other cities. To use its tremendous production capacity, and to prosper now and in the postwar emergency, Chicagoland must have more government contracts and more plants.

BY HAL FOUST.

Mayor Kelly is fighting to save Chicago's small industries threatened with extinction. It is toward the conversion of these industries to armament operations that he is bending his greatest efforts in coöperation with THE TRIBUNE's campaign to get new industries and more contracts for Chicagoland.

Mayor Kelly and Chicago's motto.

"The big fellows know what is going on and are able to take care of themselves," he said. "I'm afraid that the little fellows, and the public as well, don't appreciate the seriousness of this war program and its effect on our daily lives.

Curtails Nonwar Production.

"America is going to double or triple its munitions production within the next year. All other production will have to be curtailed just that much. Chicago must participate or suffer alarmingly. There are 70,000 Chicago wage earners in small plants who can't continue making articles not essential to war."

Some of these plants are already cutting their pay rolls as priorities restrict their regular supply of materials. Available jobs in Chicago have been shrinking since Aug. 1. And, what is worse, there has been a stream of migration of craftsmen to other cities with large new armament plants.

To date, Chicago has not received its share of the armament business. In relation to the number of resident industrial workers, Cleveland has received 2.7 times as much in war contracts; Detroit and St. Louis, 4.4 times as much; Buffalo, 4.7 times, and Baltimore nearly 8 times as much as has Chicago. Los Angeles and Philadelphia have received more than 15 times as much per industrial worker. The figures are from the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Removals a Community Loss.

"This can't continue," said the mayor, a native Chicagoan who has lived here all of his 65 years. "We must not permit our carpenters, machinists, steam fitters, electricians, and other skilled laborers to be forced to leave Chicago. It's a community loss as well as a personal tragedy for them to have to take their children out of our schools, sell their furniture, leave their churches, and abandon their social and civic interests to seek employment in a mushroom armament community.

"It's up to the government to finance the transition of these small plants from peacetime to wartime production. If they could be awarded contracts directly, on a cost-plus basis, the government might have to pay more, but it would get the products more quickly, and the extra cost would be a good investment in the social stability of the middle western population.

Warns of Gypsy Movements.

"We don't want industrial workers to become gypsies after this war is over. We must keep our workers in their homes during this armament program. It is easy to see what's going to happen in many of these temporary communities that have grown up around new munitions plants employing thousands of men. They will turn into ghost cities with all the social and financial waste that goes with such phenomena."

Kelly is not so enthusiastic as are some for getting some of the larger plants for Chicagoland. He sees such plants as magnets for floaters and only temporary refuges for local craftsmen who face the loss of their peace time jobs. He believes the preservation of the present small plants, with the men continuing to work under their present roofs and to sleep in their present homes, is much more important.

Chicago Committee at Work.

In addition to striving to influence Washington New Dealers on their purchasing policies, the mayor has organized a Chicago industrial committee on defense production to form a link between the government and Chicago's 10,000 small industries in getting contracts and subcontracts placed here. Its purpose is to help the small manufacturers to pool their shop equipment and shop labor so that the combination, operating under several ownerships, will be big enough to handle jobs with the dispatch and in the large volumes demanded by the government in behalf of the army and navy and lend-lease beneficiaries.

This committee, working in close coöperation with Office of Production Management officials, has been actively engaged for several weeks in stimulating small manufacturers to seek defense contracts. Thru its efforts several hundred plants have filed detailed records of their plant facilities and groups have been formed for bidding. Despite these efforts, however, and despite enthusiastic coöperation on the part of the manufacturers, no contracts have been awarded to them. This is due to the fact, OPM officials explain, that contracts are awarded on a competitive basis and the small manufacturers' "pools" are not equipped to compete with mass production firms.

Cites Labor Tranquility.

The executive committee of the mayor's commission is composed of Cedric V. Merrill, H. B. Harvey, Herbert Illium, Whipple Jacobs, O. D. Jennings, Carl Stockholm, and William J. Venning.

Altho his primary interest is in the small plants Mayor Kelly, whose vigorous stand on sitdown strikes and labor rackets has aided in creating a favorable local labor condition, is also using Chicago labor tranquility as one of his arguments for new plants.

"I'm aware," he commented, "that these big armament plants are an asset to the community even if they are closed at the end of the war. Perhaps they will offer cheap housing for some new peacetime industry. Perhaps after the war Chicago may be able to offer such a plant to a new industry and thus keep it from going to Buffalo or Los Angeles.

"I'm strong for new industries for Chicago, but my heart as well as my head is set on keeping Chicagoans at their Chicago jobs and in their Chicago homes."

CHICAGO GREATS RECALL DAYS AT DE LA SALLE HIGH

825 Alumni Swap Yarns at Reunion Dinner.

BY JUANITA DALY.

The butcher, the baker, and the candlestick maker, or, to be strictly accurate, the soldier, the educator, the business man, architect, broker, and big league umpire, swapped yarns of their boyhood last night in the Morrison hotel at the biggest turnout in the history of the De La Salle High school alumni group.

Among the notable graduates at the speakers' table were Maj. Gen. John V. Clinnin, '94, commander of the Illinois Reserve militia; Peter B. Carey, '03, president of the Chicago Board of Trade for three terms; James B. McCahey, '07, president of the school board; Charles F. Murphy, '06, architect; John E. Dwyer, '05, well known in financial circles, and J. Walter Clark, '12, broker.

Clinnin Recalls His Fling.

Gen. Clinnin, who enlisted the year he was graduated to find out whether he'd like the army, and he did, recalled that De La Salle prepared him for his military life.

"I was fired for smoking in the basement, for leaving school, for breaking every rule in the place. I was fired every month and taken back," he admitted, "so by the time I joined the army I'd had my fling, fortunately. You can't break rules in the army."

Then he turned to Mr. Carey. "Here's the man who learned at De La Salle how to build the Board of Trade building," he said, for Carey was president during the construction of the new building.

"We've one of the outstanding alumni organizations in the country," said Carey. "Just look at this crowd, and it's a small school, too. I have missed only two dinners in 38 years."

Donors Make Up Bluebook.

"I have missed one in 34 years," added McCahey. "And you should see the original list of donors to the school. It made up the bluebook of the time."

Emmett T. Ormsby, '12, American league umpire who is president of the alumni, said he owed everything in his life to his alma mater.

"While the other boys were studying the classics I took up baseball," he explained. "I pitched on the school team, then became a semi-pro pitcher. I've a son in De La Salle now. Eleven kids in different schools and one still at home," he continued, "Sure, I can trace that to my training," he laughed, blushing a bit. "They taught us always to get married young."

Another special guest was a bachelor, James E. Brown, 61 years old, of 5706 Drexel avenue, who was the first pupil registered at De La Salle.

"I was an altar boy and carried Bishop Patrick Feehan's train when he laid the corner stone," he related. "Then one of the Christian Brothers let me register before the school actually opened."

BARE F. D. R. DEAL FREEING BRITISH FROM U. S. TAXES

Secret Pact Stirs Uproar Among Senators.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—A secret treaty by which the Roosevelt administration has undertaken to exempt all British property and transactions in the United States from all federal, state, and local taxation caused an explosion in the senate foreign relations committee today.

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg.

Foes of the treaty were outraged not only by its contents but by the efforts of administration followers to obtain its approval under an injunction of absolute secrecy. Administration supporters frankly expressed their concern that publication of the terms of the treaty would provoke such a controversy in the country as to jeopardize its approval by the senate.

Administration supporters even resorted to the unprecedented recourse of voting the proxies of unconsulted absentees to impose their secrecy injunction. This resulted in a violent free-for-all exchange of personalities and further action was postponed until next Wednesday.

Tribune Obtains the Text.

Despite the imposition of a "gag by proxy," as Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] described it, THE TRIBUNE obtained the text of the treaty. It provides, in part:

The term "defense articles" is defined to include "any weapon, munition, aircraft, vessel or boat, machinery, facility, tool, material or supply necessary for the manufacture, fabrication, production, processing, repair, servicing or operation of any article described in this paragraph," and "any agricultural, industrial, or other commodity or article procured by either high contracting party for its defense."

Members of the committee explained that the tax exemption privilege would apply not only to munitions factories financed in whole or in part by the British government, particularly in Connecticut, Michigan, and California, but also to direct investments of British subjects in this country in manufacturing enterprises, mines, real estate, etc., as these investments are subject to requisition by the British government.

Escape Tax on Cobalt.

Sen. Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] told the committee that, as an example, British interests control most of the cobalt deposits in the United States, and would be exempt from all taxation on the production of this commodity, which is used in the production of metals.

Green H. Hackworth, legal adviser to the state department, who appeared in support of the treaty, told Sen. Clark it was not intended to apply to cobalt. When Clark explained that the sweeping language obviously would apply to cobalt or anything else, Hackworth said the treaty makers—Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Lord Halifax, the British ambassador—had adopted the language of the lend-lease act.

Power Is Questioned.

Senators Vandenberg, Clark, and Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.] questioned the power of the federal government to control the tax policies of local governments by treaty or otherwise. Certainly, Vandenberg said, the cities and other local taxing authorities ought to be consulted before approving the treaty. For this purpose he formally moved that the treaty be released for publication.

Only seven members were present and the vote for Vandenberg's motion was 5 to 2. Sen. James E. Murray [D., Mont.], who was presiding in the absence of Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.], and Sen. Carter Glass [D., Va.] voted against the Vandenberg motion. Voting for it were Vandenberg, Clark, Gillette, Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.], and Arthur Capper [R., Kas.].

Sen. Murray thereupon voted the proxies of the 12 absent Democratic members and announced that Sen. Vandenberg's motion had been defeated. The committee has a total of 23 members, 16 Democrats and 7 Republicans.

The treaty was signed at Washington on Oct. 17 and President Roosevelt sent it to the senate with a letter urging its approval on Oct. 31.

County and State Bodies Give Indorsement.

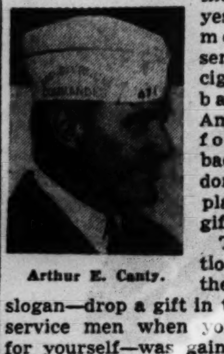
"Smokes for Yanks!"

The Illinois and Cook county organizations of the American Legion gave their indorsement yesterday to the movement to send cigarets, cigars, and tobacco to the American armed forces, and backed their indorsement with plans to collect gifts.



Arthur E. Canty.

The Legion action came while the "Fifty-Fifty" slogan—drop a gift in the box for the service men when you buy smokes for yourself—was gaining popularity thruout the city.

"A Very Fine Thing."

N. Curtis Cation, Peoria banker and commander of the American Legion department of Illinois, said in indorsing the movement, inaugurated by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.:

"I believe the idea and the cigarets will be a very fine thing for the men in uniform."

Arthur E. Canty, commander of the Cook County council of the Legion, praised the "Smokes for Yanks!" campaign and said he would ask his post commanders to enlist their members' aid. He said:

"As the commander of the Cook County council, composed of 254 posts with a membership of 43,500 men and women, all of whom served in the armed forces of the United States during the World war, I am happy to indorse any program such as "Smokes for Yanks!" which has for its purpose the furnishing of smokes for the men who are away serving outside the territorial limits of the United States.

Some Owed Memories.

"Those of us who had the privilege of serving in distant posts and on patrol service in the navy during the World war cannot forget the joy with which we received good American smokes sent us. We also remember very vividly the feeling of reassurance that altho we were far away from home we were still remembered and the folks back home were backing us 100 per cent.

"A program such as 'Smokes for Yanks!' should receive coöperation from American Legion posts everywhere, and from all organizations that have the interest of America at heart."

Indorsement by Hodes.

Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel and executive vice chairman of the Chicago Commission on National Defense, urged Chicagoans to join in the "Smokes for Yanks!" program and ordered a receiving station established in the commission's offices.

"The campaign to send cigarets to Yanks is most commendable," he said. "Each organization working toward making life more comfortable for the gallant men of our armed forces is working for the same cause—America.

"The 'Smokes for Yanks!' program conflicts in no way with our program, which is intended to collect cigarets for individual soldiers. 'Smokes for Yanks!' has my sincere indorsement."

Major activities of friends of the movement to send cigarets to the boys of the American armed services on the Atlantic and in the bases from Iceland to the Caribbean area yesterday were:

British War Relief—Placed a cigaret collection box in its retail shop at 615 North Michigan avenue.

Women's clubs—More of them promised financial aid and coöperation in collecting gifts.

State Auditor Arthur C. Lueder—Extended the campaign to Springfield by ordering cigaret boxes placed in his offices in the statehouse.

Cash contributions should be sent to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Tower, Chicago. Gifts of cigarets and tobacco may be brought to the Tribune Public Service bureaus in Tribune Tower or at 1 South Dearborn street, or they may be dropped in "Smokes for Yanks!" boxes to be found thruout the city.

'SMOKES FOR YANKS!' DRIVE IS JOINED BY AID-BRITAIN GROUPS

"Smokes for Yanks!" took on an international aspect yesterday as the two main British collection agencies here promised coöperation in obtaining cigarets for the American armed forces.

Richard Elmhurst, secretary of Illinois branch of the British War Relief society, whose retail shop is at 615 North Michigan avenue, said: "I can't think of any reason why we shouldn't put one of your collection boxes in here. Send one right up. I dare say we'll get a lot of cigarets for you."

Mrs. John C. Slade, local head of Bundles for Britain, 163 North Michigan avenue, said: "'Smokes for Yanks' is a perfectly swell idea. If you've got a box ready, send it down here. We'll be very happy to have it."

CHICAGO AIRPORT TO GET A 'BLIND' LANDING DEVICE

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 13 (AP).—The country's first commercial installation of "blind" landing equipment will be made soon at the municipal airport, G. W. Vest, regional director of the Civil Aeronautics authority, said today.

The device, which will enable commercial and other aircraft with special equipment to land under poor visibility conditions, will cost $100,000. Others will be installed at Chicago, New York, Detroit, Mich.; Cleveland, O.; San Francisco, Cal.; Seattle, Wash.; Los Angeles, Cal.; Miami, Fla., Nashville, Tenn., and New Orleans, La.

The system consists of a localizer designed to provide horizontal guidance for approaching ships. A glide path controls the rate of vertical descent during the approach and two markers for check points during the approach. Experiments have been made at Indianapolis, Ind., Vest said, and hundreds of planes have landed blind to prove the system has been perfected.

REGRETS BURMA FAILS TO ACHIEVE DOMINION STATUS

New York, Nov. 13 [Special].—With Godfrey Haggard, British Consul general here, and a representative of the British Press Service at his elbow, U Saw, prime minister of Burma, today expressed disappointment at his failure to achieve dominion status in the British commonwealth for his country.

One of 26 passengers who arrived with 1,184 pounds of mail aboard the Atlantic Clipper, Saw said he had been in London three and a half weeks talking with Prime Minister Churchill and other British leaders concerning the political status of his country, and was disappointed in results.

The minister said he would visit in Washington with the British ambassador, Lord Halifax, and looked forward to meeting President Roosevelt.

RICH BRIDE, 70, DIES ON WEDDING TRIP; MATE HELD

Son Challenges Story of Death in Auto.

Records show that Mrs. Loveland, who gave her age as 50 and her home as Early Hills, Cal., and Torrance were married at Williamsburg, Ky., on Oct. 18. At Lexington, Ky., she telegraphed to her Kalamazoo bank and had $2,000 sent to her.

Before leaving Kalamazoo, Mrs. Loveland had added a codicil to her will which established a trust fund of $20,000 for Torrance and provided that the income from the trust should be paid to him for life in the event they were married. However, when she reached New Orleans, La., she sent to Kalamazoo a letter revoking that codicil.

Tells of Auto Accident.

Torrance told Monterrey authorities that they were driving toward this city last Saturday when the accident took place. He said his wife was at the wheel and that he was abstracted in listening to a football game on the radio.

Suddenly, Mrs. Torrance applied the brakes as a cow appeared on the roadway in the dusk, he related. The car swerved across the highway and turned over in a ditch. Both occupants were thrown out and Torrance was knocked unconscious, he told police.

"When I came to," he said, "I heard Mrs. Torrance screaming my name. She was lying in the highway. I went to her and held her head, then discovering that she was seriously injured I went for help. I found about a dozen men who pushed the car out of an arroyo and I hurried her to the Red Cross hospital in Monterrey."

Mrs. Torrance died in the hospital two hours later without regaining consciousness. Her body was buried Monday.

Wealth News to Him.

Torrance said that he and his bride had exchanged powers of attorney so that either could handle the affairs of the other, but he asserted he had not known of his wife's wealth until that was disclosed in the investigation of her death.

Mrs. Torrance's son was said to have sped here after telephoning to Torrance to learn about the condition of his mother's health, about which he had been worried, and upon learning that she was dead and that her body had been buried without an inquest.

Arriving here by plane yesterday, Richard Loveland appeared before District Attorney Jose Juan Vallejo and expressed suspicions that his mother had not died in the manner Torrance had described.

Made Ill by Medicine.

This morning, accompanied by a local attorney, he again appeared before the prosecutor to confirm in writing his accusation. He said his mother had written him that Torrance was constantly giving her some medicine which caused her to be ill. Loveland said that his mother wrote the same thing in a letter to her sister.

Some days ago, Loveland related, Mrs. Torrance wrote him again that she was very ill and that her husband was continually giving her medicine to prepare her to make the trip to Mexico. He quoted her as saying that she was fearful the medicine was breaking down her health.

Following Loveland's complaint, Torrance was taken into custody and was held under police guard at the Hotel Monterrey. Evarista D. Garcia, assistant to the state police chief, questioned Torrance for nearly six hours, during which, he said, the American appeared calm and readily responded.

"We expect to release the doctor or recommend his indictment by tomorrow afternoon," Garcia said.

Consul Waterman said the district attorney's office had ordered Mrs. Torrance's body disinterred. It was not indicated when this would take place. District Attorney Vallejo also said he would determine tomorrow after a hearing whether to request Torrance's indictment and arrest.

Death a Mystery

GRAY HAIR MADE RED AGAIN BY COAL EXTRACT

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—Redheads are getting the best results in restoring natural color to white or gray hair by taking the new B vitamin, P-amino-benzoic acid, made from coal.

A beautiful red returns, Dr. Benjamin Sieve of Boston reported today to the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine. Blondes and brunettes get varying degrees of restoration to youthful color, and a few of them are almost complete.

Startling incidental effects on other troubles have cropped up. Several women who had been sterile for years entered upon motherhood. A man reported restoration of virility which had been lost for eight years.

NAZIS 'FEEL OUT' MOSCOW LINES TO FIND SOFT SPOTS

Reds Beat Back 2 Arms of Pincer Drive.

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, Nov. 13 (AP).—The whole of the central front about Moscow was alive tonight with exploratory German thrusts apparently heralding one more general offensive, military dispatches reported, while new Russian counterattacks beat farther back the upper and lower arms of the current German envelopment maneuver.

These far-spread local attacks formed a general probing operation thru which it appeared that the Nazi command was urgently seeking out every soft spot in the Red line against the approach of the worst of winter. In the bleak slush of the battle areas both sides were bringing up reserves.

Heavy action involving large forces was in progress about Tula, 100 miles south of Moscow, and in the vicinity of Kalinin, 95 miles northwest of the capital.

Frontal Assaults Cease.

Around Tula, the Russians' southern anchor, the Germans were reported driven back an additional one to two miles, beyond their five mile retreat earlier reported, by soviet counterthrusts heavily sprung from the southern approaches of the town.

Upon the northern flank, about Kalinin, fighting was violent in two sectors—one northeast of the city, where a new German push was declared breasted by Red counterattacks, and the other in a section of the city itself. There the German columns, altho loosing a terrible fire from mortars and machine guns as they retired, were pushed back toward the Volga river.

Southeast of Kalinin, Russian detachments were said to have crossed the Volga and successfully raided the German rear.

Hold Ground in Crimea.

Subsidiary artillery action also was reported against what is apparently the nearest German position to Moscow, a small salient driven to Narofominsk, 35 miles southwest of the capital, apparently from the main German southwestern line about Maloyaroslavets.

Of the far southern theater, the Moscow radio declared the soviet defenders were holding their ground before Sevastopol, the main Red naval base in the southwestern Crimea, and Kerch, on the eastern Crimean peninsula facing the Caucasus. The Germans, it was claimed, were beating at Sevastopol with rising fury—and with rising losses—but had gained no ground in repeated violent assaults headed by tanks and bombers.

Destruction of two German transports totaling 9,000 tons in the arctic Barents sea [off Murmansk] and three totaling 13,000 tons in the Baltic on Nov. 5 and 6 was reported by the official communique. Soviet bombers attacked military targets yesterday at Riga, Latvia, and Koenigsberg, Germany.

3 Killed, 2 Hurt as RAF Bomber Crashes in Canada

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 13 (AP).—Three royal air force flyers were killed and two seriously injured today when their bomber crashed into the Caledonia mountains near here.

War Developments on Russian Central and Southern Fronts

Developments on the central and southern Russian fronts are given in captions. The information is based on dispatches from both sides of the conflict.

86 NAZI DIVISIONS RIPPED BY SOVIET WAR, BRITISH SAY

Germans Cite Shipping Losses of Foes.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

British spokesmen presented a new recapitulation of German man power losses in Russia last night, while the Germans again were issuing figures intended to show that despite the demands of the Russian campaign the Nazi air and sea forces have cut heavily into British plane and ship strength.

An authoritative British source, recapitulating German casualties on the whole of the Russian front, estimated that 16 German armored divisions and 70 infantry divisions had suffered "appreciable losses" which in the case of some infantry divisions had run as high as 50 per cent.

Withdrawn for Long Time.

Eight armored divisions, he said, had been so badly knocked about that they had reappeared in action only within the last few days after having withdrawn from the front early in September.

German military commentators said Britain had lost 2,501 planes during operations from Jan. 1 to Oct. 31 over England, the English channel, Norway, and German occupied regions. German losses in the same areas during that time were placed at 602. British losses were classed as 1,192 fighter planes and 1,309 bombers.

The commentary Dienst aus Deutschland said German reports of destroying approximately 14,500,000 tons of shipping in little more than two years of the present war roughly equaled the four year record for the World war.

Better Bases for U-Boats.

This higher rate of sinkings was attributed by Dienst to Germany's better base facilities for submarines along the coasts of Norway, France, and the Low Countries.

[The Encyclopedia Britannica lists total World war shipping losses of the allied powers at nearly 15,000,000 tons —12,850,814 tons from "enemy action" and 2,102,000 tons from other causes.]

ITALIANS FIGHTING OFF ATTACK ON LAST FORT IN ETHIOPIA—ROME

ROME, Nov. 13 (AP).—British forces on the Gondar front in Ethiopia have launched an assault on the beleaguered Italian garrison, which has inflicted considerable losses on the British, the high command reported today. [Gondar is the last Italian stronghold in Ethiopia.]

A war bulletin said the British had occupied a small Italian outpost at Gianda, on the west shore of Lake Tsana near Gondar. [The British said Gianda was captured Wednesday.]

For the first time in 10 days, no new air raids on southern Italy or Sicily were mentioned, altho British planes were said to have bombed Bengazi, the axis' advance port in Libya, and Derna. Axis planes attacked the besieged British port of Tobruk, the communique said.

LAST TWO OF QUINTUPLETS DIE.

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Nov. 13 (AP).—The last two of quintuplets born prematurely to Senhora Maria Ulrich died today. One died Tuesday soon after birth and two died yesterday.

JAM OF PRISONERS ON ROADS ADDS TO NAZI WAR TASKS

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—The latest release of the German weekly newsreels today showing an "endless" stream of Russian prisoners being brought to the rear suggested to military observers here that prisoners cluttering up many of the available roads offer a difficult problem, not unlike the refugees who increased the task of the French defense in May and June, 1940.

The organization necessary for moving and distributing this mass of prisoners, claimed now to be in excess of 3,600,000 men, places an extra burden on the army in the way of feeding, supervision, and shelter. Supervision alone should require an extra levy of 250,000 territorials or similar troops.

The impression gained from watching the newsreel's shots of the Moscow front is that the men on this and other northern sectors are spending much of their time putting up winter quarters. "Collapsible" log cabins of Norwegian pine are being brought up to the front and assembled by the soldiers.

GERMANS STORM OUTER FORTS OF KERCH IN CRIMEA

Knock at Caucasus Gates, Berlin Claims.

BERLIN, Nov. 13 (AP).—German armies storming the outer fortifications of the eastern Crimean port of Kerch were described by a spokesman tonight as "knocking at the gates to the Caucasus" while swastika marked bombers carried the war farther on to Russia's prized oil fields.

German news dispatches said Anapa and Novorossisk on the Black sea coast of the Caucasus, 50 and 90 miles southeast of Kerch, already were under aerial bombardment.

[Novorossisk is one of the last remaining bases for Russia's Black sea fleet. Krasnodar, center of the oil fields in the northwestern Caucasus, is only 120 miles east of Kerch. The rest of the important Caucasus oil fields are in the Baku region more than 600 miles to the southeast.]

German troops concentrating on a quick cleanup in the eastern Crimea were reported by the high command to have reached the coast south of Kerch after engagements in which several key fortifications were taken.

Sevastopol Resists Attacks.

The city still was under aerial bombardment.

Reports reaching here pictured the defenses of the southwestern Crimean port of Sevastopol as withstanding attack more successfully than those at Kerch. German bombers were said to be still peppering the Sevastopol harbor to harass any Russian attempt to withdraw by boat.

The only notable land operation reported here from other sectors was an attack in considerable strength by Russian tanks at an undesignated part of the central front. The Germans said the Russian onset was stopped after the destruction of 15 tanks.

The high command said Moscow and Leningrad were attacked again from the air, and Leningrad was shelled by heavy siege guns.

Transport Sunk in Finnish Gulf.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 13 (AP).—A large Russian transport was sunk yesterday when it struck a mine field in the central part of the Gulf of Finland, a Finnish communique announced today.

The Finnish air command said it had cut the Murmansk-Leningrad railway anew in many places by continued attacks despite unfavorable weather. A train and a station building also were reported hit.

Toll of Quake in Turkey Put at 15 Dead, 100 Hurt

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Nov. 13 (AP).—Fifteen persons were killed, nearly 100 injured, and heavy property damage done by an earthquake which shook the Erzincan district in eastern Turkey yesterday, belated dispatches reported today. The main shock lasted 20 seconds. Erzincan was the center of a quake which killed thousands at Christmas time two years ago.

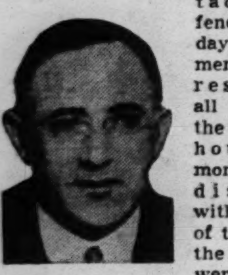
RAPS CHURCHILL FAILURE TO OPEN A FRONT IN LIBYA

Laborite Critic Answered by Admiralty Chief.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Churchill government's war policies were attacked and defended again today in parliament. Altho representatives of all parties took the floor in the house of commons to express dissatisfaction with some phase of the war effort the heavy blows were traded by Emanuel Shinwell, Laborite, for the critics and First Lord of the Admiralty Albert V. Alexander for the government.



Emanuel Shinwell.

"The policy of this government is incapable of winning the war—and I'm not alone in that opinion," cried Shinwell, who, it was disclosed, had refused to accept a cabinet post from Churchill last year.

"The real fact," retorted Alexander, "is that under the leadership of Prime Minister Winston Churchill we have come safely thru immense difficulties in the most critical 18 months in the history of the whole commonwealth."

Raps Failure to Take Initiative.

Shinwell led off by charging that "our failure to take the initiative is indefensible," particularly in view of Churchill's assertion that Britain has attained air parity with Germany.

"Why has the offensive in Libya been delayed?" he asked. "It has been expected for many months. It would in effect have created a second front. It would certainly have distracted the Nazis and created difficulties for them. Let the government answer that question. Next week or next month an offensive in Libya may not be as effective."

Shinwell also demanded that the government inform commons whether the defense of "our eastern empire was its conception of a second front and, if so, had it the approval of Russia."

Questions Cabinet Desires.

Openly questioning whether certain unidentified cabinet members desire a Russian victory, Shinwell stated:

"I acquit the prime minister and several other members of the government of harboring subversive thought, but we aren't so sure of all the rest."

Charging that "there is no clear evidence of a plan to harness the whole of the labor resources to the war effort," Shinwell asserted "the government lives from hand to mouth, constantly improvising."

He said that after "18 months of debates, reports, investigations and vain boastings" there still are factories that are not fully employed. In this connection he conceded that if failure to launch the long-expected Libyan offensive was attributable to lack of equipment then it was idle to speak of launching an invasion elsewhere.

Raps Critic for Spurning Job.

Alexander began his defense of the government by reproving Shinwell for refusing to accept a Churchill cabinet post in May, 1940. When Alexander insisted on knowing why Shinwell had refused, the Laborite critic merely replied, "Perhaps the prime minister will tell the honorable gentleman." Shinwell's inference, however, was that he did not like the composition of the government.

In justifying government war strategy Alexander said the Greek campaign had delayed the whole German army schedule, adding that if the government had not withdrawn troops from Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell's victorious forces in North Africa for service in Greece the fight for Moscow "wouldn't be going on today." Shinwell previously had brought out that Wavell was forced to fall back last spring after driving the Italians from Sidi Barrani, Libya, half way to Tripoli.

Calls Brain Trust "Brain Rust."

Thomas M. Sexton, Laborite, said military aid for Russia was being hampered by "brass hat, brain trust, and straw hat strategists." The first, he said, had worn brass hats so long they were becoming "brass hat brain's rust," and the second group had converted "blue print strategy" into "blue pencil tactics."

Dennis N. Pritt, Laborite, said nothing bewildered the nation more than "the fact that ministers remained in the government who were lukewarm about our alliance with soviet Russia." The prime minister's defense of these ministers, he added, "showed attractive but extremely dangerous mistaken loyalty."

John D. Profumo, Conservative, alleged "there is ample evidence" that many men "thru graft, influence, and wangling had secured for themselves cushion seated jobs" while others were making real sacrifices.

Churchill Misses a Gag.

Churchill himself was present and announced that the government would allow three days more for the debate. This brought a quip from Willie Gallacher, lone communist member of commons.

"I will be very happy to give lots of time to many members of the government—with hard labor attached to it," he said.

Churchill missed the joke and frowned when it was explained to him as laughter swept the house. Whereupon Gallacher said he "didn't include the prime minister," and Churchill smiled.

New Zealand Gets Dishes Marked with Nazi Swastika

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Nov. 13.—New Zealanders were aroused today when it was discovered a shipment of dishes received here from a large British firm bore the swastika sign [Nazi symbol] in ink. There was no indication as to how the swastikas were painted on the dishes, which were salvaged from a sunken barge in the Manchester ship canal in England. Any hope of tracing the artists vanished when the irate staff of the firm which received the dishes washed off the swastikas.

VICHY WAR CHIEF SAVES PAPERS BEFORE HE DIES

LE VIGAN, France, Nov. 13 (AP).—A solitary brief case packed with valuable state documents, found hanging on a tree near the wreckage of a transport plane, was Gen. Charles Huntziger's last message to France.

The Vichy war minister, killed with seven other persons yesterday when his plane, enroute home from North Africa, crashed and burned near here, evidently saved the papers by throwing the brief case clear of the plane as it fell.

Gen. Huntziger had been on a three weeks' tour of North Africa, and was going back to Vichy to report to Chief-of-State Petain on the position of the armies there and their commander, Gen. Maxime Weygand.

NAZIS EXPANDING 'PACKS' OF SUBS, GERMAN ASSERTS

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—As winter settles on the eastern front, Germany is preparing to launch a fresh offensive at sea to force a decision in the battle of the Atlantic. Germany will employ more and larger "packs" of U-boats than hitherto and these will be supported by new weapons. These assertions were made by a German source close to the foreign office today. This informant declared that already the size of submarine flotillas have been expanded.

MUTUAL CANCELS BERLIN NEWS DUE TO CENSORSHIP

Correspondent Says His Reports Are Useless.

New York, Nov. 13 [Special].—John Paul Dickson, Berlin correspondent for the WOR-Mutual Broadcasting system, voluntarily requested his office today to discontinue his news reports because "censorship has made them useless at the present time."

In a 17 minute telephone conversation with Adolph J. Opfinger, Mutual's program director here, he cited four principles of German news restrictions for his recommendation.

These Restrictions Cited.

The restrictions he cited are:

1. Broadcasters are frequently instructed to report material that is prepared by German propaganda agencies.

2. Broadcasters have recently been excluded from visits to the front.

3. Their personal observations on news have been too frequently deleted and they are not allowed to quote directly from German newspapers.

4. Broadcasters may make no mention of what Dickson termed "the two most important news stories of the day—the crisis in Czecho-Slovakia and the Jewish situation."

To Consider Situation.

Dickson said that these restrictions were not all applied to newspaper correspondents. German authorities, he said, have promised "that the situation would be given consideration." Unless a favorable decision is reached, the radio reporter continued, he "did not consider it worth while to continue."

The recommendation to cease carrying the Berlin news period was accepted immediately by Mutual, and Dickson's program tonight was canceled.

Alex Dreier, Berlin correspondent for the National Broadcasting company, advised his New York headquarters that a ban placed on his program had been lifted. However, his reports are not being accepted by NBC for rebroadcast here until both he and the German authorities have given full assurances that no undue censorship will be exercised over the broadcasts.

U. S. Marines in China May Go to Hongkong, Report

SINGAPORE, Nov. 13.—The possibility that the United States marines now in Shanghai, Tientsin, and Peking may be sent to the British crown colony of Hongkong was rumored here today. Commentators said the move would be logical, pointing out that withdrawal of the marines from China would mean that the United States believed war with Japan imminent and that joint action with Britain would be an "inevitable development."

DOOR STILL OPEN FOR PEACE TALKS, FINLAND ASSERTS

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 13. (AP).—Finland does not consider the door closed to further negotiations with the United States, a foreign office spokesman said tonight.

He said Finland's note of yesterday, in effect rejecting an American warning against continuing her fight against Russia, was meant to be only a cordial exposition of her reasons for warring on the soviet union.

The Finnish press published a map and explanatory text purporting to show in detail the scope of Russian preparations for another invasion of Finland. The documents, said to be based on latest military information, were described as copies of those which Foreign Minister Rolf Johan Witting previously had handed United States Minister H. F. A. Schoenfeld.

JAPAN DRAFTS SHARP TAX BOOSTS; HINT CRISIS IS ANTICIPATED

TOKIO, Japan, Nov. 13 (AP).—New emergency legislation was prepared today for a special session of the Japanese diet [parliament] amid indications that the government was preparing for a crisis should negotiations with the United States collapse. Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo, Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo, and Finance Minister Okinobu Kaya submitted to the emperor the new laws they will introduce at the diet sessions starting Saturday.

Among the new laws is a tax program which would sharply increase levels on luxuries. The cabinet approved the program today.

Sudden revival of the Imperial Rule Assistance association, a Fascist-like organization, and growing concern over air defenses indicated the new atmosphere.

CHARGE BRITISH CENSORS AID IN BUILDING TRADE

U. S. Mail Is Delayed, Rabaut Tells House.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—In an informal report on the recent tour of the house subcommittee on appropriations for the department of state, Rep. Louis C. Rabaut [D., Mich.] told the house today that he had received complaints that British censorship was being so operated as to enable British commercial interests to compete with American firms.

Louis C. Rabaut.

Rabaut, who was chairman of the subcommittee which toured South America inspecting American embassies, said that he felt it was his duty to tell the house what his group encountered on its tour. He said that the subcommittee's report has not been completed, but he would recount a few pertinent observations from memory.

"As you all know," he said, "there is censorship in Trinidad of all mail going to the east coast of South America. All mail that goes thru Trinidad is looked at.

Report Official Mail Opened.

"Some of our own mail was not delivered in Rio in time. In fact, it was greatly delayed, and we had reports that some of the official mail even had been opened.

"The vice president of the National City bank in Rio made a complaint to us from one of his clients, who came and said that he had ordered fire brick from his American firm and that somebody representing an English firm had approached him and told him that he understood he was in the market for fire brick.

"This man was provoked to the point where he said, 'How in hell did you find out?' He said, 'I just found out. That is all. Somebody told me.' He [the bank's client] said there was not a soul who knew that he wrote that letter for fire brick excepting himself and the firm to whom he addressed it.

British Delivering Goods.

"That is one complaint we had. We had other general complaints from American business men that they were being differentiated against."

Rep. Rabaut said that he saw that British firms were delivering goods to South America while the United States is dropping its foreign trade in order to rush war supplies to Britain.

"They are delivering bicycles," he said. "They delivered a Diesel engine in one place. In one particular place they delivered an engine of some size that had clearly stamped upon it, 'Made in the U. S. A.'"

Rabaut was supported by Rep. Albert E. Carter [R., Okla.], who read into the record figures showing that British exports to Valparaiso, Chile, had been steadily increasing during the war. During 1939 exports totaled 20,778,399 gold pesos; in 1940 they reached 24,209,685 pesos, and thus far in 1941 they have reached 34,577,891 pesos. [The gold peso of Chile is listed as valued at 20.59 cents].

Carter also produced a series of advertisments which appeared in the Buenos Aires Herald. Typical was one showing a convoy of ships guarded by battleships with the caption, "British ships steam in convoy guarded by the guns of the royal navy."

GEN. MARSHALL DENIES ARMY IS RECRUITING AEF

Admits Effort to Enlist Conscripts.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—As the war department smarted under criticism for disclosing, during the critical house debate on neutrality revision, that it was urging conscripts and National Guardsmen to enlist in the regular army for overseas service, Gen. George C. Marshall declared there was no foundation to reports that the army is preparing troops for an expeditionary force to Africa or other areas outside the western hemisphere.

Gen. Geo. C. Marshall.

Marshall's statement was issued before the house vote on the neutrality measure. Administration leaders privately expressed fears that announcement of the army enlistment campaign and an army poll of armored divisions in South Carolina maneuvers on whether the troops would like to serve abroad had pulled votes from the administration.

It was reliably reported today that the poll was taken because it was intended to send an AEF to Iran [Persia] where American soldiers would be used to help bolster the Russian and British forces there.

"Wrong Impression" Claimed.

The general said that some of the news stories written on the army enlistment campaign and poll were "calculated to give the impression that the army is building up an expeditionary force." One paper, he said, had "already taken us to Africa."

"There is no foundation whatsoever for the allegation or rumor that we are preparing troops for a possible expedition to Africa or other critical area outside this hemisphere," he said.

Marshall explained that the war department's only interest is to increase the number of volunteers or three year men so as to meet the need for men in present overseas bases such as Panama, Hawaii, and the new Atlantic strongholds.

He did not explain why conscripts or National Guardsmen would have to enlist in the regular army for such service as under law at present both militiamen and conscripts may be sent outside the United States in the interests of hemisphere defense or defense of United States possessions.

Officers Reveal Queries.

Yesterday it was reported from the Carolina maneuver area that members of the armored force were being asked whether they would be willing to serve overseas with an armored division. Officers of the division said the war department was "carrying this thing out" and declared they knew nothing of the reasons for the move.

The questioning of armored corps men was mentioned indirectly by Marshall. He said the army wished to assemble a sufficient percentage of long service men to lend stability to the regular army organizations in this country, "particularly the technical armored corps."

When the war department announced the enlistment campaign yesterday a spokesman said the drive was being undertaken so that troops would be available for overseas duty.

ROOSEVELT CALLS FOR SACRIFICES IN BUILDING DEFENSES

Boston, Mass., Nov. 13 (AP).—President Roosevelt called today for the use of all the nation's energies and resources to build our defenses against "those who would crush decency and humanity under the dictators' heel."

In a message to the 17th annual New England conference, sponsored by governors of the six New England states, the President said:

"As a nation of free men, we are engaged in a great effort to build our defenses against those who threaten our way of life. The task before us is not easy. Success will come only thru the use of all our energies and all of our resources. We must realize now that building for defense means more than peak production in a portion of our industries. It means spreading the work equitably, efficiently, and quickly thruout our entire economic structure. It means certain hardships and sacrifices. We have borne them before in times of stress. We shall do so again."

Comb Arizona Mountains for Second Missing Bomber

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 13 (AP).—Army planes flew over a vast expanse of mountain area in southwestern Arizona today in a futile effort to locate a DB7 bomber which disappeared during a storm last night. Lieut. Lawrence Barrett Jr., whose address has not been made known, was pilot of the ship, on a ferry flight from Long Beach, Cal., to England. A second bomber crashed yesterday near Mohawk, Ariz., killing Lieut. Ivan J. May, 24, of Topeka, Kas.

Senate Confirms Fahy for Solicitor General

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—The senate confirmed today President Roosevelt's nomination of Charles Fahy of New Mexico to be solicitor general, succeeding Francis Biddle, who recently was named attorney general. Fahy, who has been acting solicitor general, formerly was counsel for the National Labor Relations board.

GREEN SKETCHES NEEDS OF FUTURE TO ROAD MAKERS

By-Passes and Divided Highways Stressed.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Gov. Dwight H. Green, interrupting a tour of state institutions, told Illinois road builders at their annual dinner in the Palmer House last night that future roadways carrying considerable traffic should be divided and traffic densities near cities reduced thru by-passes.

Discussing what he called the most important problem in connection with road building in the state—the question of finance—the governor said that he believed that with efficiency and economy ordinary work could be carried on with present revenues.

Stresses 'User' Principle.

"I also am a firm believer in financing roads on the 'user' principle," he continued. "The day when construction was construed as a benefit to owners of abutting property has passed, and I am opposed to special assessment, or even general taxation, for most of our highway work.

"One of the paramount issues before the state division of highways is the fullest coöperation with the program of national defense. Defense highways, for the most part, call for modernization, which involves securing broader rights of way, building wider curves, straightening kinks, and by-passing centers of population.

"Primarily, they must be made suitable for the movement of mechanized troops. It has been suggested that all other new cement roads may have to be subordinated to this need, but I hope and believe that this will not interfere with our farm-to-market system in which so many people are interested.

Urges Illinois' Coöperation.

"America must fulfill the destiny of her power so that any attack against her liberty will be defeated. Illinois must extend every effort to coördinate her own necessities with those of national defense.

"The state's part in providing adequate highway facilities is clearly defined. Adequate reward should be given to those who extend the skill of workmen and the high quality of material. But there is one principle the state cannot ignore—the principle that when funds are spent they shall bring benefits to the greatest number."

While inspecting the Stateville and Joliet branches of the state penitentiary earlier in the day, the governor announced he would travel to Washington, D. C., on Nov. 24 to seek more arms contracts for small Illinois manufacturers faced with loss of work because of government priorities.

Impressed by Discipline.

At Stateville, Green said he was impressed particularly by the cleanliness of the institution, the discipline of the convicts, and the precision of the prison routine. His eyes flashed displeasure only once during his visit. This was when an officious lieutenant of guards kicked the coats of convicts from a concrete walk, where they had been placed while the inmates tossed a football around on one of the exercise grounds.

"I thought the action uncalled for," the governor said. "The men may have placed their coats on the walk to keep them clean. In any event, it wasn't necessary to kick them off."

By the end of the day, most of the thousands of convicts had been seen by the governor, either in their cells, on the grounds, or in one of the industrial shops, where everything from soap to furniture is made.

Navy Anchorage

Arrow locates island on which United States navy has taken possession of 10,000 acres of land to be used as shore facilities for a fleet anchorage.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Nov. 13.—The name of Roosevelt Roads has been given officially to the strip of water between the eastern end of Puerto Rico and Vieques Island, on which the United States navy will construct what probably will be its chief base in the eastern Caribbean. This became known today when charts were filed in the federal District court in connection with the acquisition by the navy of 10,000 acres of land on Vieques. The declaration by which the navy, in depositing $403,000 in payment, took possession of the land was accompanied by the charts and a description of the fleet anchorage, both of which used the name Roosevelt Roads.

STATE PAY ROLL SNARL TAKEN TO SUPREME COURT

Attorney General Seeks to Quash Ruling.

Attorney General George F. Barrett yesterday started action before the state Supreme court to untangle the legal snarl involving the pay checks of 26,000 state employés. At the same time, State Auditor Arthur C. Lueder announced he would approve official pay rolls on Nov. 15 for all except a few hundred temporary civil service employés.

A legal monkey wrench was thrown into the pay roll machinery last Monday when Judge Philip J. Finnegan issued an injunction against payment of salaries to some state employés. Barrett, after studying the order, on Wednesday told State Treasurer Warren Wright and Auditor Lueder to hold up all state pay rolls until further notice.

Fears Contempt of Court.

The attorney general said Judge Finnegan's order was so broad and so indefinite in its wording that payment of salaries to any employés might be contempt of court. Lueder said yesterday, however, that his attorneys have studied the order and they believe it applies only to a special group of employés.

At Lueder's office it was said that checks have been made out, signed and countersigned for most of the 1,500 affected employés and that they will be handed out today. The mechanics of making out the pay roll had been done before the court order, it was explained.

State Treasurer Warren Wright, who must finally issue the pay checks, could not be reached for a statement. At the La Salle hotel, his Chicago headquarters, he was said to have checked out.

Barrett filed in the Supreme court a motion asking permission to institute an original writ of mandamus to expunge Judge Finnegan's order. He asserted in the brief that the order, if allowed to stand, would cause "confusion and serious disruption of the state government."

Judge Reopens Hearing.

Only 1,500 employés in the offices of the governor, the auditor, secretary of state, treasurer, superintendent of public instruction and the attorney general—the departments named by Judge Finnegan's order—would ordinarily be paid on Nov. 15. The remainder of the state workers are scheduled to be paid on Nov. 28.

Judge Finnegan during the day reopened the injunction hearing that is at the root of the situation. Attorney Michael F. Ryan of the Civil Service Employés' Protective association, who obtained the original order on behalf of James Gordon, a taxpayer, asked that he be allowed to amend the first order. Judge Finnegan set the date for arguments on Nov. 18.

EXECUTE KILLER OF CAB DRIVER IN INDIANA PRISON

Milton J. Hawkins, 25 years old, of Cub Run, Ky., who in May, 1940, helped beat an Indiana taxicab driver to death with an iron bar, died in the electric chair at 12:05 o'clock this morning in the Indiana state prison, Michigan City, Ind.

Special Judge George C. Kop in the Floyd county Circuit court at New Albany, Ind., sentenced Hawkins to death on Dec. 24, 1940, the first death penalty fixed in Floyd county in 70 years.

It was brought out at the trial that Hawkins, who was a marijuana smoker; James M. Hayden, 21, of Mosleyville, Ky., and Clementine Luttrell, 17, of Livermore, Ky., hired the cab of Edmund Davis, 36, of Jeffersonville, Ind. They robbed him of $80, bound him and then beat him to death with a pipe. Hayden was sentenced to life imprisonment, and the girl, who turned state's evidence, got three years for juvenile delinquency.

TELLS HOW FUND TO DYNAMITE OIL LINE WAS RAISED

Witness Names 7 Former Associates on Trial.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Decatur, Ill., Nov. 13.—The creation of a union slush fund, to finance the oil pipe line dynamiting which occurred near here early in 1940, was reviewed from the witness stand today by a former union leader.

Testifying at the Circuit court trial of two ex-convicts and nine unionists charged with bombing conspiracy, this star witness for the state also asserted that some of the money was used to defray part of the cost of another bombing of the same pipe line near Vandalia, Ill., in the summer of 1939.

The witness is Pearle Hoskinson, former member of the executive board of the Decatur Hod Carriers' union. Hoskinson was the 12th defendant in the conspiracy case. He has pleaded guilty and applied for probation.

Seven Defendants Involved.

Hoskinson was called to the witness stand by State's Attorney Ivan J. Hutchens before Judge Charles Y. Miller and the jury. His story involved seven of the defendants—Harry E. Meisenhelter, business agent for the Hod Carriers' union; Cecil O. Wilson, Edwin Roy, Edwin F. Fox, and Melvin Watkins, members of the union executive board; Stewart C. Lorton, business agent of the East St. Louis Boilermakers' union, and Mrs. Louise Chvatal, stenographer for the Decatur Building Trades council.

"The union executive council met early in July, 1939," Hoskinson said. "Present besides myself were Meisenhelter, Wilson, Roy, Fox, and Watkins.

"Meisenhelter said the Texas Empire company's pipe line was just coming into this county [on a 150 mile stretch from Salem to Heyworth, Ill.]; that not all the construction workers were union men, and that something had to be done. We decided to establish a slush fund.

Membership Kept in Dark.

"Meisenhelter said it would not do for the union membership to know about this fund. It was decided to take sums from union initiation dues [which were $25] and let Roy keep the cash handy so we could get it in a hurry without going to a bank.

"At a later meeting, when we found we weren't getting enough slush money this way, we started taking more from the dues [$1.50 per member per month]. Mrs. Chvatal collected some of the dues when Roy wasn't around.

"At a later meeting Meisenhelter said the Texas pipe line was getting nearer to our county boundary and that another company, also building a line, employed all union help and was complaining because we did nothing about nonunion help on the Texas line.

"Meisenhelter also said pressure to do something was being put on him by Lorton at East St. Louis.

"About this time the Texas pipe line was blown up at Vandalia, in Fayette county. Meisenhelter said that if the county south of us was doing things, we should, too. He declared they had more nerve down there than we did.

"Later on I was told that Meisenhelter had drawn $75 from the slush fund and said that was to pay our share for the blowup at Vandalia."

Defense Objections Stricken.

Defense attorneys who several times interrupted Hoskinson's testimony with objections, which were overruled, again protested at this point. They asserted particularly that Hoskinson's testimony should not apply to the other four defendants — George Diehl and George Bruns, ex-convicts; Mack Ray, business agent of the Decatur Teamsters' union, and George E. Good, business agent of the Springfield Hoisting and Stationary Engineers' union.

Diehl served a federal prison term for taking protection money from a bootleg ring while he was an East St. Louis policeman. Bruns served two years for rape and as an habitual criminal. They are accused of the actual bombing of the oil line five miles south of here on Feb. 9, 1940. Ray and Good each are alleged to have furnished an additional $125 from their union funds for the bombing.

Judge Miller postponed ruling on the defense objection until tomorrow morning. Hoskinson had not yet given any estimate of the total amount of the slush fund.

Seeks a Divorce

Baroness Martha Beck von Peccoz.

Baroness Martha Beck von Peccoz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Morse of Lake Forest, filed suit for divorce in the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan yesterday against Baron Wolfgang Beck von Peccoz, a German army officer who took part in the first campaigns of the war and who now is believed to have been invalided home to his large estate in Bavaria.

The suit charges that Baron von Peccoz deserted her in October, 1938, shortly after she had returned permanently to Lake Forest after she and her husband had divided their time for several years between Germany and the United States. They were married in Waukegan in 1932 and have three children.

Baroness von Peccoz formerly was married to Carl B. Stibolt. Her father formerly was chairman of Fairbanks, Morse & Co., machinery manufacturers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 13.—John McGovern, Independent Labor party member of parliament who last month was refused permission to visit Ireland by the minister of home security, Herbert Morrison, will get a pass after all, it was announced tonight.

Morrison's action caused an angry debate in the house of commons in which it was disclosed that McGovern wanted to go to Ireland to make inquiries concerning the detention of Cahir Healy, Northern Ireland [Ulster] member of parliament, in a London jail. Healy is held under regulation 18B, which allows the government to hold without public trial members of any organizations "which have had associations with the enemy or are subject to foreign influence or control and which may be used for purposes prejudicial to national security."

In renewing his application, McGovern won Morrison's permission to make the trip by stating that his reasons for the visit were to meet Eamon de Valera, prime minister of Ireland, in Dublin, and Ulster members of parliament and municipal authorities to study "general questions."

'Mad Torpedoes' Hurled at Nazi Tanks by Red Flyers

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP).—Aerial torpedoes are being used by Russian Stormovik assault planes against German tanks, the Russian radio said tonight. One unit on the Moscow front was credited with destroying 350 tanks in the last month. The radio said that the projectiles—"mad torpedoes," as the Germans call them—are launched from between the wings of the planes and not only smash thru tank armor but envelop each tank in flames, causing them to burst like balloons.

For the first time we can offer to the American public "Madonna" assortment of religious Christmas cards in beautiful oil paintings of rich color, reproductions of European masters, unlike anything seen before. Send $1.00 per box.

FABRIC EXPERTS RECOMMEND SUPER SUDS!
Here's How to Wash Rayons, Silks and Wool
NEW YORK, Nov. 3—Better Fabrics Testing Bureau, widely-known authorities on all textile and fabric subjects, say "Wash rayons, silks, cottons and woolens in Super Suds." Here are their expert instructions:
Test a small patch in plain water for color-fastness. If color runs, it's not washable. (Test woolens in soapy water.)
Wash garments separately, by hand.
Use lukewarm suds as follows: Dissolve Super Suds completely in warm water, then add cold water to get lukewarm suds.
Do not soak. Wash quickly and gently. Do not rub, wring or twist. Woolens especially shrink from rubbing—avoid any excessive handling while wet.
Rinse thoroughly, gently, in clean, lukewarm water.
Roll in towel, but don't leave there. Never dry woolens in excessive heat or direct rays of sun.
Shape garment over ironing board before ironing. Use a moderate iron.
Certain types of weaves and prints should never be washed. Many makers guarantee washability. Look for this when you buy.

4TH CORPS TOLD IT LACKS FIRE OF AGGRESSIVENESS

General Marks Up Many Flaws in Maneuvers.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Winnsboro, S. C., Nov. 13.—Lack of soldierly aggressiveness, termed the most deplorable of military faults, marked the recent maneuvers of the 4th corps according to a critique held this afternoon in the Winnsboro High school.

Other delinquencies observed during the exercises as listed by Maj. Gen. O. W. Griswold were:

Lack of coöperation between artillery and infantry.

Insufficient knowledge of the situation by all concerned.

Poor discipline of trucks, which clogged roads.

Targets for Bombers.

Ineffective demolition work.

Inefficient handling of casualties.

Gen. Griswold said that the exercises, which he called the most momentous peacetime maneuver ever held in this country, convinced him that altho methods and weapons are being developed along proper lines, more training is needed.

Maj. Gen. John C. Persons, commander of the old square division infantry forces which were routed by armored units, summed up his defense with the explanation that his men marched on foot nearly 24 hours without rest before engaging the armored forces. He added that if he ever went into battle, he wanted armored divisions.

Needs Larger Weapons.

Gen. Persons emphasized that the infantry needs more and larger anti-tank weapons. He said that the 37 mm. gun now being supplied to the army is entirely too small. He also asserted that infantry properly equipped with anti-tank weapons and with their flanks protected can stop tanks.

Gen. Griswold later took responsibility for marching the infantry the long distance.

Maj. Gen. C. H. Scott, commander of the armored forces, stressed the necessity of tanks always being on the offensive and having mechanized infantry following closely to mop up. The objective of tanks, he said, always should be the heart of enemy installations in the rear of front lines.

Urges Artillery Initiative.

His criticisms included a lack of artillery initiative and lack of road discipline.

Following the critique, one brigadier general commented: "It demonstrated to me how far we have to go before we have an army."

MAIL CHRISTMAS GIFTS EARLY TO U. S. OUTPOSTS!

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—Postoffice officials urged today early mailing of Christmas packages for the United States' military and naval outposts.

Because of irregularity of transportation to some points they said it was desirable to mail packages as early as possible. Deadlines have been established for some mails. Deadlines for all mails except air mail include: Newfoundland, must be in New York by Dec. 18; Bermuda, in New York by Dec. 20; Trinidad, Dec. 11; St. Lucia, Dec. 11; Antigua, Dec. 13; British Guiana, Dec. 11. Mail for the Panama Canal Zone should be in New York by Dec. 19, and for Cuba by Dec. 21.

For the most part, the department has not announced absolute deadlines for mails for Pacific outposts, except Hawaii, Dec. 12, or for Iceland and Greenland.

Illinois Soldiers Return to Camp

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Group of soldiers from headquarters company of the 132d Infantry waving good-by as their truck leaves Chicago for Camp Forrest.

Military policemen, on duty since 6 a. m. yesterday, who had been left behind by departing troops units, and the posts at which they were found last evening, still awaiting further orders. Left to right; Paul Conway, Robert M. Forsyth, and J. E. Burlingame.

SOLDIERS LIKE TO READ; GIFTS OF BOOKS URGED

Soldiers like to read. If you have any good books that you are willing to give away, take them to the Chicago Public library booth at the seventh annual Chicago Recreation conference next Tuesday in the Hotel Sherman.

The suggestion was made yesterday by Carl B. Roden, chief librarian, who said the library already had distributed 10,000 books to army camps, beginning with those which had small libraries or none at all.

"We do not seek cellar or attic books, stale publications of 50 years ago," Roden said. "The soldiers are lively young men, and they deserve good mental fare. We like to get books in good condition. We can use good paper covered books for troop trains and hospitals."

ARMY SUDDENLY CANCELS LEAVES OF MEN IN ILLINOIS

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 13 (AP).—About 200 soldiers on furlough in central Illinois from Camp Livingston, La., were summoned back to duty today by cryptic telegrams delivered late last night. The telegrams read:

"Furlough canceled. Report immediately."

Most of the men were on leave from the 106th cavalry, some units of which were part of the National Guard. Attempts to ascertain reasons for the sudden order were not successful.

Fails to Get Out of Power Dive; Army Flyer Killed

Palm Springs, Cal., Nov. 13 (AP).—A P-38 army interceptor pursuit plane failed to come out of a power dive today and crashed into the desert with an explosion that rattled windows three miles away. The pilot, Lieut. Ellery Gross, 25, Greenville, Tex., was killed. Gross and another pilot were on a routine flight from their March field base. Both put their planes into dives.

Navy Flyer Is Killed.

Washington, Nov. 13 [Special].—The navy today announced the death at sea of Ensign J. H. Langdon, a naval reserve flyer, who crashed while attempting to land his airplane on the deck of a carrier.

Spend Night at Cairo

Cairo, Ill., Nov. 13 (AP).—Illinois troops of the 129th and 130th infantry and 123d field artillery celebrated their last night away from Camp Forest in this southern Illinois river city.

They rolled in during the late afternoon and early evening after proceeding in two columns from Springfield, where they departed before dawn today after taking part in an Armistice day parade and then enjoying a 36 hour leave.

Separate columns from Chicago traveled by way of Champaign and Danville to an overnight stop at Evansville, Ind. They will require three days for the return trip to Camp Forrest.

THE BOYS THEY LEFT BEHIND.

The 33d division forgot three M. P.s when it pulled out of Chicago, leaving Private Robert Forsyth of Joliet on traffic duty at State street and Garfield boulevard, Private Paul Conway of Dixon on duty at Michigan and Garfield boulevard, and Private J. E. Burlingame of Elgin on duty at Wentworth avenue and Garfield boulevard. Policeman Jack Dorsey, on duty nearby, saw their plight and phoned military police headquarters here. Lieut. Clements A. Johnson, in charge, said the truck driver ordered to pick them up probably got on the wrong street, and that he'd see they got back to Camp Forrest.

NOMINATE FILM UNION AID FACING EXTORTION TRIAL

Newark, N. J., Nov. 13 [Special].—Altho under indictment in a second big movie shakedown case, Louis Kaufman today was renominated for business manager of local 244 of the Motion Picture Operators union [AFL]. Other present officers of the local also were renamed by the Kaufman faction.

George Gilligan, a leader in a pending court action to oust Kaufman and his aids as racketeers, was nominated for president of the local on an opposition slate.

Kaufman is under indictment here with Nick Dean, alias Circella, Chicago hoodlum and night club operator who is a fugitive from justice. They are charged with conspiracy to extort more than $1,000,000 from four motion picture companies.

Similar to Browne-Bioff Case.

This case is similar to that in which George E. Browne, former president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employés, and Willie Bioff, former Chicago pander and west coast boss of the union were convicted in New York last week. Bioff yesterday was sentenced to 10 years in prison and Browne to 8 years. Both were fined $20,000.

Kaufman figured in the early investigation of Bioff and Browne, and was indicted last September. Previously a fugitive since he was sought as a grand jury witness in August, he then surrendered, pleaded not guilty and was released in $15,000 bail. Browne and Bioff were named as co-conspirators with Kaufman and Dean.

Gilligan and five other members of the Newark local, seeking to end the 12 year régime of Kaufman, filed a Chancery court suit in Newark against him and other officers in October. They asked that Kaufman and his aids be restrained from exercising their duties and that a receiver be appointed for the local.

Nominated for 5 Year Terms.

Nominations for five year terms of office in the local were conducted today with the supervision of William J. Brennan Jr., special master in chancery.

Bioff and Browne remained in jail tonight because Federal Circuit Judge Thomas W. Swan directed their counsel to delay until tomorrow presentation of a motion for their release on bail before the three judges of the court. The motion was to have been heard today. It will be opposed by United States Attorney Mathias F. Correa.

QUOTING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Considerations for Peace.

I have constantly been, am now, and shall continue ready to receive any agent whom he [Jefferson Davis] or any other influential person now resisting the national authority may informally send to me with the view of securing peace to the people of our one common country.

A. Lincoln

Blair Letter, Jan. 18, 1865.

THE VOTE FOR WAR.

The house has concurred in the senate amendments of the neutrality act. Mr. Roosevelt is now empowered not only to arm our merchant ships but to send them, loaded with war supplies, into belligerent ports. If this is done it is not to be doubted that American ships will be torpedoed and American seamen will be drowned. The country must prepare itself for a succession of such incidents. The war party wants them and needs them to inflame the public to the point where it will approve a declaration of war.

The count in both houses, and particularly in the house of representatives, was very close. For the last few days and especially in the hours immediately preceding the vote, the President himself and his principal advisers turned on the heat. Even so, the administration was unable to hold many of its own men in line. The country will long remember with gratitude the names of those whose consciences could not be bought with patronage and pork.

The closeness of the vote is an evidence of how deeply the country is divided on the war issue. Competent observers are sure that the President could not have had his way if the members had been left free to follow their own judgments and the wishes of their constituents.

Never in the history of this country has a decision for involvement in war been taken by so narrow a majority. Always in the past the President has lagged behind congress and the people in demands for war. This time it is the President who is pushing congress and the people into the conflict. The difference is an ominous one, if only because it makes a mockery of the claim that we are engaging in a crusade for democracy. Our democracy is being tricked and betrayed into war against the will of the majority of the people.

MR. COURTNEY CAN ACT.

It is encouraging that State's Attorney Courtney joins in the general public conviction of Sheriff O'Brien's incompetence and unfitness for office. The state's attorney has one advantage over the other citizens of this town. They can only make their indignation vocal. As the chief prosecuting official of the county, Mr. Courtney has the power, and in view of his published remarks, should consider it his duty to file charges of malfeasance in office against O'Brien without delay.

CATCH 'EM YOUNG.

There is the Hitler Youth. In Italy it's the Fascist Wolf Cubs. Lads in knee pants march and drill in Brown Shirt and Black Shirt regalia. They carry real guns. Mayor La Guardia, head of the Office of Civilian Defense, has brought the principle to this country. Yesterday more than a million school children imagined an air raid and participated in fire and bombing drills. By 1944 no child of 12 will ever have known anything but the New Deal as government. Mayor La Guardia has taken over the regimentation of the youth. The New Deal, having robbed every one else, is now robbing the cradle.

TO MOUNT BY THE STORM.

Arthur Young, a British farmer, wrote a journal while traveling in France in 1789. He saw the seeds of revolution beginning to sprout.

He saw that "men who, from the violence and conflicts of the moment, find themselves in a position and of an importance that results merely from public confusion, will take effectual care to prevent the settlement, order, and peace which, if established, would be a mortal blow to their consequences; they mount by the storm and would sink in a calm."

He commented, "Thus it is in revolutions, one rascal writes and a hundred thousand fools believe. . . . The people are thus kept in a continual ferment. . . . Of such materials are all mobs made, so impossible is it to satisfy in moments like these, when the heated imagination dresses every visionary project of the brain in the bewitching colors of liberty."

He observed that "the populace have been blown up to violence by every art of deception and even by money distributed for that purpose."

He spoke of "persons who wished for no better government than one whose abuses were the foundation of their fortunes."

He saw men "training the orphans of soldiers to be soldiers themselves."

He observed that "the stumbling block is the situation of the finances, which cannot possibly be restored."

He marked "the knavery of those who borrowed, and the folly of those who lent; perpetuating taxes that took money from industrious people in order to give it to idle ones."

"I demanded," he said, "whether the conversion of a million men into the bearers of muskets would make money more plentiful. I asked if personal service was not a tax."

He said that "the dispensations of Providence seem to have permitted the human race to exist only as the prey of tyrants, as it has made pigeons for the prey of hawks."

It requires no stretch of the imagination to see that Young's observations in 1789 have a very pertinent application today. They were cited by Senator Holman of Oregon to his colleagues for that very reason.

THE BELATED CAMPAIGN FOR VOLUNTEERS.

The war department in urging conscripts and National Guardsmen to reënlist in the regular army for three year terms is doing what it should have done in the first place. Instead of resorting to the draft, the army should have appealed for volunteers. It would have been able to rely on a patriotic response. It would have got young men who wanted to be soldiers. The volunteers would have been better soldiers. They would not have been split personalities, as so many of the conscripts are, with half their thoughts on the business of becoming soldiers and the other half longingly concentrated on civilian life.

In so far as the war department tries to increase the size of the regular army by calling for reënlistments its program is meritorious. There are probably many conscripts and National Guardsmen who are relatively footloose and fancy free and who like army life. They will sign up as regulars. The government should immediately raise army pay, both as a reward and as an inducement. It cannot expect the men to be proud to lay down their lives in defense of their country for 70 cents a day.

Moreover, there are disturbing intimations that the war department is trying to prepare an AEF and using coercion to compel conscripts and Guardsmen to waive the restriction which prevents them from being sent outside the confines of the western hemisphere or United States possessions.

The war department is taking a poll of selectees in the 2d armored division as to their willingness to serve overseas. The question apparently is not being submitted to regular troops who form the preponderance of the division personnel, for a regular can be sent anywhere in the world. A soldier hasn't much choice if he is asked face to face to waive guarantees previously given him. Subtle forms of persuasion can be used to influence his decision. If they do not prove effective, downright coercion can be employed. Already there are stories of conscripts being asked to sign waivers on the limitation on where they can be sent and being told, "You might as well sign, for you'll be sent anyway."

British and American military experience has demonstrated that volunteer armies are the only armies that are any good in colonial wars. The wars into which the administration would send the troops are colonial wars. They do not affect American colonial interests but British and perhaps Dutch. It is reported that the destination of the armored force will be Persia.

The poll on readiness to serve overseas is an unmistakable indication that the Roosevelt government intends to get into the war by fair means or foul and to order American boys to go to their deaths in the sands of Africa, the jungles of Burma, the steppes of Persia, and the mountains of the Caucasus. The President is hellbent on that determination. The young men were called to service to defend America. That is the extent of their obligation.

A BILL FOR HONEST TRADE UNIONISM.

Senator Bridges of New Hampshire has introduced a bill to impose proper accounting and publicity in the handling of trade union funds and to provide public supervision and a secret ballot in union elections and strike votes.

These two measures have been urged repeatedly by THE TRIBUNE as a means of eliminating some of the worst abuses in the labor field. It was also recommended in these columns that the Wagner act be made the vehicle for the reforms, as Senator Bridges proposes.

The best proof that these requirements will not hamper the legitimate activity of any trade union is in the fact that many of the strongest unions in the country already meet them voluntarily. The typographers are a stronger, not a weaker union, because of the strict control that their members exercise over international officers thru fair elections and referenda on questions of major policy. The Ladies' Garment Workers have not been hampered by public reports accounting for their funds more completely than do many corporations. The turbulent CIO auto workers started out with excellent financial reports, which may be resumed now that their civil wars are drawing to a close. John L. Lewis gives the coal miners a comprehensive financial statement. Their trouble is that he has disfranchised so many of them that while they may know what he does with the money, they have no means of objecting.

Nevertheless the cry will be raised that the Bridges bill is designed to sabotage the trade union movement. It will be interesting to see who are the spokesmen in this attack. It can be predicted in advance that most of the outcry will be raised by those whose unions need the regulations most.

The country and the labor movement itself will be well served when there is a general public recognition that the same distinction exists between the trade union movement and the men who control unions as exists between capitalism and the men who manage capital. Government regulation has been found necessary to prevent faithless managers of capital from abusing their trust. It is equally necessary to prevent men who control unions from abusing that trust.

Prosecution of the Musicas, Hopsons, and Schencks, and enforcement of regulations designed to prevent others adopting their trickery is not an attack on capitalism but a defense of it. Prosecution of the Scalises, Brownes, and Bioffs, and enforcement of regulations designed to prevent others betraying the power they hold over unions is not an attack on trade unionism but a defense of it.

CRAB APPLES IN CONCRETE.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Four crab apple trees in full fruit have appeared in the concrete alley that runs between Rockefeller Center's British Empire building and La Maison Française. With the other trees planted some time ago along the curb in front of the buildings, 5th avenue is becoming downright rustic.

The wonder of this planting is not that it has been done, but that it was not done long ago. Manhattan, after all, is populated by boys and girls from the farms of Iowa and Indiana and Illinois. Nostalgia being persistent and success elusive, the burgeoning of trees amidst the concrete was inevitable—especially after the increase in railroad fares made returns to the old farm more difficult than ever.

But in turning out a crew of all manner of workers to plant the crab apples, the practical Rockefeller Center management did not indulge merely in a pleasant bit of sentiment. The crop is to be carefully harvested and converted into jelly.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

SO THIS IS OPERA SEASON!

Every year about this time the Linemaster says to himself, "I must drop into the opera some night," but somehow he never gets around to it. Perhaps this lamentable failure to keep in touch with the cultural movements at the Madison street bridge is due to the fact that opera is an institution too august to be dropped into by casual observers in snap-brim hats and business suits. Or maybe it is because the music editors always freeze firmly to the available ducats.

And yet, if there were an organization called Veteran Critics of Opera Seasons we would be eligible, altho we have no medals to display. Whenever we served, there was consternation among the union critics, who went around hissing, "He doesn't know anything about music, but only knows what he likes." They also accused us of describing the performances as if they were a show on a stage instead of a mystic ritual at the inner shrine of Melpomene. When they wanted to deal the final stab in the back they passed the word around: "He tells the story." For it was highly unorthodox, in those days, to tell the public the plain facts about operatic plots. The true opera lover was supposed to know them from infancy, and if he didn't, no matter.

Our first opera season was awarded to us for excellence in interviewing the carbarn bandits in their death cells, and our behavior in print was so revolutionary that the paper decided it would have to employ a regular music critic, who perhaps could play the bassoon, in the future. That was in the great days of Conried's companies from New York, and it caused our early discovery of the possibilities of Finland. Her name was Aino Ackté; her eyes had the blue sparkle of icebergs in the sun, and her hair was plaited ropes of pale gold. We wrote an interview with her, and she probably recited it to her family for the rest of her life.

Are there any Ainos left in the world? We doubt it, but we must drop into the opera some time to see.

TEMPERATE ZONE PROBLEM.

When Spring, with graceful poise, spreads forth her arms
To clasp us to her breast in fond embrace,
We eloquently eulogize her charms
And tenderly caress her smiling face.
And yet, about us, controversies thrive
As to who saw the Robin first arrive.

When ruthless Winter lays her icy hand
Upon the works of Spring we loved so much,
Reluctantly we come to understand
That Spring must now succumb to Winter's touch.
And now, again, the controversies start:

The Duke Goes to a Hockey Match.

Hon. Linemaster: Me and tha mama aint never seen a proffeshional hockey game until the other night when my rich brother and sister-in-law and her mink coat and her son Junior treated us on a/c it was their wedding anniversary, an whats more we was also horned in on eats before tha game. I was gonna order my favorite dish, either pork shanks an sauerkraut or boiled tripe an turnips, but neither of these elegant things is on tha program—so I had to order a minute steak. I guess it gets that name cause its so big it takes just one minute to eat it. Tha baked potato's pa an ma must of fed the kid whisky or sumthin to stunt his growth—ennyway when I got thru I had to tighten up my belt so's my pants woodn fall down.

I dont know nuthin about this kind of hockey—the only kind I ever played was watch and chain hockey with a cupple uncles on south State street. A umpire guy drops what looks like a stale doughnut in tha middle of the ice and then your supposed to dunk tha thing into a monkey cage at the other side of the hall but theres a big bruiser there that they call a ghoulkeeper an he swings a stick at tha fried cake an shoves it away an then it starts all over again.

Its so simple even tha mama nearly got tha hang of the thing. One rule is that you cant shove tha hockey stick between a guys legs until you see if tha referee is or aint looking. Another thing that aint allowed is that if a guy is laid out, your supposed to skate over his chest instead of taking a short cut by skating over his neck. Between tha recess a bunch of ice scrapers get enough shavings to keep tha bar supplied fer a week. Tha night we was there one of tha players lost his wedding ring but the scrapers didn have any trouble finding it cause tha guys finger was still in it.

I was about to buy me a hot-dog when tha mama kicked me so hard in the ankle that my neck is still out of joint. Her idea was that after getting treated to a swell feed it wood embarrass tha relations by thinking I didn get enough to eat.

CHALLENGE TO WINTER.

I do not like winter; no mixture or blend of it

I couldn't be forced to like winter by wizardry,
Threats or entreaties (except when it's blizzardry).

I do not like winter (except when it roarifies, Blusters and shrieks and, in general, horrifies).

When Printers Go to Chapel.

I find this bit of lore in an autobiography of Benjamin Franklin, by W. T. Franklin, published in 1818:

"A printing house is always called a chapel by the workmen, the origin of which appears to have been that printing was first carried on in England in an ancient chapel converted into a printing house, and the title has been preserved by tradition."

Clyde D. Foster.

(This usage survives in composing rooms to designate meetings of printers for union or guild purposes. Such a meeting is called a "chapel meeting.")

"Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast" was written before the rumba was in vogue.

X-RAYS HELP IN BRONCHIAL ASTHMA.

MANY important remedies have been discovered accidentally. The housewives of Shropshire made a tea from the leaves of the foxglove, which cured dropsy. This led William Withering to investigate the claims and out of it all came our modern use of digitalis.

Of course, every agent that appears "to do good" in a particular malady may not "work" with all who seem to be suffering from an identical condition. The explanation lies in the fact that we are individuals. No two of us are exactly alike in physique, disposition, or response. It is clear that the science of medicine is merely a set of principles, and practice cannot be reduced to a few simple rules. To accomplish a given result the physician must study and know his patient.

At first blush it would scarcely seem reasonable that exposure to Roentgen's rays would influence asthma or hay fever. Some 35 years ago, however, an X-ray specialist made an examination of the chest of a confirmed asthmatic by means of the fluoroscope. Much to his surprise he learned that the victim was decidedly better for several weeks thereafter. This brought about numerous experiments with this powerful force. One of the early authorities reported that in 11 cases of severe asthma, treatment with X-ray was followed by spectacular results.

At intervals this suggestion has been tried in various parts of the country. A lady who came under my observation a few years ago was the wife of a physician. For more than three years she had not escaped a daily seizure and every known drug thought to be helpful had been administered. Only temporary alleviation was secured. As a forlorn hope it was decided to employ X-rays. The area exposed was the upper abdomen and a sizable dose was given. Nausea and vomiting persisted for the next four days and the patient was quite distressed. But, since that time she has not encountered a single paroxysm.

What is responsible for these attacks? Usually symptoms arise because of susceptibility to some special offender. Not infrequently this substance may be detected and either eliminated from the environment or neutralized by means of vaccines. But, now and then, an individual will be resistant to the most carefully controled program designated to banish the sensivitity.

No one of us can live comfortably with severe periodical bouts of bronchial asthma. They may come without warning, and the patient be completely helpless because of the struggle for breath. Certainly those who do not respond to the usual types of management may well be given the benefit of Roentgen therapy. It can be stated safely that 25 per cent at least will be relieved almost completely. Another 16 per cent will have the symptoms so modified that they can live in reasonable freedom. A few will be aided materially, but there may be a relapse within three to six months. Those who fail to note minor improvement are few indeed.

If success is to be expected, relief will be experienced rather promptly—within a few days. A few persons will be made worse temporarily, but not to the point where ease cannot be secured with appropriate measures.

It is only fair to state that we know comparatively little about allergy. Just why will one become ill in the presence of horse dandruff, or another display annoying manifestations because of certain ingredients in the dust of the home? There seems to be something inherent in the constitution which resents these irritants. Perhaps the plan suggested renders the system more calloused.

FAINTING SPELLS.

J. H. writes: What can be done to ward off a faint?

REPLY.

Seek the open air promptly. If this is not feasible, find a seat and bend the trunk forward squeezing the abdomen against the thighs. This maneuver will permit the circulation to regain its balance. For the moment there is too little blood in the brain.

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

LAW ENFORCING HOCUS-POCUS.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—How long will the people of our community stand for the hocus-pocus of our law enforcing bodies in protecting our citizens. Many cases could be cited, but I refer now to the milk situation.

Milk is life to babies and children, and still we have seen it dumped by the roadside and nothing done about it by our law enforcing bodies. The recent goon attacks are not new. Recent attacks show that the time is ripe for concerted action on the part of our law abiding citizens to show what is behind this mockery of justice.

Just now we have a special grand jury in session, with deputies chasing around the city trying to find out what little fellow is making a 50 cent bet on the ponies [a $2 bet is legal at the tracks].

They will spend a lot of the taxpayers' money trying to find where a bettor places his wager, but will not spend 1 cent trying to track down these goons who are robbing the babies of the very thing that helps give them life.

Let's wake up, people of Cook county. Labor unions are all right, but labor racketeers are not and do not belong in our community. Neither do political racketeers.

THOSE PICTURES FROM HINES.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Had to wait "in line" last night at the neighborhood drug store for THE TRIBUNE as the truck was late. When I got home I was glad I waited when I saw the pictures of the veterans of the first war now in Hines hospital. These should be sent to the President to help him realize what the former fighters and defenders of "democracy" think of his so-called foreign policy which is really what the name implies, too—foreign; and nothing but.

Let's have more pictures and testimonies from men who know from experience what war really is.

NORMAN M. PAULSON.

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 11.—Despite the grim and unpleasant scenes pictured on the back page of the Armistice day TRIBUNE, thanks for printing them.

Perhaps a few of our rabid interventionists will take time out to meditate over what they are trying to do to our present generation of younger men.

We—the ex-service men of World war No. 1, who were lucky enough to come thru untouched [except in our minds and hearts]—know the price paid in human blood and the absolute futility of it all.

MARK OSBORNE.

GIRL WITH AN APPETITE.

West Chicago, Ill., Nov. 10.—I have a soldier son in an Illinois army camp. Recently I received a letter from him, saying:

"Last week I went over to the Service club, perhaps to dance a little. I met a real nice looking girl and she was a swell dancer, but, gosh, could that girl eat!

"Every time I tried to excuse myself and get lost in the crowd, she turned up with, 'O, there you are. I have been looking all over for you,' and me just about broke."

I hope the girls remember that our soldiers receive a meager salary—perhaps far less than the girls themselves.

MOTHER OF A SOLDIER.

CLUB PHONE REFUSED.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—The Illinois Athletic club at 112 South Michigan is a strictly private organization. On Sunday an elderly lady was hit by an automobile and tossed several feet in the air. I stopped my car and ran over to try and be of some assistance. A policeman arrived at the same time and told me to hurry across the street to the Illinois Athletic club and telephone for immediate assistance.

I entered the club, outlined the situation, and asked to use the telephone. Instead I was met with an outraged glare, told that this was a private club and that the phone was not available for outsiders. I had to go down the street to the Airlines office in the Palmer House, where the person in charge quickly and courteously called for help.

To Chicago business men with a yen for all out privacy generously coated with inhumanity, I can wholeheartedly recommend the Illinois Athletic club.

Three bells for the policeman who so ably performed his duty. Thanks to the airlines employé who did a real service.

GENE LATIMER.

ONE SIDE ONLY ON THE RADIO.

Sheboygan, Wis., Nov. 11.—At least 35 senators are opposed to the revision of the President's neutrality law and do not want the United States pushed or dragged into this latest of the eternally recurring wars of the old world.

Yet the views of these senators are not reflected by a single one of our radio "commentators." No representation there for almost half of the membership of our highest law making body!

AN AMERICAN ONLY.

GOOD POLICE WORK.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—I have often heard the police of Woodlawn station referred to as "Chicago's Finest." Am convinced they are worthy of the title. Why?

Sunday night three policemen from Woodlawn came upon a holdup in Alderman's drug store at 200 East 69th street, and by their bravery and foresight thwarted a pair of merciless thieves.

We residents of Park Manor are being ably protected against such "menaces to society" by such capable men as Flynn, Birmingham, and Hayes.

A GRATEFUL CITIZEN.

THE WRIGHT JUNIOR BONFIRE.

Waukegan, Ill., Nov. 10.—Why in the world should the working people of Illinois support any school or university by heavy taxation, only to have these student bodies led against such true Americans as Charles Lindbergh?

I refer to the recent bonfire at Wright Junior college.

A PROUD AMERICAN.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—I echo the sentiment expressed by "Remax" in today's TRIBUNE. Such a circular as he describes is quite in line with the reported removal of Lindbergh's bust at Senn High school, and it is a tragic commentary upon the intolerance of a certain element of our citizenry who are so constantly on the watch for evidences of an intolerance against themselves.

In spite of F. D. R.'s silly castigation of Col. Lindbergh such an occurrence as this at Wright Junior college is as absurd and ridiculous as the "hate" drummed up in the time of World war I, which was vented even upon poor harmless dachshunds.

F. M.

BEWARE BOUNTIES.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—From the essay on Coriolanus in "Plutarch's Lives": "For it was well and truly said that the first destroyer of the liberty of a people is he who first gave them bounties and largesses."

Kewanee, Ill., Nov. 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I received a bank check of small amount from a party. Three days later this party died in an automobile accident. After his death I presented it at the bank but [1] they refused to honor it.

2. They advised me to file a claim against the estate.

3. Is there a law in this state to stop payments of checks of this type or [4] is it a rule with the bankers?

Sheriff's Reported Police Protection Fails.

Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien's county highway police failed again late yesterday after they were reported to have been ordered by the sheriff to restore every possible protection to the beleaguered independent dairy drivers who have been the principal victims of the shooting Maywood milk war.

Labor goons swooped down on a truck and private car convoying it for the Maywood Farms company, Inc., chief target of milk wagon drivers' union organizers, halting the convoy car and its crew of three men, while the truck went on to an independent milk store. The attack occurred at North and Harvey avenues in Oak Park—a busy intersection.

As the automobiles of the goons and the company men met, both sets of men sprang from the cars. The union goons at once waded in, all five slugging at their three victims, and for several minutes the men from the convoy car fought back.

Throw Bottles at Gunmen.

Dozens of passing motorists stopped and started to form a crowd, and then the goons leaped back into their automobile and fled.

While the fight was in progress, employés of an independent dairy store at 6105 North avenue, owned by Herman Wadler, one of the parties to the milk war since it started on Nov. 5, called both the Oak Park police and the headquarters of Maywood Farms company at 104 Lake street, Maywood.

Five Oak Park police squads rushed to the scene and sought the attacking car unsuccessfully. Earlier three squads from State's Attorney Courtney's office had been circling thruout Maywood in an effort to get track of a large black sedan with spurious license plates.

Investigate License Plates.

The big car bore license plates for one of a much smaller make, issued in the name of William Johnson of Finley, Ill. The prosecutor's police were investigating the issuance of the plates.

Description of the automobile in the North avenue attack tallied with that of the car in question.

The foray followed announcements that, in addition to Courtney's police, the Maywood police and three squads of Sheriff O'Brien's Cook county highway police had thrown complete protection around workers of the Maywood Farms company. The drivers said 40 state highway policemen under the direction of Capt. Wilbur Kennedy were giving "wonderful" protection outside Cook county. The attacks started when local No. 753 of the American Federation of Labor Milk Wagon Drivers' union undertook to organize the workers of the Maywood Farms company.

Judge John C. Lewe in Superior court heard testimony from James Kennedy, president; and A. C. Richards, business agent of the drivers' union, in defense against the petition of the dairy companies that they and Peter Hoban, vice president, be held in contempt of an injunction for the recent violence. There will be another session in this hearing this morning and the case is expected to be continued until Monday.

KILLER OF BABY STEPSON TO FACE MURDER CHARGE

Sullenly and without emotion, George H. Hall Jr., 28 years old, told a coroner's jury yesterday how he beat and kicked his 2½ year old stepson, James Jumes, into near unconsciousness to "learn him a lesson," and then covered the fatally injured child with a nightgown to conceal his bruises from his mother when she returned from work. A few minutes later Hall, a former sex offender, was held to the grand jury for murder.

Twice during the tense inquest the dead boy's father, Andrew J. Jumes, 25, of 61 East Goethe street, lunged at Hall and had to be restrained by police. After his second outburst he was taken from the hearing, conducted in the Hudson avenue police station.

Another witness at the inquest was Nancy Jumes, 4 year old sister of the dead child. Clutching a doll in her arms, she described how her stepfather had beaten James and her and then put them to bed.

TWO SENTENCED TO JAIL FOR JOB INSURANCE FRAUD

Two former employés in the state unemployment compensation bureau were each sentenced yesterday by Municipal Judge Erwin J. Hasten to a year in the county jail for defrauding the state of $2,800. The men are James R. Bell, 33 years old, 640 East 65th street, and Carter Ashford, 32, of 501 East 60th street, both colored. Three colored men who admitted aiding Bell were put on probation for a year. They are Charles Weaver, 35; James Renfroe, 38, and Albert Petty, 37. Bell and Ashford pleaded guilty to making out checks in the names of persons whose right to receive aid had expired, but whose names were kept on the roll.

THE ANSWERS.

Beverly Belon, student, 6206 North Washtenaw avenue—All my powers of concentration were focused on how beautiful my new hair-do was going to look tomorrow. I was also running water into the tub for my bath and undressing. When the tub was full I stepped in. After I sat down I discovered I still had on my shoes and anklets.

Archie W. Pearson, usher, 1215 Granville avenue—On a cold December morning I got up at 7 o'clock and walked thru four blocks of that penetrating wind to go to my regular class at school. Did I feel foolish when the janitor asked me if I didn't know this was the first day of the Christmas vacation? I had looked forward to it for weeks. Went home and back to bed.

Phil Coleman, student, 1120 Loyola avenue—I was accustomed to calling home from the office, but this time I was home and wanted to call the office. I called my home number from home and so, of course, got the busy signal. I did this four more times and finally, in disgust, asked the operator to please call me when the line wasn't busy. She called back immediately, and then I woke up.

Jane Doering, secretary, 5733 North Newcastle avenue—On the same morning that I arranged my hair in perfect curls and then put my heavy night hair net back on I wore my bedroom slippers to work. Besides being too early in the morning, I was giving all my attention to getting to work on time. An hour later I remembered it was my day off.

Virginia Bell, student, 1235 Norwood street—When I was lounging around the edge of our gymnasium pool one of my friends came dashing in and said if I'd hurry and get dressed we'd go to an out of town football game. In haste and frenzy I dressed. I didn't notice I still had on my damp suit until I sat down in the car.

Joyce Foster, stenographer, 6330 Magnolia avenue—It was after hours at the office, and I was at the desk, just sitting there thinking how sleepy I was and that I wished I were in bed, when the telephone rang. I picked it up and said, "Now I lay me down to sleep——." As I started the next sentence I realized what I was saying and threw the phone back onto the hook as if it were on fire.

ADMITS FAKING PREGNANCY IN ADOPTION SUIT

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 13 (AP).—Mrs. Beatrice Wandrei testified today that for six months she pretended to be an expectant mother so people would think the baby she planned to adopt was hers.

She told Judge Alfred E. Paonessa, however, that she never talked to a mysterious spirit named Sally about the matter, altho it had been charged by the baby's mother, Mrs. Maxine Nickerson Gramm, that Sally had an active part in the whole proceedings. Mrs. Gramm and her former husband, Frank H. Nickerson, are attempting to win custody of the year old baby from Mrs. Wandrei and her husband, Albert, who want to adopt it. Asked if she had worn a pillow to simulate the appearance of pregnancy, Mrs. Wandrei testified: "I certainly did."

FAKE AUTO LOANS CHARGED TO 8 IN $42,000 SWINDLE

Former Peoria Financing Official Seized.

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 13 [Special].—Eight persons, an auto dealer, two mechanics, and five former employés of a finance corporation, have been indicted by United States grand jury charged with defrauding the Northern Illinois Finance company of $42,000 by negotiating conditional sales contracts on automobiles.

Thomas J. Caragher, Peoria, former manager of the finance company's Peoria office, was taken into custody by federal authorities today. Posting bonds for $10,000, Caragher said: "I don't know a thing about this."

William L. Henchen, Havana, Ill., auto dealer; Edward Hickman and Claude W. Emmons, Havana, auto mechanics employed by Henchen; William T. Fairchild, Springfield, former investigator, and Loretta Tully, Washington, D. C., formerly employed here at De Kalb offices as stenographer, also are named in the indictment.

Tell of Fictitious Autos.

The scheme, according to the indictment, returned Monday by a grand jury at Springfield and suppressed until today, involved the financing of fictitious cars thru Henchen Motor company in Havana from Jan. 1, 1939, to April 1, 1941.

U. S. District Attorney L. Doyle indicated today that Thomas Caragher first suggested the scheme to Henchen as a means of paying off an $800 debt to the corporation.

Contracts were drawn for financing two cars which, it is claimed, did not exist, and the money was paid to Henchen by the unsuspecting company.

Doyle said that Henchen had his two mechanics sign different contracts as purchasers of cars, using fictitious names and addresses in and near Havana. The serial and engine numbers of the cars were also faked. In one case it was charged the numbers were those of automobiles in Puerto Rico and in New York.

The investigators were alleged to have made favorable reports after "examinations" of the supposed purchasers.

Tell of Intercepted Letters.

Doyle said Henchen arranged to intercept "check" letters sent out by the main office of the corporation to the car purchasers. He was reported to have told an employé of the postoffice, who has since retired, that he had sold cars out of his territory and would have to divide the commission if detected. He promised to deliver the letters, but, with the aid of the others, filled in the requested information as to balance due on the contract and other details and then mailed the letters to headquarters, the United States attorney said.

Doyle expressed the belief that the scheme was started on the theory that Henchen, suffering from cancer, would die and that the entire blame would be shifted to him. An operation within the last few years, however, saved his life.

"It is," said Doyle, "one of the most amazing fraud cases ever submitted to this office."

The case will be tried here, and Doyle said he will ask for an early setting.

Police said there was no evidence to connect him with the killing.

WOMAN DRIVER GETS PRISON IN HIT-RUN DEATHS

Paw Paw, Mich., Nov. 13 [Special].—Mrs. Frank Rounds, wife of an optometrist at Dowagiac, was sentenced today to serve a term of 13 months to five years in the Detroit house of correction in the hit-and-run automobile deaths of two Chicago vacationers.

A jury convicted her a week ago of "knowingly and wilfully leaving the scene of an accident" in Keeler township on Aug. 5. The victims were Otto Berg and Charles S. Lang, who had vacationed annually together at Sister Lakes for about 20 years. They were struck and fatally injured by a car as they walked along a highway near the L. T. Timmons resort.

Mrs. Rounds, who fled from the scene, was traced thru an automobile radiator emblem which was embeded in Berg's back. Her damaged car was found in a barn on the farm of her uncle, Glenn True, and the removed radiator grill was found in a creek nearby.

BANDIT SUSPECT SHOT AS HE RUNS FLEEING ARREST

One of four suspected robbers was shot and seriously wounded last night as he attempted to escape from Policeman Edward Dennis of Central station, who had just arrested them at La Salle street and Archer avenue.

The man shot is Peter Zaper, 18 years old, 2921 Shields avenue, a factory worker. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital with a bullet wound in his head. Arrested with him were Tony Patina, 18, of 2700 South Wells street; Tony Demma, 21, of 268 Alexander avenue, and Tony Zekich, 18, of 2832 Princeton avenue.

Policeman Dennis was on his way to work when Duffy Cotton, colored, of 710 South State street, a porter, told him four men had robbed him of $3 and had hit him on the head with a revolver. When Cotton pointed out the four, Zaper ran, throwing away a revolver as he did so. The policeman fired a warning shot and then a second shot which hit Zaper.

TAILOR DIES IN TAXICAB.

John Linden, 72 years old, 3225 Wesley avenue, a tailor, died of a heart attack yesterday in a taxi at Ogden and Kedzie avenues.

INSURANCE AGENT IS FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN OFFICE

Vance C. Roberts, 60 years old, a special agent for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, was found shot to death yesterday in his office at 208 South La Salle street. A .22 caliber pistol lay on the floor beside the body.

Miss Vera Mitchell, a secretary in the office, told investigators that she had heard a muffled report from the office about two hours before the tragedy was discovered.

Roberts, whose home was at 911 Elmwood avenue, Evanston, recently underwent an operation, and had not fully recovered, it was said.

JEWELER KILLED IN CRASH.

Oregon, Ill., Nov. 13 [Special].—Gordon Overstreet, 45, Dixon jeweler, was killed three miles south of here last night when the automobile he was driving crashed into the rear of a truck. Jack Stafford, Monroe, Wis., driver of the truck, was uninjured.

CALL SUBURBAN OFFICIALS TODAY IN GAMING PROBE

Grand Jurors Will Hear from Hot Spots.

The grand jury which is investigating the control over the Cook county gambling industry by the Guzik-Nitti-Humphreys-Vogel gang syndicate will begin the questioning of suburban officials and chiefs of police today.

The first of these witnesses, coming from communities that have already been described to the grand jurors as gambling hotbeds, are: Mayor George Stedronsky and Chief Martin Wojciechowski of Cicero; Joseph Gannon, president, and Philip W. Howard, chief, of Chicago Heights; John M. Hart, president, and John R. McAvoy, chief, of Blue Island, and Theofil Bulat, president, and Frank C. Roga, chief, of Lyons.

Collectors' Names Obtained.

They will be asked to tell why slot machines and other gambling devices were permitted to operate in their towns.

It was understood that the grand jury learned, from two not very willing witnesses, the names of the slot machine collectors for the syndicate, and that these agents of the gang are being sought.

Most of the day, however, was devoted to quizzing members of the county highway police force, among them Chief James Fleming, who was in the grand jury room a half hour.

Also on the list of those summoned was Edward Dolan, secretary to Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien, under whom the county highway deputies operate. Dolan was questioned for nearly an hour. Neither he nor Fleming would talk after they were dismissed by the grand jurors.

Bribe Payments Shown.

Much of the information on which the investigation is based was contained in the July ledger sheets of the syndicate, published in THE TRIBUNE, which showed bribe payments of thousands of dollars each month and estimated profits of more than $2,500,000 annually.

Sheriff O'Brien refused to comment on the investigation. He said he was "just carrying on official business" yesterday. Asked if he was doing anything about gambling in the county areas, he replied: "It's all shut down, isn't it?"

Reminded that the state's attorney had called his gambling action shadow boxing, O'Brien said that all his raids had been on the square.

M. L. ANNENBERG DENIED PAROLE A SECOND TIME

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—Justice department officials said today that M. L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher serving a three year sentence for income tax evasion, had been denied a parole for the second time.

Annenberg entered the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., on July 22, 1940, to begin his sentence imposed in federal court at Chicago. His request for a parole was denied first early in July, and a second review of the application led to another rejection on Nov. 8, officials said today in response to inquiries about reports that Annenberg soon would be released from prison.

At matters now stand, the publisher will be eligible for release on Nov. 11, 1942, provided he wins full credit for good behavior.

Annenberg settled the treasury's tax claim for $8,000,000, altho actual payments are expected to reach a total of $10,000,000 because of interest over the seven year period provided for payment.

MRS. PIRIE SEEKS FINANCING OF HER SUIT BY HUSBAND

Mrs. Daisiana Smith Pirie, estranged wife of John T. Pirie Jr., director of sales and advertising for Carson Pirie Scott & Co., submitted a petition yesterday to Judge Ralph J. Dady in Lake county Circuit court in Waukegan asking $3,000 from her husband to finance her suit for separate maintenance against him.

The money, her petition explained, is needed so that she can hire accountants to establish Pirie's correct income and the properties he owns.

Judge Dady ordered Pirie to file an answer to his wife's petition by next Monday. Mrs. Pirie, who lives at 730 North Mayflower road, Lake Forest, filed her suit for separate maintenance for herself and their three children last July. At a hearing in September attorneys for Pirie told Judge Dady that Pirie had paid $450 a month to Mrs. Pirie since their separation in 1938.

Record Billings Reported by Mutual Broadcasting

Billings of the Mutual Broadcasting system for the first 10 months of 1941 show an increase of 51.4 per cent over the 1940 period, it was announced yesterday. The total was $5,393,522, and officials said this assured the network the largest volume of business in its seven year history. Last month's billings totaled $839,829, an increase of 7 per cent over October, 1940.

Roosevelt's Cold Better, but He Stays in Study

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—President Roosevelt's head cold was reported improved today, but he still was having some difficulty with one frontal sinus. Not taking any chances, he remained in his study, instead of going to the executive office, to receive a few callers.

—N. Y. TIMES

Raoul de Roussy de Sales' inside story of Hitler's rise to power

... how he played one man, one group, one nation against another ... what lies, threats and promises he used (in Hitler's own words) ... what methods he employed! The ONLY BOOK that shows exactly HOW Hitler got where he is today.

MY NEW ORDER

Special Introductory Price $1.89
(Until December 1st Only)*

An avalanche of praise has greeted this exciting and highly readable book. In the words of the Salt Lake Tribune: "The rise of Hitler to world power, together with the first signs of disintegration of his dreams of world empire, are outlined by a searching analysis of his own pronouncements, coordinated with the history of the times, in 'My New Order,' one of the more significant books about World War II."

WILLIAM L. SHIRER, author of "Berlin Diary" says:
"All that Hitler spoke has been recorded in this remarkable and revealing volume ... It is a more important book for Americans at this particular time than even 'Mein Kampf'."

CLIFTON FADIMAN, The New Yorker says:
"The most important book of the year ... Massive, brilliantly edited ... the clearest charting of the changing contour of Nazism I have yet encountered."

LEWIS GANNETT, New York Herald Tribune says:
"More than a sequel to 'Mein Kampf': It is a dramatic running picture of the rise of Hitler and the fall of Europe ... This is a dangerous book. Hitler was never a writer. He is a born orator, responding physically to his audiences; something of that electric communion gets into these pages."

H. V. KALTENBORN says:
"If 'Mein Kampf' is the Old Testament of the Nazi Bible, 'My New Order' is its New Testament. It brings Hitler up to date. It is the best explanation in book form of what has happened in Europe and why."

Collier's Editorial* says:
"From Hitler's new book, you can get a rough idea of what he would do to the United States if he ever should get control of it; which is why we hope most Americans will study, and we mean study, 'My New Order'."

Introduction by Raymond Gram Swing

These are the two most important books to Americans today. " 'Mein Kampf' told how it could be done. 'My New Order' shows Hitler doing it."—TIME.

HITLER'S COMPLETE PLANS FOR WORLD CONQUEST

* In order to make MY NEW ORDER available to the greatest possible number of Americans, the publishers are offering it, until December 1st at the special introductory price of $1.89. (After December 1st $2.75.) Until then, and as long as your bookseller's supply lasts, you may get your copy for $1.89. You may still obtain MEIN KAMPF (now in its 250th thousand) at the special price of $1.89 until further notice.

NOTHING WRONG IN HIRING JUDGE'S FRIEND: LANGER

Asked Him to Watch for Jury Fixing, He Says.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—Sen. William Langer [R., N. D.] told the senate elections committee today that he saw no impropriety in employing a close friend of the judge to watch the United States marshal's and clerk's offices during Langer's 1935 trial.

Langer made the assertion during his fourth consecutive day as a witness at hearings on his fitness to hold office, which has been challenged by a group of North Dakota petitioners.

Former Sen. Edward Burke of Nebraska, counsel for the petitioners, cross-examined Langer at length with respect to his earlier testimony that he had employed the late Chet Leedom, identified as a close friend and political associate of Federal District Judge A. Lee Wyman, to watch the marshal and clerk. Langer was tried before Judge Wyman on a charge of conspiracy to obstruct the orderly operation of an act of congress, and was acquitted.

Talks of Jury Tampering.

Langer testified that he hired Leedom because he believed the jury had been "tampered" with when he was convicted on the same charge at an earlier trial and he thought he needed some one to protect his interests when the case was remanded for a new trial.

The former North Dakota governor reiterated on cross-examination that he had no knowledge of the employment at the same time by James Mulloy, a former Langer political lieutenant, of Gale Wyman, son of the judge.

First he knew of such a transaction, he said, was when the judge's son told him, during a trial of Langer on a perjury charge before Judge Wyman, that Mulloy had promised him $500 for some earlier services but that he had only received half of it and believed he should also be paid $25 for traveling from Deadwood, S. D., to Bismarck, N. D., at Mulloy's request.

Burke asked Langer if he wanted the committee to understand that Mulloy and Leedom arranged to employ Wyman, but made no mention of it whatever to Langer.

Langer Insists It's the Truth.

"That's exactly what I want the committee to understand," Langer replied unhesitatingly, "for it's the truth. That's exactly what happened."

Late in the afternoon Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.], who had expressed dissatisfaction with the procedure, objected that Mulloy, sitting at the same table as counsel for the petitioners, was making comments to the committee by facial expressions and otherwise.

"His conduct is offensive to me," Connally said. "If he is a witness he has no business sitting at the counsel table."

Burke asked the witness to take a seat among the spectators.

Connally expressed the opinion at another point that the committee's investigators had gone to North Dakota "at the start with the idea that we've got to get somebody."

MRS. BARBARA FIELD BLISS.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—Marshall Field III., New York publisher, said tonight that his daughter, Barbara, had established residence in Reno to seek a divorce from Anthony A. Bliss. Field said the couple, married Dec. 20, 1937, in one of New York's most fashionable weddings of that season, had long been separated. Bliss is a member of an old influential New York family. His grandfather, the late Cornelius N. Bliss, was secretary of the interior in President McKinley's cabinet.

OPM CUTS POWER ALLOTMENTS FOR BIG INDUSTRIES

Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 13 [Special].—J. A. Krug, power chief of OPM, tonight issued a mandatory order effective Nov. 17 freezing use of power by large industrial users in the southeast to the amount of power they used during the month of September. Krug said the purpose is to prevent a few large users from taking more than their share and thus forcing mandatory curtailment for all. Krug revealed that some large users had ignored the OPM appeal for voluntary reduction of power consumption.

"With the help of the blackout, pooling arrangements, and last week's rains, plus this order freezing runaway power use, we can get by to Dec. 1 without the proposed 30 per cent curtailment," Krug said.

He intimated that the 30 per cent cut for all nondefense plants using more than 10,000 kilowatt hours a month might be ordered sooner if there is a breakdown in pooling arrangements. The freezing order does not apply to North Carolina or much of South Carolina. It affects principally Tennessee and Georgia. This is the third deferment of the 30 per cent reduction.

JUDGES CONSIDER PLAN FOR BENCH, BAR COMMITTEE

A plan to set up a bench and bar committee of attorneys and judges to consider mutual problems was taken under advisement yesterday by judges of the Circuit and Superior courts.

The plan, offered at a meeting of the jurists in the chambers of Judge John Prystalski in the County building, was proposed by Lloyd Heth, president of the Chicago Bar association. More than 35 judges attended the meeting.

After Heth and various judges spoke it was decided that final decision on the proposal will be made by the judges on Nov. 24. During the meeting there was no discussion of recent resignations of three judges from the bar association.

LIQUOR MEN GET WARNING: TRADE MUST OBEY LAWS

Hear Control Officials at Annual Dinner.

The Illinois liquor control commission is determined that state liquor laws shall be obeyed and will give every coöperation to local law enforcement agencies in trying to raise the liquor business to the highest standard and keep it there, William Devine, secretary, said last night.

Devine and Arthur S. Smith, commission chairman, spoke at a dinner meeting of the Spirits Club of Chicago, an organization of wine and spirits importers and distributors and their sales forces, in Hotel Sherman.

Asks Gambling Ban.

"You will find the liquor control commission a severe task master," said Devine. "We will be your best friend by being your severest critic, but the laws must be obeyed. Tavern owners must refuse to permit gambling and prostitution in their places of business, and above all they must not sell liquor to minors.

"Gov. Green has instructed the commission to make the liquor business reputable in Illinois, and we mean to do so."

Chairman Smith indorsed Devine's statements and observed that since the repeal of prohibition the commission has succeeded in eliminating many undesirable elements in the liquor business that were a hangover from the bootleg days.

Father Boyle Speaks.

Among other speakers were Ernest R. Byfield, managing director of Hotel Sherman; Abe Martoff, chairman of the Package Liquor Dealers; State Rep. Michael E. Hannigan [11th], who also is president of the Illinois State Tavern Owners' association, and the Rev. Edward Boyle of St. Andrew's parish.

Father Boyle told how, at the suggestion of Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, he had brought tavern owners in his parish together in an organization to coöperate in curbing drinking among young people in the parish.

CONFER 8 HOURS ON NEW AIRPORT TERMINAL PLAN

Air line and city officials met for eight hours yesterday in the office of Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, in an effort to settle differences in the proposed agreement to erect a new city airport terminal building.

Ald. John J. Duffy [9th], chairman of an aldermanic subcommittee assigned to the terminal problem, said questions now under discussion are the right of the city to operate as a concession transportation to and from the airport, whether or not an extra fee should be charged the air lines when more than one plane or "section" leaves on a scheduled flight, and whether the air lines shall be required to carry indemnity insurance on all persons on the airport grounds.

The group will meet again Tuesday.

Tells Troubles

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. ARLINE KITE.

Because her husband's shirts were slow in getting back from the laundry he threw a glass of water in her face, Mrs. Arline Kite, 22 years old, tearfully told a jury in the court of Judge John F. Bolton yesterday as hearings began on her suit for divorce against Allan Kite, 35, a salesman.

Mrs. Kite, who lives at 7300 South Shore drive, cried so steadily during her testimony that at one point Judge Bolton declared a recess. Between sobs she explained that she had been an actress in Wisconsin stock companies before her marriage to Kite in 1939 and that she and her husband have one child, Susan, 17 months old.

Kite, who filed a cross-complaint to his wife's bill, which charges cruelty, demanded the jury trial. The hearing will be continued today.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 13 (AP).—Final government testimony in the trial of 28 persons charged with seditious conspiracy is expected to be given to the jury tomorrow in Federal court here.

Hundreds of documents have been received in evidence during the three weeks of government testimony, with United States Attorney Victor E. Anderson today approaching the end of a long parade of witnesses. The government contends the 28 persons were members of the Socialist Workers [or Trotskyist] party and as such plotted to overthrow the government. The Trotskyists are opposed to the Stalinists.

FUR FLIES WHEN 55 WOMEN FIND COATS MISSING

Shopkeeper Vanishes, but Leaves Pawn Tickets.

Their difficulties center in a fur shop at 4711 Irving Park road; its owner, Mrs. Anna Ruth, 41 years old, who hasn't been seen since Saturday, and three pawn shops. Last night the owners met in the Albany Park police station.

"All hell hath no fury like a woman whose fur coat is missing," commented Desk Sergt. James O'Shea, when his callers had left. "I sure wish we could find Mrs. Ruth."

The First Complaint.

The first hint of trouble arose last Monday when W. L. Faulkenhagen, 3221 Rose avenue, Franklin Park, reported he was unable to get his wife's coat at the fur shop. Detectives Thomas Smith and Ted Rosdahl were assigned.

They went to the store and found Oscar Beasinger of Washington, Mich., sitting on the counter frowning. Several women were in the store. They were frowning too.

Beasinger said Mrs. Ruth was his wife's sister and that Monday he received a letter from her saying: "I'll be at the bottom of the lake when you find me. Go to the store. You will find a letter explaining everything."

The letter consisted of 36 pawn tickets, with a total value of $1,880.10. They were from American State Pawners, 37 South Wabash avenue; North Star Loan bank, 519 North Clark street, and the North Avenue Loan company, Inc., 641 West North avenue.

Estimated Value: $25,000

Yesterday and Wednesday police were stationed at the store to tell customers the bad news. So far 55 women have been found whose coats are missing. Police say the total value may exceed $25,000.

Mrs. Ruth lived at 5615 Virginia avenue. Her apartment has been stripped of her personal belongings.

Today the state's attorney's office will be asked what can be done about the coats.

Among the missing coats are those of Mrs. Ruth's sister, Mrs. Beasinger, and of Mrs. Ruth's nieces, Violet and Grace Rettke, 5058 Argyle street.

VEGETABLE COST UP, BUT YOU WILL FIND GOOD BUYS

Mary Meade Offers Tips for Food Shoppers.

BY MARY MEADE.

Vegetable prices are beginning to tighten up and show the effects of cold weather. Except for a few less perishable items, all vegetables come from warmer climates or out of hothouses these days.

You can expect to find higher prices this week-end on cabbage, carrots, celery, sweet potatoes, tomatoes, and spinach. Some other vegetables which haven't gone up this week but which were already high priced are green beans, peas, and cucumbers.

Cabbage Is Recommended.

This week's best vegetable buys center around cabbage, the topped root vegetables, squash, mushrooms, sweet potatoes, head lettuce, and certain of the greens. While prices on cabbage are up, this vegetable is still comparatively cheap. The same thing is true of sweet potatoes, which probably owe their higher prices to seasonal Thanksgiving demand.

Curley endive or chicory, whichever name you prefer, is a pretty good buy this week-end, but it's higher than head lettuce. Head lettuce has been marked down in quality because of its flat, bleached appearance, but the lettuce is excellent otherwise and not at all a bad buy for your money.

Other greens which are bargain specials are collards and mustard and turnip tops. These three greens each sell at about half the price of spinach.

Celery Prices Higher.

Most of the celery available is from Michigan, tho there is some of the green pascal celery here from California. The Michigan celery is cheaper, but all of it is higher this week-end.

Broccoli and brussels sprouts are moderately priced. Cauliflower, while a little cheaper this time, is still not in the low price class. Bunch carrots are rather high for carrots, but they're still cheaper than cauliflower, brussels sprouts, and broccoli.

Both shallots and green peppers are a little cheaper this week-end. Shallots are a double for green onions and are used in the same ways. Try serving them cooked with melted butter or Hollandaise sauce for a special treat.

Grapefruit Quality Better.

Apples and grapefruit vie for bargain honors among the fruits. Grapefruit is by far the best citrus buy available. The quality and flavor has improved considerably in recent weeks, and you'll find it suitable for breakfast as well as salad use nowadays.

Look for some of the less familiar apple varieties if you'd like a real bargain in this fruit. The popular standbys, Jonathans, McIntosh, greenings, delicious, and Roman beauty varieties all sell at substantially higher prices than other less common apples. Here are some of the cheaper varieties: For general purposes, King, Wagener, Baldwin, and Hubbardston; for cooking, russets; for baking, Stayman winesaps.

Prices on oranges are still holding up, with the California Valencias at the top of the price ladder. The Florida and Texas oranges are improving in quality, altho still not so rich in juice content and flavor as they will be in a few weeks. Navel oranges will be in at the end of the month.

Wide Variety of Grapes.

There are still 10 or 12 varieties of grapes from which to choose. Emperors, seedless, and malaga grapes are most plentiful of the lot. Reasonable winter pears are good eating, and a little zippier in flavor than summer varieties. Ask for Bosc or D'Anjou pears.

Persimmons are available and moderately priced. Avocadoes are a little higher this week-end but still are not expensive. There are a few pomegranates around, tho the peak of the season for this exotic fruit is past. Cranberries haven't dropped in price and probably won't between now and Thanksgiving.

There are few changes in the bargain lineup of meats this week-end. Beef still leads the lists, with particularly good buys in rib roasts and round and sirloin steaks. Sirloin is a good cut for broiling. Buy a large, thick one and carve it at the table—it's more economical than the smaller individual steaks.

Pork loin roast is an economical cut and will tempt you for a Sunday dinner choice. Picnics and hams sell at under 30 cents a pound in several stores. Veal and lamb get little attention from the butchers this week-end.

Turkeys already are being featured, and it doesn't hurt to put your order in early. Tom turkeys usually sell at a little lower price per pound than the hens, but they weigh more.

For more complete information on Thanksgiving food buying see the special holiday bargain column which will appear in next Tuesday morning's TRIBUNE.

Proper Cooking Prevents Splitting of Link Sausages

If link sausages are properly cooked, it isn't necessary to prick them to prevent splitting. Add a couple of tablespoons of water to the sausage in the frying pan, cover, and cook slowly until the water evaporates. The sausages will brown in a few minutes without losing their shape.

Adding a Colorful Touch to Old, Faithful Fruit Salad

LIGHTLY SPICED PRUNE COOKIES ARE ECONOMICAL

COOK GETS NEW LESSON—ON HOW TO IMPROVE EGGS

This Useful Food Is Good in a Variety of Ways.

[This is the sixth in a series of 20 or more cooking lessons which will appear on these pages each Friday. The principles of cooking all foods will be discussed.]

BY RUTH COOK STEWART.

Eggs are one of the cook's most useful foods. She uses them to flavor other foods; to thicken sauces and puddings; to bind croquettes and meat loaves together; to leaven egg cakes, and to give a fluffy texture to puddings, souffles, and omelets. In addition, she serves them cooked as a breakfast, lunch, or supper main dish.

The use of eggs with other foods in baked dishes and puddings will be discussed next week. Today the cooking of the egg itself will comprise the lesson.

Why Eggs Are "Solid."

The large quantity of protein in eggs gives them their characteristic "solid" texture when cooked. Protein also is responsible for most of the difficulties experienced in cooking eggs. When heated the protein of the egg changes from its clear semi-liquid state and becomes opaque and solidified or coagulated. If heated too long, or at too high a temperature, the protein becomes tough and rubbery.

A low temperature, therefore, is the important rule of egg cookery. It also is important to remove eggs from the heat as soon as they have cooked to the desired degree. The temperature used should be below boiling. Eggs are soft cooked or hard cooked, never soft boiled or hard boiled, in modern methods.

EGGS COOKED IN SHELL.
[Soft, Medium, and Hard.]

Place eggs in sauce pan—or a rack if possible. Cover with cold water and bring slowly to boil. For soft cooked eggs, remove immediately and serve. For medium cooked eggs, turn down heat until water is barely simmering and cook 5 to 8 minutes longer. Hard cooked eggs require about 12 minutes simmering.

This method is particularly good for breakfast time, when eggs cannot be removed from the refrigerator early enough to reach room temperature. Since eggs are heated slowly in the cold water, all danger of cold shells cracking is avoided. Some people use about the same method, lowering the eggs carefully into simmering water. This requires a slightly longer cooking time.

In a second method, the eggs are placed in boiling water and removed at once from the heat. This method is fine for soft cooked eggs, but is slow and hard to control when eggs are to be medium or hard cooked. It gives a very tender product. This is how it is done:

Measure 1 pint of water for first egg and add 1 cup for each additional egg. Bring to boiling in pan small enough to have eggs completely covered by water. When water boils, turn off heat, add eggs, and cover immediately. Let stand 8 minutes for soft cooked eggs. Medium eggs will require 10 minutes and hard cooked eggs from 30 to 35 minutes. Except for soft cooked eggs, it is usually necessary to use a double boiler with this method, keeping the water in the lower compartment barely simmering.

How to Avoid Green Rings.

Perhaps you have eaten hard cooked eggs that had an unattractive green ring around the yolk. Eggs contain iron and sulfur compounds which on long cooking break down to form the dark green color around the yolk. The ring is not likely to form when temperatures below boiling are used, but there always is some danger of its occurence when eggs are cooked long enough to become hard. No ring will form, however, if the egg is placed in cold water immediately after cooking. The egg need not be left in cold water for longer than a minute. It still will be hot enough to eat. The cold water dip also makes it easier to peel the shell.

Poached eggs are nothing more than eggs cooked in water without their shells. The same rules for cooking eggs in the shell apply to poaching. Poached eggs usually are served soft cooked and the following method has been found to be best:

POACHING EGGS.

Measure 1 quart of water for each 3 or 4 eggs and add 1 tablespoonful of salt. Bring to a boil. Break each egg into a cup or saucer and slip carefully into the water, one by one. Remove from heat immediately, cover pan, and let stand 3 or more minutes, depending on firmness desired. Sometimes a tablespoon of vinegar is added to the water and sometimes the water is stirred rapidly to form a cone-shaped hollow or vortex into which the egg is dropped. This gives an attractive shape to the egg, but only one can be poached at a time, and the water must be kept in motion.

The salt water aids in coagulation, helping keep the white together, but often gives a puckered, wrinkled, and less shiny appearance to the white. Some cooks frown on the use of salt for this reason. The vinegar is thought by some to give the egg a whiter appearance, others feel it toughens the egg. Eggs may be poached in any clear soup or broth or in milk, in which case the liquid is thickened and served with the eggs as a sauce.

Speical egg poaching utensils help hold the shape of the eggs. In some of them the egg is steamed.

FRIED EGGS.

Have butter, bacon drippings, or other fat moderately hot [but not browned or smoking] in skillet. Slip eggs from saucer or cup into the pan. Keep heat low, dipping fat over them. Turn if desired. After the whites have partially coagulated a teaspoon or two of water may be added and the skillet covered to finish cooking by steaming. The steaming gives a very tender egg and allows the thin film of white covering the yolk to become coagulated.

SCRAMBLED EGGS.

Beat eggs until yolks and whites are well mixed, add 1 tablespoon milk or light cream for each egg. Melt enough butter to prevent sticking in skillet or top of double boiler. Season egg mixture with salt and pepper and turn into pan. Cook over low heat [or boiling water], stirring the cooked portion from the sides and bottom of the pan. Cook until thickened but not dry and serve immediately.

Eggs should be kept in the refrigerator, but should be removed in advance whenever possible. Eggs fresh from the refrigerator are too cold to whip well, and crack when cooked in the shell. If separated eggs are required, the separating should be done while still cold to help prevent broken yolks.

The freshness of the egg can be judged by the way the yolk "stands up" when the egg is turned out into a dish. As the egg becomes less fresh, the yolk flattens and the white becomes watery. Yolks in eggs that have stood a long time will break easily. Good storage eggs often are superior to poor quality, improperly refrigerated fresh eggs.

OLD-TIME PUMPKIN CAKE GOES MODERN AND HERE'S RESULT

Pumpkin Cake.
[8 by 4 inch loaf.]

- ½ cup shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 cup canned pumpkin, sieved
- 2 cups cake sifted flour
- 3½ teaspoon baking powder
- 1½ teaspoons cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon cloves
- ¾ teaspoon nutmeg
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup evaporated milk
- ¼ cup chopped nutmeats
- ¼ cup chopped raisins

Cream shortening and sugar together until light and fluffy. Add egg and pumpkin, blending well. Sift flour, baking powder, salt, and spices together. Add to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Fold in nutmeats and raisins and bake in a moderately hot [375 degrees] oven for about 1 hour.

Heat Corned Beef Hash in Butter, Creamy Mustard

Canned corned beef hash is especially good when it's heated in equal amounts of melted butter and creamy prepared mustard. When the hash is thoroly heated fold it over like an omelet so the rich brown crust will be on top, and serve immediately.

"Justice Deferred"

By William MacLeod Raine

(Copyright: 1941: By William MacLeod Raine)

SYNOPSIS.

When a small boy, Jack Waugh saw his father ambushed and murdered in Santa Rita. Returning there after 20 years, determined to bring his father's murderers to justice, Jack rescues Mary Lane from a holdup and possible kidnaping. He has with him a letter written by Corbett Carey containing the message that sent his father to his death and he has good reason to believe that old Ab Clinton instigated his father's murder. He visits Luke Dixon, an old-timer and friend of his father. Luke warns Jack against trying to get even with old Ab.

INSTALMENT V.
COVERED TRAIL.

Dixon thumped a wrinkled fist on the table. "Don't you go to making mistakes about Ab Clinton, boy. By gravy, that wolf makes his own laws like he always did, even in this year Annie Dominick 1920, and he ain't anyways particular whether he hits you with an order from a court or a slug from a 45.

"Might as well get this straight from right now. There's no way you can touch the old scalawag for what he did 20 years ago, unless you aim to shoot it out with him, and I don't reckon you do. He's got his trail all covered up. Even if the old-timers told what they knew there wouldn't be enough to take before a jury.

"Ab has done enough meanness in his time to be hung as high as Haman 10 times over. In the old days he ran out lawful homesteaders and burned their shacks. Some of them—the obstinate ones that had hell in their necks—he sent to sleep in smoke permanent. He busted me and half a dozen other cowmen up in business because he wanted our range.

"When yore dad got in his way and was riding at auction the old devil had Pete murdered. Who got that grazing land? Why, Ab did, just like he had warned Pete he would.

"What Ab Clinton did to you and me and yore dad and lots of others is past history, and there's no sense in opening the book and trying to write it any different."

Jack smiled. "You put up a good argument, Begad." The nickname leaped out unexpectedly. In the old days everybody had called Dixon "Begad," on account of the frequent use of his favorite oath. "But don't get the idea I'm starting a vendetta against the Clinton clan. If old Ab had my father killed I would like to bring it home to him. Maybe no evidence can be dug up at this late date. If not, I'll have to drop the matter. But there are one or two loose ends. For instance: What became of the $11,000 my father had in his saddle bags when he was killed?"

"I've wondered about that."

"The murderers scattered before my father died. They did not get it, unless one of them came back later. I never thought of the money till next day. The saddle bags had disappeared by that time."

"Any thief could have taken them."

"Only a particular thief could have known, or guessed, that the money to pay for the land was in the saddle bags. One man who might have thought so was Ab Clinton. There was some shenanigan with the land office or with the mail. My father hadn't been notified when the money must be paid. A letter came from a private individual the day he was killed to warn him he was being tricked and that he must get the money in before noon next day or he would lose his option. That's why we were hurrying to town."

"Who wrote that warning letter?"

Jack did not answer that question immediately. He asked another one instead. "What is your opinion of Corbett Carey?"

Dixon stared at him, surprised. "Does Corbett Carey come into this?"

"I don't know. He wrote the letter to my father telling him he was being gypped.'

"You think the letter was a decoy to bring him hotfooting into the trap?"

"I don't know. It might have been the letter of a friend or it might have been bait to get dad into the saddle that night. That's why I asked you about Carey. He was supposed to be in the group standing out against Clinton, wasn't he?"

Luke nodded, without immediately answering.

"That's right," he said at last. "Corbett was one of us. Yore dad and he were good friends. After Pete's death I fell out with Carey because he sold out his ranch lock, stock, and barrel to Clinton and made his peace. He had the range adjoining mine and after the A C stock began to run on it I was sunk. They poured across the line and ate up my feed. But it turned out Carey did right. He put the money into an oil proposition and made money hand over fist. Today he is a rich man."

"Yep. I thought so at the time but afterward I wasn't so sure. I reckon he saw the handwriting on the wall and felt he had to look out for himself. Maybe it was all right. He was always an easy-going fellow, and after yore dad's death he hadn't the guts to stand up to Ab. That's how I figured it. Two-three times he has acted like he would be glad to shake hands, but I've been kinda stiff and I never did. Sally has cussed me out some for being so stubborn."

* *

Jack Waugh was no fanatic. He wanted very much to bring home the murder of his father to the guilty parties but he had no intention of wasting his life on a forlorn hope. After so many years there was not much chance of picking up more than old rumors and whispered tales, none of which would stand up in court. If he found that no evidence could be gathered he would close the book again as Luke Dixon had advised.

He parked his car on a side street near the hotel and as he did so his eye fell on the dent in the door made by the bullet of the would-be kidnaper. The sight of it gave him a little lift of elation. The battle of Waterloo boulevard had been a high moment in a humdrum day. A picture of Mary Lane jumped to his mind.

He could see again the amber lights in her eyes shining with excitement and could hear the low, throaty contralto as she asked him in to meet her parents. His education had been acquired largely in the oudoor school of experience where the answers are not to be found in books. Both before and after the war he had been too busy fighting for a financial foothold to have any time for social amenities. He had never before met a girl like Mary Lane. She stirred in him a reluctant interest.

On his way to the hotel he passed the building where the Santa Rita Express was housed. A man was standing on a little balcony outside the second floor announcing a ball game thru a megaphone. From inside somebody handed him a sheet of paper. He read what was written on it and passed the news on to those standing outside. "Ruth smashes out a long fly. It's a home run. Meusel is rounding third. Score, Yankees, 5; Athletics, 4."

Waugh wrote a letter to the foreman of his ranch with some directions about a shipment of beef and another to the oil company from which he drew royalties. The last two years had made him financially independent. The irony of it was that his mother had been allowed so short a time to enjoy the release from the need of pinching dimes. After mailing the letters he rode up in the elevator to the hotel roof garden and sat in the pleasant afternoon sunshine. He chatted with a tourist and read an article in a magazine about the younger generation, which reminded him that he had an appointment to call on one of them.

Jack carried on to the meeting a mind divided against itself. He had a capacity for detachment, for looking at certain aspects of life from the sidelines. What he would have liked to convince himself was that he wanted to study this young woman in her environment with an ironic appreciation of her value in the cosmos. But he was too honest to accept such an explanation. His interest in her was far more personal. Her beauty, he felt, was tempered like a fine steel blade. It was dominated by a personality that stirred in him an odd breathless excitement.

Perhaps he had been fooled by the glamor that moonlight casts on pretty young women and in the realistic daylight might escape the illusion.

Yet the moment he saw her again, coming down the long room to meet him, gold glints in her reddish hair, he felt that his first impression had been a true one. There was something notable in the way she walked, as the life, the mere living, sang in her veins. When he looked into her eyes, the color of honey, so amazingly alive, he felt a faint disturbance of the blood.

Her handshake was firm and friendly. "I'm glad you came. I more than half expected a telephone call to tell me that you could not come owing to a subsequent engagement."

New Perfume Will Give Lift to Low Spirits

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

The vivid cerise that dramatizes its packaging is the perfect color for a glamorous new family of perfumed preparations. The key perfume is a spirited kind of scent, with just a suggestion of the spiciness of carnation, plus other exicting notes you can't identify. It's one of those fragrances that reminds you that life can be pretty darned gay after all—and should be! The scent does for your mood what the color does for your esthetic sense.

The family consists of cologne, toilet water, perfume, dusting powder, sachet, soap, a bubble powder, and a sachet mit. This last is one of the most attractive little bath glamorizers we've seen in a long time. You simply slip your hand into the mit and pat like mad. You're showered with fine, fragrant powder.

The cologne is especially nice, we thought. It's cooling and stimulating and the perfume seems to adapt its unusual character especially well to this invaluable medium. After a rubdown with this you feel gay as a lark, and you're beautifully perfumed, neither too lightly nor too heavily. If you prefer to rub down with a lotion more fragrant, try the toilet water—you'll love it.

None of these items is extremely expensive and there are sets of the individual items that will make wonderful gifts. The scent is youthful and beautiful, the things themselves of top quality. You're sure to find them spirit lifters.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY.

Office in Action.

An office force, eager to keep in touch with three draftees whose high spirits and gayety had been a source of amusement to their associates, hit upon an original scheme. They engaged, for a small sum, an artist from the advertising department to do some picture postcards with line drawings depicting life at Winkle, Wattle & Wortle—or life in the business office which the boys had so recently left. These postcards, with appropriate nonsense from the staff, have spared three of Uncle Sam's recruits, at least, from feeling that home . . . and a job . . . are things of the long ago.

Business Acumen.

The best description of astuteness, or business acumen, if you want a fancy word for it, was given recently by Prof. John Dickenson of the University of Pennsylvania law faculty. He described it as keeping your "ears and feet on the ground."

Career Begun at 50!

When Dr. Anton J. Carlson spoke of the "biological cruelty of enforced retirement" I was reminded of a scene in a Chicago wholesale firm as glimpsed thru a door last week: Rows and rows of white-haired women who have taken over the jobs from which many young women have transferred to defense jobs.

Dr. Carlson would have been delighted to know the small, alert woman, almost 80, who retired from active work in the sales department of a loop store only a few weeks ago. [Her sales exceeded the total sales of the other employés in the department.]

"What are you going to do now?" I asked.

"First," she said, "I shall rock for two weeks in an old-fashioned rocking chair. And then," her eyes twinkling, "I'm going to write the story of my life: 'Career Girl from 50 to 80.'"

She had never done a day's work till her 50th birthday.

Gentlemen Cooks.

THOUGHTS WHILE LUNCHING: The great cooks of history were men. "Cookery is become an art, a noble science; cooks are gentlemen," wrote Robert Bacon. . . . At any rate, to the working girl, a man who can cook is decidedly in the upper marriage brackets. Ninety per cent of the homemakers do their own work. And what, asks the girl in business, are you going to do if, in a pinch, a man can't open a can of salmon and whip up a tasty little meal? K. P. service in the army, says the business girl, won't hurt a man's matrimonial chances.

From an elderly man living in a poor district south and west of the loop:

"Dear Miss Brown: I am writing you in hope that you will help me to help myself. I am a man over 60 years of age, but still feel I am capable of earning a living, if given a chance.

"I feel sure that I can find employment if I could improve my appearance—in other words, I need clothing.

"For over a year I have been ill, as a result of plural pneumonia and empyema, and I offer that as an excuse for my present shabby appearance. If you can locate a suit size 35, I will be most appreciative. J. T."

This name and address will be supplied to any reader interested in helping Mr. T.

Mr. B. who lives on the south side of the city, is 71 years old, and receiving a small pension, which is not large enough to permit the purchase of clothing. He is much in need of shirts size 15, sox size 10½, and a suit size 34 or 35. Can some reader help him?

'Dutch Treat' Often Ruinous to Romance

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Pearl's mother is raising her girl to be a bridesmaid but never a bride, we fear. That's what happens to the girl who is trained to open the doors herself, take her own chair in a restaurant without benefit of courtesy, and to pay for her half of the check.

It's all very high minded, and according to the best feminist legend, to be independent of men, but it isn't a way to gather in bracelets and rings, especially solitaires. You buy your own arm and finger baubles if you set out telling off the young man that you pay your own way, or else.

It's an odd confession we have from Pearl, who tells that she has a boy friend of long standing. But, because Pearl is self supporting, her mother thinks she should "go Dutch" when out with the boy. He doesn't like it. He argues and fights for the check. So that, according to Pearl, the evenings are spent in constant bickering.

"How can I make him understand that he doesn't owe me anything, and that I should pay my half?" the girl asks.

Don't you think, Pearl, you're putting a low rating on your charming company, to say nothing of the pretty frocks you buy, the hairdos and manicures, to appear glamorous in your escort's eyes? True, the young man may not owe you a thing. He wouldn't want to hear from you or any one else he's in your debt. But, he wants to pay. It gives him pride that he can pay. And when you insinuate, with your open purse, that he isn't "up to" the check, you nick his ego, a bad thing for any girl to do to a man.

DORIS BLAKE'S LETTER BOX

Have you a perplexing problem on which you need friendly counsel? Write to Doris Blake in care of the Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill. If you wish a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

His Next Move.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been going with a boy for over two years. He hasn't been around for almost four weeks now. I go out with other boys, but care for him. What to do?

"BEWITCHED."

There's nothing you can do. If he is trying to break off, let him do it. Don't get in touch with him. If he cares for you, going out with others will bring him back.

Why Waste Time?

"Dear Miss Blake: I'm crazy about a girl. I do everything for her, but she doesn't seem to appreciate it. I don't think she likes me. I can't seem to forget her. Should I try to find another girl to take her place?

FLIGHT-COMMANDER."

Why waste your time on a girl who so obviously doesn't wish your attentions, when there are lots of girls who'd be appreciative?

Send Letters Weekly.

"Dear Miss Blake: I became acquainted with a young man of whom I grew quite fond. He said he would write, and he has several times. How long should I wait before answering his letters, and how long should he wait, too? QUERULOUS."

There's no set time limit rule. But an exchange of letters once or twice weekly seems often enough to keep the interest alive.

Depends Upon Girl.

"Dear Miss Blake: I find that I have fallen in love with my best friend's girl friend. What shall I do? I love them both very dearly.

"ANXIOUS D. G."

Can't you corral a girl of your own? Do try, son, unless the girl is in love with you. Then it's fair game to try to win the lady.

Numerology By Evelyn Holmes

Nov. 14, 1941.

Universal Day—Keep to the facts. Be accurate in your work.

The Cycle of Numbers—After four comes five, and this odd number brings in the extra something which is added to your pattern that is out of the ordinary. This is the unpredictable element that comes into the solid, substantial square that changes it. Sometimes this change upsets your plans, but it does get you out of the rut of that limited pattern you have set. It often throws a monkey wrench into your nicely laid plans, but it keeps you alert and lets you see new ways of doing things, gives new ideas, and brings in a new element which might come thru people or places or change in job or home, or even a change of heart. It can be exciting or disturbing, depending upon how you look at it.

School Must Teach a Child How to Think

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"The way we studied history when I went to school," said a woman in her middle years, "was by memorizing pages from our textbook. It was an old-fashioned school in its methods even then, but that's the way we learned history, dates, battles, generals, victories and surrenders. Thoroness in everything was the principal's motto. Some of the results were good. He made excellent, legible writers of us, and good mathematicians, and I remember to this day poetry which I never would have learned otherwise. In fact, twice I've been able to answer poetry questions the whizzes couldn't answer. But still I don't approve, because as I look back there was nothing about it all that made me think."

Quantity of matter read, quality of matter written, extent of ground covered in various subjects, these are still too much the requirement set forth and the gauge of a pupil's achievement. There is still too much devotion to the printed page and the written report, still too little to the encouragement of independent thinking and lively oral discussion. There still is too little education of the body and those marvelous instruments, the human hands. There still is too much of making education a process apart from everyday living. There still is too little of tying up education with the practical problems of raising a family and earning a living that lie ahead for every boy and girl.

There are individual teachers; there are isolated schools; there are public school systems here and there and growing fast; and there are some colleges that have a new and vital approach to education. They have an approach which will stir and stimulate young people to think, make them eager to know, and which will, a most important thing, embrace the needs of those boys and girls who are not "academically minded."

Should a two year old child have complete freedom of the house? Are tantrums a sign of low physical tone? The answers to these and many other questions are given in the new book, "You and Your Young Child," by Gladys Huntington Bevans, Tribune child training editor. On sale at Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn street, and at Tribune Tower, 435 N. Michigan avenue. Price, 15 cents. Postpaid, 18 cents.

Audience Falls Under Thrall of Elman's Magic

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Mischa Elman, soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra under Frederick Stock's direction, at Orchestra Hall last night gave a performance of the Brahms Violin Concerto which was calculated first to antagonize a listener, then to fill him with doubt, finally to compel his surrender to its sheer sensuous glory.

He began it in the rhapsodic, extremely romantic manner which many devotees of this work regard as incongruous with the character of the music. But the warmth and glow of the performance, and its own inner consistency, quickly aroused questionings as to whether Elman had not, after all, hit on a perfectly legitimate conception of the concerto.

By the end of the first movement, a tone so superlatively lovely that it acted as an actual drug on the senses seemed to have made thralls of the audience. One of the longest first movement ovations in several seasons broke in. Elman went on to a limpid, apparently effortless performance of the second movement and quite an exhilarating and strongly rhythmic one of the third.

The concert began with a first Chicago performance of an Overture to an Italian Comedy by Arthur Benjamin, an Australian now living in Canada. It is an engaging little tidbit whose humor, melody, and immediate intelligibility make up for any lack of wearing ability it may prove to have. Certainly it was fun to encounter for once an unfamiliar piece which required no wrinkling of brows to comprehend and enjoy.

Between the overture and the concerto stood Schubert's huge Symphony in C Major. Its ingratiating melodies were duly set before us, sometimes with an intoxicating purity of tone and delicacy of nuance, always with a self-effacing devotion to the music.

If the performance was not the infinitely polished, laboriously prepared-for affair which would seem to be the best justification for including this piece on a subscription program, one must remember that the present week is one of the most crowded in the orchestra's recent history. A good guess is that something had to be skimped in rehearsal and that the Schubert was elected.

Complaint.

Alvin Hamburg, talking to a draftee in uniform, asked him how he liked army life.

"Everything's O. K.," he answered. "That is, everything except this darn overcoat. It's too heavy."

"It doesn't look heavy."

"Well it is. Why, do you realize I'm only 5 feet 9?"

"What has your overcoat got to do with that?"

"Plenty. I was over 6 feet tall before I put it on!"

POEMETTES OF THE HOUR.

I went to the opera, they perfumed the air,
I was sorry the Marx Brothers were not there.

We rushed to the corner, the parade to greet,
But walked away saddened by marching feet.

Ballad for Americans.

Earl Robinson's and John La Touche's Ballad for Americans might well be the theme song for Hull House, as Charlotte Carr, director, pointed out when the Hull House chorus presented the ode after the dinner for Hull House Associates the other evening.

Am I an American? I'm just an Irish, Negro, Jewish, Italian, French and English, Spanish, Russian, Chinese, Polish, Scotch, Hungarian, Litvak, Swedish, Finnish, Canadian, Greek and Turk, and Check and double check American, sang the chorus.

And that ain't all. I was baptized Baptist, Methodist, Congregationalist, Lutheran, Atheist, Roman Catholic, Orthodox Jewish, Presbyterian, Seventh Day Adventist, Mormon, Quaker, Christian Scientist. . . .

Members of the chorus who sang from the stage in Bowen hall comprised a good many of the nationalities, races, and faiths enumerated and Joel Mathis, the young baritone who sang the solo part, was born of a Czech father and a French mother.

Today 86 per cent of the people who use Hull House are native born, and 4 per cent are naturalized, a quite different proportion than it was when Jane Addams founded Hull House. But the work of building Americans is the same, Miss Carr points out.

"Whatever our need to build tanks and bombers there is no diminution of our need to build Americans," said Miss Carr. "While we strengthen our armed forces and speed production of munitions, there still must be non-industrial foes equipped to resist, not a foreign aggressor, but the enemies of ordered society that spring from our preoccupation with the instruments of war. A settlement house is peculiarly fitted to keep intact the instruments of peace."

School Spirit.

A Notre Dame junior at home in Milwaukee for the week-end attended a Marquette game with his girl. He carried a portable radio with him so he might listen to the Notre Dame-Army game while he watched the Hill-toppers. Just after he tuned in an usher asked him to tune it off. The youth excused himself to his girl, took his radio and departed. Under the stands he listened to the Notre Dame game. When it was over he hurried back to his girl and the final quarter of the Marquette game.

Three Affected Guys.

[According to the Linotyper.]

"Byron was a poseur. . . . And so were Dante, Gabriel, Rosetti, and Whistler and the pre-Raphaelite school of art and literature."

Dinner-Dance to Be Given Tomorrow by Canadian Club

The Canadian Club of Chicago will hold a dinner-dance tomorrow night in the Grand ballroom of the Edgewater Beach hotel. A cocktail hour will precede the dinner at 8:30 o'clock. Max B. Palmer, Canadian trade commissioner for Chicago, who is honorary president of the club, will be a guest.

Two royal Canadian air force officers, Group Captain H. P. Crabb, didector of air force manning at headquarters in Ottawa, and Flight Lieutenant Paul Desologe, invalided at home after flying a Hurricane in the battle of Britain in the summer of 1940, will tell about their experiences. There will be music for dancing and bridge.

All friends of Canada are invited, said Walter Macfarlane, president. Louis H. McLeod is chairman of arrangements.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

ACTING: Excellent on the parts of Brod Crawford, Frances Farmer, Richard Dix—who, as Wild Bill Hickok, appears only long enough to put up a noble front and get shot in the back—Samuel S. Hinds, Hugh Herbert, and other dependable trusties. The stars, Anne Rutherford and Robert Stack, seem mere babes in arms. You yearn to pack Anne back home into a Hardy picture and, pushing the curls from Robert's brow, adjure him to leave those bad bozoes alone and play in his own back yard.

DIRECTION: Fair.

DIALOG: Strained.

STORY: Bad lands and bad mans about covers it.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: None for me.

Huge, Artistic and Colorful Is New Jewelry

BY REA SEEGER.

More skill, imagination and artistic effort than ever before mark the newest dress parade jewelry collections. One breath taking assortment of pins, rings, clips, sprays for the lapel and earrings is so unusual in color and combine and contrast that it will lure the last penny from a miser. For instance, the gold and silver carved Chinese loot, from the massive slave bracelets to the huge cuffs, elaborately detailed with figures and other designs. These are wide and handsomely barbaric. One such bracelet will redeem the simplest dress from dullness. Earrings to match are equally huge and effective.

Rhinestone and semiprecious stone combinations not only glitter but add glamor with color. There are two rhinestone and jet finds in the shape of porcupines that will start a conversation at any time. There is a most graceful and lovely plume pin about six to eight inches high that is unusual because the rubylike sets are large and far apart to simulate the eye spots of a peacock feather. Massive pins of simulated rubies and emeralds, set solidly, come in unusual shapes and sizes. And the topaz jewelry this season reaches the tiptop peak of decorative perfection, whether massed alone or combined with rhinestones or set in gold with green stones for stunning contrast.

Flower pins are better than ever, no doubt because they are designed and fashioned into such realistic arrangements. Small five petaled flowers have centers of pale green, and the outer edge of each petal rimmed in tiny rhinestones. All bracelets are wider than last year's showing, earrings are bigger and visible for blocks, yet not one piece is over exaggerated, not a single creation too eye-blinding.

FASHIONS by ANGELA

If you need a winter lift put a new hat on top of your curls. There's nothing like it for putting wings to your spirits, and a lilt in your walk. A gay new bonnet will make new clothes look better than that, and old clothes feel better.

Here is a store that has wrapped or draped turbans, felts, feather creations, big beavers, flowered bits for evening in a range of prices to please any one. If you only have a few dollars to spare, you can still get a lift.

First at the top of the page is a black felt turban. It can be worn tilted down over the eyebrow or in back of the pompadour equally well. The fatima drapery of sheer black jersey can be worn as a scarf on the days when you don't feel oriental. Less than $6.

Upper right is a shaggy beaver of a bright aquamarine blue to bring out the stars in your eyes and to brighten up your dark winter coat. The jutting front brim flatters the face and the flat knot of wide black grosgrain in the back makes it a comfortable number to wear with your coat when you are up to your ears in fur.

Below is a turban draped from a knitted wool material of many colors —gold and purple and wine. You can't improve on a turban for something that will stick on the head no matter what the wind velocity. Comes in other color combinations, too.

Bishop Hall to Deliver Hale Memorial Sermon

The Rt. Rev. Ronald Owen Hall, Episcopal bishop of Hongkong, China, will deliver the Hale memorial sermon tonight at 8 o'clock in the chapel of Seabury-Western Theological seminary, Evanston. Bishop Hall's diocese in southern China reaches from Hongkong to Burma and is now partly in Japanese hands. He is widely known for his work in helping to get medical relief supplies into China. The Rt. Rev. F. A. McElwain, dean of the seminary, will conduct the service.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 13.—Criticism of the month was penned by Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. in Rob Wagner's script. "Saw Bette Davis in 'The Little Foxes,'" writes Cornelius, "which I enjoyed immensely. As realistic as my own early family life."

Bette Davis in "The Little Foxes."

Elliot Paul, scripting at Metro, has found time to finish a book, "The Last Time I Saw Paris," involving the lives of all the people on a block of the former French capital. it will be a companion piece to "The Life and Death of a Spanish Town."

Nowhere else in the United States do goofy kids do such hair raising things with badly maintained automobiles as they do in southern California. And, as I have maintained before, the cruelest and most heedless of all drivers is a pretty southern California girl between the ages of 18 and 20. . . . Well, a friend of mine passed a dandy wreck the other day—a car on its back beside the road, with wheels spinning. He stopped, ran back to see whether anybody was hurt, found a boy and girl standing beside the machine. "What happened?" he asked. "Nothing happened," said the girl. "We just tripped."

Lippy Leo Durocher is living with George Raft and more than gradually is talking half of Hollywood to death. He copies Raft in all details of dress. Using George's haberdasher and tailor, he wears the same shirts, same suits, even affects Raft's black knitted neckties.

Shooting of Ernst Lubitch's "To Be or Not to Be" started a couple of days before Carole Lombard was due for her first appearance before the camera—but Carole turned up early the first day and sat around. "I'd have butterflies all over me if I stayed home," she explained. "I'm much more calm here, so why don't I stay around as long as I'm being paid for it?" . . . It's Carole's first go at a Lubitsch picture, altho she and the cigar smoking little comedy master have been trying to make a film together for 10 years.

The Trocadero, once Hollywood's most glittering night spot but dark for a couple of years, will be reopened late this month by Felix Young with a colored revue featuring the Hall Johnson choir and Katherine Dunham's dance group. . . . Fine motto adopted by the Orson Welles office: "Anything worth doing is worth doing at all." . . . Looks now as tho Paulette Goddard would be the gal in Paramount's color spectacle, "Forest Rangers." A camera crew is already poised in the northwest, aiming to film any forest fire that might turn up. . . . How is a forest fire going to compete with Goddard?

E. R. Lewis Named Midwest Chairman of Ambulance Corps

Edward R. Lewis, counsel for the International Harvester company, was named temporary chairman of the midwest chapter of the British American Ambulance Corps, Inc., at a committee meeting yesterday in the Palmer House.

The organization has given more than 600 ambulances and found homes for thousands of refugee children, as well as equipping civilian and field hospitals and providing mobile canteens in the last two years. Lewis announced there will be no appeal for funds while the current Red Cross drive is under way, and said all units in 150 cities have been asked to enroll in the Red Cross "100 per cent."

Vice chairmen named to work with Lewis include Stanley P. Farwell, Tappan Gregory, Dr. Otto F. Ball, Homer P. Buckley, Stephen E. Hurley, William H. King Jr., and Edward W. Hughes.

Miss Mildred H. McAfee, president of Wellesley, has come from Massachusetts to be guest speaker.

The program starts at 10 o'clock with a panel discussion on "Educational Trends," given by Francis E. Bowditch, Miss Rosalie Venable, Joseph Haroutunian, and Clark G. Kuebler. Man's Crocheted Vest

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Lucky the man who is the recipient of a crocheted vest done in two colors! He may wear it for spectator or active sports, or even under a shirt as a chest protector against cold weather. Worked for the latter purpose, the sweater is ideal in a lightweight white chiffon zephyr yarn. A tan and brown vicuna or four ply sports wool may be used for sports.

For instructions in crocheting the man's vest, No. X-70, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Nervous Hands Are Ruinous to Dress Charm

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We were interested in the words of a designer in Hollywood, who blames restless, nervous, fidgety hands for some of the fashion casualties.

"I believe," said Gwen Wakeling, "that a woman's hands can be the worst offenders or the supreme compliment to her clothes. One of the reasons it is so much fun doing clothes for motion picture actresses is that each of these girls, from 'bit' player thru to ranking star, HAS to learn the controled and effective use of her hands before she can act before a camera.

Every time a woman pokes at her hair, fiddles with her earring, twists and rolls her hankie or gloves, picks imaginary lint from her skirt, twirls her rings, yanks up her shoulder straps, runs her hands down her hips in that common "smoothing out" gesture, she is gesticulating needlessly, and is doing things to her clothes, distracting attention from them. No outfit can stand such an attack, we're told, no matter how expensive or how beautifully designed. Fidgety, restless hands are sure-fire anathema to a wardrobe.

This doesn't mean that all gestures should be abolished; that hands should be phlegmatically still. But to compliment clothes, hands must be gracefully and adroitly used.

LAST FRIDAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 23: Rubber bridge; both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	?

You are South, and hold:
♠A 10 6 4 ♥3 ♦Q 7 4 3 ♣9 6 5 2

What call do you make?

Answer: Pass. Your original one spade response represented the limit of your hand and now, with a very bad fit in partner's suit, you can go no further. North's three heart bid was merely an urge, not a force. [Twenty points demerit for 3 no trump; 40 points demerit for any other call.]

Question 24: Rubber bridge; both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
4 spades	Pass	?

You are South, and hold:
♠A 10 9 6 5 2 ♥Q 6 ♦7 ♣Q 6 4 2

What call do you make?

Answer: Five spades. It is to be hoped that you did not read North's four spade bid as "game closing." [This situation must not be confused with an opening bid of one spade by South and a jump to four spades by North.] You have a six card suit headed by the ace; you have a fitting card in partner's suit, a singleton diamond, and some strength in clubs. This holding definitely calls for a slam try on your part. [Twenty-five points demerit for a pass; no demerit for four no trump if used under Blackwood convention; 15 points demerit for 5 clubs or 6 spades; 40 points demerit for any other call.]

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 32: Rubber bridge; both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 diamond	Pass

You are South, and hold:

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 heart	Double	Pass	1 spade
2 hearts	3 diamonds	Pass	3 spades
Pass	4 spades [final bid]

West opened the heart king and East correctly started an echo with the eight spot. West then cashed the heart queen, and followed thus up with the heart ace. East discarded a club and declarer ruffed. Now dummy was entered with a diamond and, on a trump return, East's queen was neatly smothered. West won with the ace, but that was the end of the defense.

West had overlooked a splendid opportunity to force his partner into a successful defense. West's third lead should not have been the ace, but a low heart. This would clearly ask East to ruff with the highest available trump, and the queen would have been amply high to insure two trump tricks for West.

Some readers may feel that East should have ruffed the third heart, unasked. This, however, is unfair, and, in any event, is beside the point. From East's point of view, South might have held three hearts, and the spade queen could be put to better purpose overruffing dummy and forcing a high trump from declarer on a fourth round of hearts. It was up to West to steer the defenders' ship.

Tomorrow's Hand.

HAWKS BEAT AMERICANS, 2-1; LEAD LEAGUE

WASHINGTON RELIES ON BAUGH TO WHIP BEARS

SAMMY'S PASSES TO BE REDSKINS' MAJOR WEAPON

Cards Are Threat at Green Bay.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Sammy Baugh has a job to do Sunday and it may be just too bad for the Bears that the slinging man's job concerns them. The fate of the Washington Redskins in the National Football league race of 1941 will depend upon the pitching arm of the taciturn star when the two teams meet in Wrigley field in their long advertised grudge battle Sunday.

A crippled back field, with three of the easterners' runners out of action, puts the burden up to Sammy. But he's used to such assignments. He first demonstrated his ability as a clutch player in the College All-Star game of 1937 when he threw a touchdown pass to beat the Green Bay Packers, 7 to 0. Later that year the Bears and Redskins, division champions, met for the league title. The lank Texan pitched 34 passes and completed half of them. Three were for touchdowns and the Redskins won, 28 to 21.

Total: 73 Points—73.

This was the most points a Redskin team ever scored against the Bears. In fact, in the 10 games between the two elevens, Washington has scored just 73 points, exactly the total the Bears piled up against the Redskins in last year's playoff game for the title.

Injuries to Dick Todd, the team's fastest runner and a whirling dervish in a broken field; Wilbur Moore, and Bob Huffman, mean that Baugh probably will spend little time on the bench.

Cecil Isbell of the Packers and Parker Hall of the Cleveland Rams have proved in previous games this season that the forward pass is an effective weapon against the Bears. There are still plenty of important fellows in the league who will tell you that Baugh rates as its most gifted passer. He set a new league record for pass efficiency last season, 62.7 per cent, which means more than 6 out of every 10 passes were completed.

Climbs to Second Place.

After a slow start this season, the former Texas Christian university player has climbed to second place in passing. He has clicked 45 times on 84 points for 541 yards, four of his throws resulting directly in touchdowns. Sid Luckman of the Bears, who will be doing some ball throwing himself, has completed 38 out of 66 tosses for 744 yards. The Bears throw more long passes than the Redskins. Baugh mixes up his throws, tossing short and long ones.

The chips are down in this game for the Bears, too. It is fairly certain that the loser will be out of the running for the championship. Each team is in second place in its division. The Bears, with six victories and one defeat, trail the Packers, who have won seven and lost one. The Redskins, with five victories and two defeats, are half a game back of the Giants, who have won six and lost two.

Redskins Arrive Tomorrow.

The Redskins will arrive in Chicago tomorrow morning and work out at 11 o'clock in Wrigley field after the Bears have gone thru their chores. The champions had a lengthy drill yesterday, combining offensive and defensive tactics. The word from the clubhouse was that the Bears will be fit to the last man.

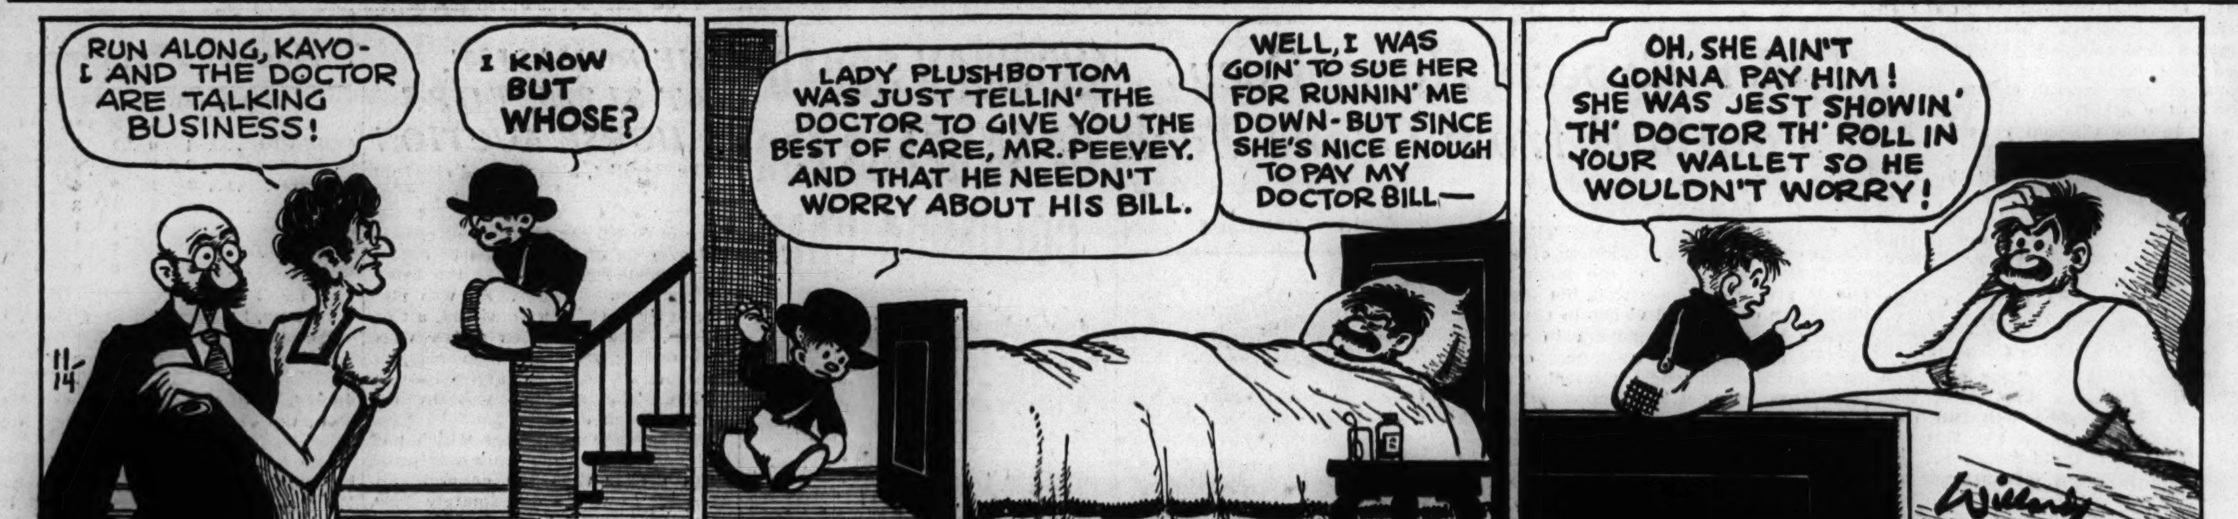
Anticipating the pleasure of continuing their giant killing rôle, the Cardinals spent a busy day, too, in Comiskey park. The south siders scrambled the eastern title race first by defeating the Dodgers, then by upsetting the Giants two weeks ago. On Sunday they get the chance to cause confusion in their own sector when they meet the Packers in Green Bay.

Daddio May Be Ready.

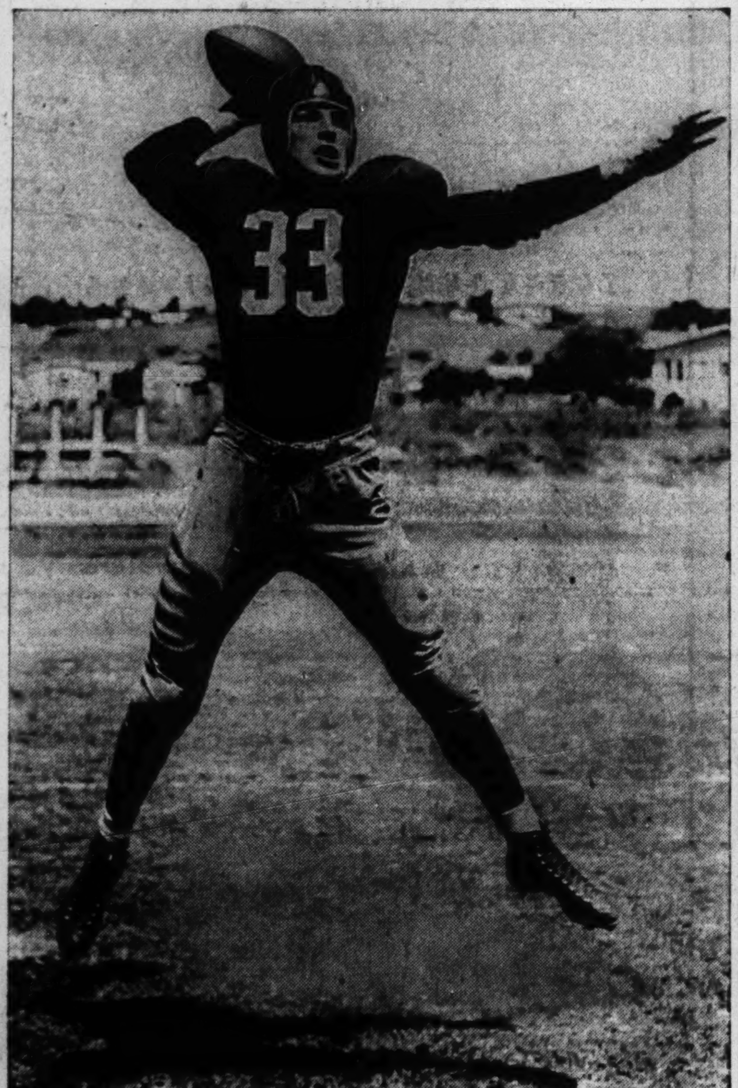
Bob Morrow, full back, who has a broken hand, and Ray Mallouf, half back, whose thumb is fractured, definitely are out of the game. Coach Jim Conzelman hopes, tho, that Bill Daddio will be ready. Daddio suffered a leg bruise early in the New York game, but later returned to win the game with his kicks. He booted a point after touchdown to tie the score, then sent over a field goal to break the deadlock.

Conzelman reported that Johnny Clement, who now is called "Champ" by his teammates, has been given full instructions about when the team leaves for Green Bay tomorrow, and has promised not to make the trip in his new automobile. The eccentric southerner even has cut down on his mud pie production during practice, but the coach doesn't know whether this is a good sign or not. He's willing to take Johnny just as he is, as long as he can come close to duplicating his 13 pass completions of the New York game.

MOON MULLINS—A CAREFUL DOCTOR



The Slinger in Action



Slingin' Sammy Baugh, the Washington Redskins' pitching star, whose passes once beat the Chicago Bears in a National Football league championship game, will be the Redskins' chief offensive reliance when the teams meet in Wrigley field Sunday. Injury has crippled Washington's running attack. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Iowa Recalls '39 and Dreams of Victory Over Minnesota

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 13.—Because Nile Kinnick and the Iowa iron men hung a haymaker on Minnesota's Gophers here two years ago, there is a serious undercurrent of opinion today that football history will repeat itself Saturday. Before this surge of optimism gets beyond control, it should be pointed out that in 1939 Minnesota was beaten by three other teams and tied once and that, with the exception of Illinois and Michigan, common denominators in their schedules, the Gophers and Iowa have been playing in different divisions of the Western conference.

Minnesota today leads the Big Nine by virtue of victories over Michigan and Northwestern in addition to the massacre of the Illini. Iowa is in seventh place and has met all second division teams except Michigan. Victories over Indiana and Illinois have earned the Hawkeyes their ranking.

Gophers Are More Powerful.

More important, however, for purposes of comparing Minnesota and Iowa are the Big Nine records, which now show that the Gophers are twice as effective as the Hawkeyes on attack.

Probably because Iowa has been engaged with the second division, the Hawkeyes rank third in defense as measured by yards gained. They are ninth in the conference standings in the matter of attack with an average 147 yards per game for five games. Saturday, Iowa meets the team that leads in defense with an average of 143 yards per game. Minnesota's attacking power also leads the Big Nine.

The Captain Is Ready.

Unfortunately for Iowa's hopes, Minnesota is reported ready to unleash its captain, Bruce Smith. The Gopher leader, injured in the game with Michigan, played briefly against Northwestern the following Saturday. Obviously he could have played last week against Nebraska, so Iowa must expect to see him this week, altho it has been announced that slender Bud Higgins will lead off at left half back.

The power of the Minnesota attack centers on Bill Daley, instead of Smith or Higgins, and Daley now is leading the Big Nine in average gain per game by rushing. The Iowa assault, judged by the Illinois game, depends entirely on the proficiency of Tom Farmer's passes.

The Line Is Stronger.

Approaching this game from another viewpoint, one remembers that the Gopher line admittedly is superior to the 1940 line, that Iowa does not have a newcomer in its starting lineup, and that Minnesota whipped Iowa, 34 to 6, last year. Coach Eddie Anderson's concern is indicated by maneuvers to strengthen the midsection of the Iowa line against the pounding it will receive from Daley and Bob Sweiger.

After spending the major portion of three practice sessions preparing a defense for Minnesota's ground attack, the Hawkeyes worked diligently this afternoon on their own array of plays. Farmer's passes were on their target and since Bill Green, one of the shiftiest runners in the conference, has resumed practice, the Hawkeye attack rapidly is shaping up.

Iowa City is preparing for a gala Dad's day, which also is the conclusion of the local schedule. A crowd of 42,000 is predicted. The Gophers will not arrive until noon Saturday after spending tomorrow night in Des Moines.

GOPHER STARS ARE READY.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 13 [Special].—Capt. Bruce Smith and Herman Frickey, Gopher half backs injured in the Michigan game, will be used as spot runners against Iowa as Minnesota goes after its 16th straight victory in Iowa City Saturday. Coach Bernie Bierman made that plain today when he declared that 146 pound Bud Higgins will be at starting left half back.

WALDORF RISKS A GUESS ON N. U. AND NOTRE DAME

He'll Bet It Won't Be a Scoreless Tie.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Lynn Waldorf, coach of Northwestern's Wildcats, is willing to give his personal guarantee that his protéges and Notre Dame's Irish will NOT play to a scoreless tie in their football match before a capacity crowd in Dyche stadium tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock [and don't be late].

Of course, Waldorf isn't in a position to refund any dough in case the contest should end blank to blank, but yesterday he said that, much as he abhors gambling, he would be tempted to wager that with any kind of a break in the weather, it will be a high scoring afternoon of excellent entertainment.

The Wildcats' main football teacher seemed in especially fine fettle as we winged him just before he took off to deliver a few choice words and phrases to the Rotarians or somebody like that. He sang no blues and he boasted no boasts. He seemed calm but eager. He acted like a sports lover with a ticket on the 50 yard line, half way up in the stands, charged with no greater responsibility than keeping his feet warm.

Pity—from South Bend.

Here it was, with a big game only two days away and the head coach actually was chuckling. We wondered why, until he began pulling clippings out of his pocket. He had more clippings than Cardini has cards, most of them setting forth pseudo self pity emanating from South Bend and environs.

"I have noted in many of these clippings," said Coach Waldorf, laughing merrily, "that Notre Dame has a very green team, practically fellows who came out for the squad some time last week. Some of the names, however, certainly have a familiar ring. Lillis, Dove, Hargrave, Maddock, Ziemba, Brutz, Kovatch, Crimmins, Evans, Juzwik, Wright, Murphy. If I didn't have these clippings I'd swear I'd heard all those names long before now. Of course there is a sophomore on the team, a fellow named Angelo Bertelli, I understand."

Then the genial coach would reach for another clipping, telling about how hopelessly Notre Dame is outweighed by Northwestern.

Not Sarcasm, But Almost.

"We'll have two big men in our starting lineup," he commented, "Don Clawson, 220, and Alf Bauman, 212. Notre Dame probably will start Capt. Lillis, 218; Walter Ziemba, 228; Jim Brutz, 209, and some other 200 pounders if there is a scale handy to prove it."

All this was in good spirit—a bit of mild satire, perhaps, but certainly not sarcasm. The coach made it very clear that there is no hate steamed up for the game.

"Like Notre Dame, Michigan, Ohio State, and Minnesota were unbeaten when we went against them. Minnesota is still unbeaten and there's nothing we can do about that now. It would be too bad to crack Notre Dame's slate at this late date. But the boys will be in there trying."

Waldorf announced his probable starting lineup yesterday but wouldn't say positively, having lost confidence in the weather man, who has been pushing him around all autumn.

Graham Named to Start.

He said that with anything like normal conditions he will start Dick Erdlitz at quarter, Otto Graham and Tuffy Chambers at the halves, and Clawson at full. His starting line will be Bob Motl and Bud Hasse at the ends, Bauman and Ray Vincent, the tackles; Nick Burke and George Zorich, the guards, and Bob Johnson, center.

Northwestern lays no claim to genius for figuring out that Bertelli will be a big factor in the Irish attack, as he has been all season. In all defensive drills this week Fresh-

In other fields his name is known
Far from the old home town.
Some folks, of course, pipe up to say
They're not surprised one bit
Because they always knew that boy
Was bound to make a hit.

And so the town basks in the light
And each one has a story
Of bygone days that lets him in
To share this new found glory;
For nothing causes such a stir
Thruout our neighborhood
As when the homefolks hear the news,
"Local Boy Makes Good."

Not to Me.

They tax you on the food you eat,
They tax you on your cars,
A tax on every radio
And the stuff you drink at bars.
They tax you for your whiskers
In the morning when you shave.
A tax on all the smelly stuff
For the hair you want to save.
They tax you for the weed you smoke,
The hat upon your head,
And when you go to sleep at night,
There's a tax upon your bed.

Now all these taxes I don't mind,
But get this . . . when I say,
"I'm gunning for the New Deal gent
Who tries to tax my pay." —G. A. R.

P. G. A.'S ANNUAL TOURNEY MADE $14,200 EVENT

Title Meet Carries Golf's Richest Prize.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The 25th annual convention of the Professional Golfers' Association of America for three days had been a happily uneventful one, conducted in the best interests of brotherly concourse. Everything had gone along just dandy. Craig Wood, a great guy, had been nominated active captain of the 1942-'43 Ryder cup team. Ed Dudley, another great guy, had been elected president.

Yesterday there was only the matter of new business to conclude the yearly reunion of the play-and-teach-for-pay gents. Then, in the afternoon session, a committee of five suggested to the assembled delegates that the purse for the association's annual championship be boosted a mite. In fact, the quintet suggested that the total ante be raised from the $6,000 now in effect to a magnificent aggregate of $14,200.

So what did the delegates do? Did they arise and argue about this apparently presumptuous thought? No, they approved it in the swiftest action of the entire convention.

Biggest Prize in Golf.

As a result, the 1942 National PGA event, most strenuous of all match play competitions in golf, becomes the most valuable prize in the game. The man who comes out of that weeklong battle, instead of collecting a paltry $1,100, will pocket a handsome $5,000, largest personal divvy of the year.

The winner of the PGA championship, currently held by Victor Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., following his Denver 38 hole triumph over Defending Champion Byron Nelson, will not be the only competitor to profit. Every other hopeful young man who makes progress thru the match play travail will benefit in cash.

The runner-up, who used to be soothed with $600, will collect $2,000 next year. The losing semi-finalists, heretofore recipients of $300 each, will receive balm in the form of respective $1,000 checks.

Under the old system, if you reached the quarter-final bracket, and lost, you were sent away with a piece of negotiable paper entitling you to $250. Now you can garner $500 if you lose in the last eightsome. Second round losers will receive $200 instead of $150, but the first round of beaten players will still get the same old $100.

Hines Tournament Chairman.

The committee which advanced this motion consisted of George Schneiter of Salt Lake City, chairman; Jimmy Hines of Lakeville, N. Y.; Jack Mackie of Inwood, N. Y.; John Budd of White Beeches, N. Y., and Al Nelson of Jacksonville, Fla. Hines, incidentally, was appointed chairman of the important tournament committee, succeeding Dudley.

Another change in the PGA tournament pattern, which was approved yesterday, is the reduction of match play qualifiers for the pros' main show from 64 to 32. Instead of opening the man-to-man competition with two 18 hole matches, the business will now resolve itself into an all 36 hole match play contest.

There was a suggestion of fretting about the 5 per cent tax which the association will levy on all total tournament purses in order to support the tournament bureau, but the motion approving same finally was passed.

Pitt Panthers Visit Chicago on Way to Nebraska Game

The University of Pittsburgh's surprising Panthers, en route to Lincoln for tomorrow's game with Nebraska, ran thru a brisk drill on Stagg field yesterday afternoon. The Panthers scored one of the major upsets of the season last Saturday by defeating Fordham's hitherto unbeaten team, 13 to 0. Pitt had seven straight defeats on its record before the game.

New York, Nov. 13 [Special].—The Chicago Blackhawks moved into first place in the National Hockey league tonight by defeating the Brooklyn Americans, 2 to 1, before 11,470 in Madison Square Garden.

The Hawks' victory spoiled the inaugural of the rechristened Brooklyn team which, until yesterday, went under the name of the New York Americans.

The Hawks won thru two fast scoring plays in the second period which wiped out the one goal lead Rookie Barry Watson had built up for the Americans early in the period. It was Watson's first goal in professional hockey.

Veterans Pace Hawks.

Then Chicago's veterans came back with two quick goals. Mush March netted the puck after taking a pass from Doug Bentley but the score was nullified by an offside. But Bentley got hold of the puck again, passed out from behind the net to Cully Dahlstrom, and Bill Thoms converted Cully's relay into a rising shot that went in over Goalie Robertson's shoulders as he tumbled to the ice.

LEAFS, 4; CANADIENS, 2

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 13 (AP).—Dave [Sweeney] Schriner came out with a broken toe in a cast and paced the Toronto Maple Leafs to a 4 to 2 triumph over the Montreal Canadiens tonight. It was Toronto's second victory in three National Hockey league starts and the Canadiens' third failure to win.

Schriner was injured in the opening game of the season two weeks ago, but showed no handicap as he bagged the first and last goals for the Leafs.

The game, played before 9,339, was hard fought but never in doubt. Young Terry Reardon, loaned to Montreal by Boston after he was unable to clear passport regulations, managed to keep the Canadiens in the competition almost single handed, twice bringing them from behind to tie the score, but never being able to get them in front.

He matched Schriner's first period tally and duplicated Lorne Carr's goal early in the second period. Then Gord Drillon put the Leafs in front to stay midway thru the period and Schriner finished the scoring two minutes before the contest ended, beating Goalie Bert Gardiner to a loose puck and pushing it into the unprotected Montreal net.

JACKSON VS. DAY BOWLING FEUD NEARS CHICAGO

Stars Meet This Week-End in Indianapolis.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

Bowling fans' attention will be directed this week-end to Indianapolis, where the second block of the Ned Day-Lowell Jackson individual match game championship event is to be held tomorrow and Sunday and the final competition in the Indianapolis News Marion county match title tournament will be put on Sunday. The News tournament is one of the several events leading up to the All-Star eliminations to be held in the Chicago coliseum Dec. 7 thru 14.

Day and Jackson will bowl 30 games tomorrow night and Sunday at the Pritchett-Hunt-O'Grady recreation center. Day will enter it with a 152.10 to 123.18 lead over Jackson, a margin he built up in the first block of 30 games rolled in Santa Monica, Cal., last week-end.

They Wind Up in Coliseum.

They are scheduled for additional 30-game blocks in West Allis, Wis., and St. Louis, then will roll their final 40-game block on the first four nights of the Coliseum show. The Coliseum program eliminations and match game event will be sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the Bowling Proprietors Association of America.

Sunday's play in the Indianapolis News tournament will wind up three weeks of match game competition which followed a qualifying round. A total of 166 bowlers entered the event originally. Two will come out of it to participate in The Tribune tournament in the Coliseum. They will join a field of 58 other stars, most of whom will be picked next Tuesday by the tournament committee from a total entry exceeding 125.

Detroit Star to Compete.

Additional entries for the show have been forwarded by Eddie Linsz, secretary of the Bowling Proprietors Association of America. The list includes another of Detroit's stars, John Crimmins.

Crimmins was anchor on the team that won the ABC title in Cleveland in 1939. He holds a 10 year ABC average of 201, has averaged 212 in the Kentucky Derby tourney the last five years; 212 in the Central States event for 10 years; 214 for the Elks state tourney for six years, and 210 in the Elks' national tourney for six years.

Oklahoma Sends Freeman.

A new Illinois entry is that of Dr. Fred A. Robison of Danville, who has averaged 201 on a traveling team for five years. His league average for five years is 195.

Andrew T. Freeman of Seminole has been added to the list of Oklahoma entries. Freeman, a league bowler for only the last two years, submitted his best performance at the end of last season when in a 12-game match, he rolled games of 244, 207, 201, 277, 243, 217, 245, 200, 235, 205, 206, 225, and 255.

MAURIELLO 3-2 CHOICE TONIGHT OVER LESNEVICH

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—Gus Lesnevich of Cliffside, N. J., and Tami Mauriello of the Bronx will fight 15 rounds or less in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night for a title that neither is likely to defend again. Gus and Tami are two important members of a group of fighters who are trying to eat their way up into the heavyweight division and big money. Tomorrow they'll fight for the light heavyweight crown which Lesnevich now holds.

After tomorrow both of them likely will follow the example of Billy Conn, who gave up the 175 pound title and became a heavyweight title contender. They'll get some competition in that line from such fellows as Booker Beckwith, who has been fighting heavyweights in Chicago; Billy Soose, Al Hostak, and Johnny Colan.

Mauriello and Lesnevich have strong followings and there was enough uncertainty about the decision last time to attract many neutral fans. On that occasion the referee gave Mauriello 10 of the 15 rounds, only to be over-ruled by the two judges. Mauriello is 3-2 favorite tonight.

Tilden Expects Hocus-Pocus Football from Crane Tech

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Charles Harvey, veteran Tilden Tech coach, is a great admirer of expert magicians and at the moment he is prepared to see that his football team doesn't fall victim to Crane Tech's deceptive maneuvers in the Public School league semi-final contest in Hanson park, Central and Fullerton avenues, tomorrow afternoon. There's a big reason for Coach Harvey's worries. Crane Tech reached the semi-finals by successfully employing trick plays against Austin, its leading rival in the west section.

Three weeks ago Crane Tech defeated Austin, 12 to 6, its first victory over the former champions in six years. It required long weeks of planning to score that triumph. Coach Floyd Brown of Crane Tech spoiled Austin's defensive strategy by shifting John Porcelli from full back to left end, the 190 pound star having played the first four games in the back field. Porcelli is a talented line smasher as well as being one of the leading pass catchers in the league.

He's Versatile

JOHN PORCELLI.

Coach Harvey will not know until tomorrow afternoon whether Porcelli will be in the Crane back field or on the line. However, Harvey expects a considerable amount of hocus-pocus plays, particularly if the game is played on a dry field. Followers of Tilden Tech are not concerned as much as the coach. They know Harvey has a few aces up his sleeve, too, in Eddie Uvodich, speedy half back, and Ray Schumacher, hard plunging full back who scored Tilden's winning touchdown against Phillips last week.

Henry Soltysinski, Bowen 207 pound center, was named the squad's most valuable player and candidate for the Noble E. Kizer award. . . . South Shore's selection is Jim Eason, 162 pound guard. . . . Jack Tierney, St. George High and Chicago Bruins basketball coach, plays handball almost daily. . . . Mayor Kelly last night announced final plans for the presentation of the eighth annual All-City game on Nov. 29 at a banquet in the Blackstone hotel. . . . Civic leaders, prep coaches and newspapermen were the guests. . . . Bill Schulz, Proviso captain, still is in the hospital as a result of a midseason injury, but a special telephone at his bedside, arranged by a Maywood newspaper, kept him informed of late season Proviso games. . . . Schulz recently underwent a second operation.

Fenwick's football team will be honored by the Fathers' club at a banquet in the Morrison hotel on Dec. 11. . . . Bill Hapac, former Morton and Illinois basketball star, will play on the Chanute field quintet this winter. . . . Eleven Morgan Park Military academy seniors will play their final game tomorrow when the squad meets St. John's Military academy in Delafield, Wis. . . . Hopkinsville, Ky., High, winner of 21 consecutive games, which will play Boys' High in Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 28, has been invited to meet Orlando, Fla., High on Dec. 19. . . . Champaign and Urbana will play their 34th game tonight on Urbana McKinley field.

BUDWEISERS SET SEASON RECORD ON 3,374 SERIES

The Budweiser bowlers, who set a nation-wide season's high total of 3,342 recently, only to have the Eastsides of Los Angeles top it the next week with 3,358, jumped back into the lead again last night. They marked up a series of 3,374 in the Randolph league, built on games of 1,139, 1,147, and 1,088.

The veteran Joe Traubenik led the way with a 245, 244, 222—711 series, but all his teammates likewise came thru. Bill Hargadon had 674, George Theel, 653, John Small, 657, and Joe Wilman, 679.

MICHIGAN SQUAD OF 36 HEADS FOR COLUMBIA GAME

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 13 [Special].—After a final brisk workout, 36 University of Michigan football players boarded a train today for the second New York City appearance of a Wolverine football team in history against Columbia Saturday.

After an open date last Saturday the Michigan team will enter the Columbia contest at near peak strength. Still hampered by injuries are Harold Lockard and Don Robinson, half backs, and Harlin Fraumann, end. But none of these three is expected to be kept out of action.

Altho Coach Fritz Crisler never announces his starting lineup until game time, it is expected that the only change will be at the end positions, with Fraumann at left end and Rudy Smeja at the other flank. It is still possible, however, that Crisler will nominate Phil Sharpe for the starting assignment in place of Smeja. The traveling squad:

COLUMBIA LOOKS TO PASSER.

New York, Nov. 13 [Special].—When Columbia lines up against Michigan on Baker field Saturday Paul Governali, the brilliant passer, will be the Lions' chief offensive hope, Coach Lou Little said today.

On Morningside Heights, where the undergraduates were lined up in long queues at the ticket windows today, they too are counting on Governali to discount the odds in favor of Michigan.

"If our receivers had held on to the ball," Little said, "Paul easily would have had 20 completions against Penn. As it was, we got away with 13."

Little said he thought the Columbia line will do all right, particularly Makofska and Maack at the tackles and Seigal at end, just as they did against Penn and Cornell.

THE ROYALIST, AT $1,225, TOPS HORSE AUCTION

The Royalist, a five gaited chestnut gelding consigned by Margot Anne Krueger of Cleveland, brought top price of $1,225 for the first afternoon and evening of the auction of horses which opened yesterday in the International amphitheater. He was purchased by J. C. Younghusband, a Chicagoan. The 82 horses which were sold during the first two sessions brought a total of approximately $28,700. The average was in the neighborhood of $350.

The average for horses which had had some show experience was quite a bit higher than the general run. This figure was approximately $500. The auction will continue with morning, afternoon, and evening sessions today and tomorrow. It is being conducted by the estate of Harry McNair, the chief auctioneer being Roy M. Johnston of Belton, Mo.

The Royalist has won quite a few blue ribbons in various Ohio shows. My Captain Fury, consigned by E. H. Krueger of Cleveland, was sold for $650, and Deanna Durbin, consigned by Thomas E. Wilson, brought $675.

PUT NEW MEXICO SHIFT ON DISPLAY FOR MARQUETTE

Hilltoppers' Full Back Renzel Returns.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 13 [Special].—New Mexico university's "accordion shuffle shift" was previewed here today as Coach Ted Shipkey and his Lobo squad arrived at noon for Saturday's game with Marquette. The westerners worked out in the Hilltop stadium in the afternoon. Shipkey, former Stanford end, announced the promotion of Guard Louis Attel and End Vince Bogren to the first team.

Marquette's varsity stressed defense once again in today's drill. Doug Renzel, first string full back who has been ill, rejoined the squad and probably will be able to play Saturday.

SPARTANS WATCH WEATHER.

East Lansing, Mich., Nov. 13 [Special].—Michigan State coaches are hoping for a dry field when the Spartans meet Temple Saturday in the last big home game of the season. For the past two week-ends the Spartans have been hampered by rain and soggy fields in dropping a 19 to 0 decision to Missouri and playing a 0 to 0 tie with Purdue.

Michigan State will be facing a team that will have weight advantage. The Owls' forward wall will average over 200 pounds and the Spartans are convinced they will have a tough time gaining yardage thru the line.

BUCKEYES SEEK DEFENSE AGAINST ILLINOIS PASSES

Ohio State Coach Holds Long Drill.

Columbus, O., Nov. 13 [Special].—Ohio State spent another long afternoon on defense today with particular attention being paid on stopping Illinois passes. Coach Paul Brown refused to let the squad take it easy as the Scarlet prepared for its encounter with Illinois in the Buckeyes' homecoming game Saturday.

The Buckeye squad appeared in excellent physical shape with the exception of Lynn Houston, sophomore guard, and Dick Burgett, full back, who is understudying Jack Graf. Houston will not play and George Cheroke will take over his place at right guard, where he performed brilliantly last Saturday against Wisconsin. Burgett's injury won't keep him out if his services are needed.

ILLINI LEAVE TODAY.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 13 [Special].—Coach Bob Zuppke today named 37 players to leave tomorrow morning for Columbus, O., where Saturday he probably will start a revamped lineup that will include five sophomores, against the Buckeyes. Forgetting About Football Just Before the Battle man Joe Scriba has been operating under the alias, "A. B. Bertelli." It is admitted that Joe may not be quite as slick as Angelo, but he's a pretty good impersonator for a freshman.

There's De Correvont, Too.

Much as the Wildcats respect Bertelli, they think Graham is his equal as a passer [with a 55 per cent completion percentage], and they know he has an infinitely better record on the ground. And if Otto wants a rest, it is pointed out, Bill De Correvont will be ready.

Northwestern bettors are said to be asking points. They ignore the Wildcats' 20 to 0 victory last year on touchdowns by gents who will play tomorrow—Clawson [2] and De Correvont [1]—and stress Notre Dame's undefeated string this year.

LEAHY SINGS BLUES

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 13 [Special].—"We don't like to be pessimistic, but our squad is really banged up a lot more than I thought," said Coach Frank Leahy as he gave the Notre Dame squad a review of defensive assignments for Saturday's game at Northwestern.

Leahy has refrained from telling bear stories previously this season and has started the same eleven men in every game except the last one, with Navy, when Johnny Kovatch replaced George Murphy at right end to give a little more heft to the line. Even tho Bernie Crimmins, right guard, could scarcely walk on Monday because of bruises on his knees, Leahy refused to admit that the Irish were below their physical par.

"We're proud of the conditioning done last spring," he said on Monday, "and my main worry is an emotional let down this week after being keyed for two or three weeks in a row."

An Alibi—Already.

Today, as Leahy recounted the list of injuries that have not responded to treatment, he said he was almost happy to hear the weather prediction for light rain Friday night and Saturday. "At least," said Leahy, "we'll have an excuse, because it's a well established fact that we don't operate on a wet field."

In addition to Crimmins, those on the injured list are Will Riordan, substitute guard, who has a bruised hip; Wally Ziemba, center, and Bob Dove, left end, who have shoulder injuries. Dove strained his shoulder reaching for a pass in today's drill and the pain was so intense he had to be helped from the field.

PURDUE GEARS UP OFFENSE FOR WISCONSIN GAME

Plan Layoff Today to Aid Physical Condition.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 13 [Special].—Brushing up on assignments and detail in the hope of gearing up the offense occupied the attention of Purdue's football squad this afternoon in the final drill for the Wisconsin game in Madison on Saturday.

Still concentrating on bringing the squad into the best possible physical shape, Coach Mal Elward announced that there would be a layoff from drill tomorrow afternoon. The squad will leave tomorrow afternoon at 5:44 o'clock for Chicago, remaining there overnight and then continuing the journey to Madison on a special train Saturday morning.

Elward indicated that the starting lineup will be virtually the same as the one used against Michigan State. Rush and Combs will be ends; Rossi or Warren and O'Bryan, tackles; Miller and Melton, guards; Johnson, center; Smerke, quarter back; Chester or Cook, left half back; Berto, right half back, and Petty or Andretich, full back.

Altho Pete Timperman is definitely out of action, Barry French may be able to provide some support for O'Bryan at right tackle.

BADGERS MAKE CHANGES

Madison, Wis., Nov. 13 [Special].—Wisconsin's football squad began tapering off today for the Purdue game with the probability that three, and possibly four changes will be made in the lineup from that which started against Ohio State.

MAROONS PLAY 6 MAN FOOTBALL AT HOMECOMING

The six-man football teams of the University of Chicago, drawing toward the end of their schedule of intramural games, will meet two teams from Illinois Tech in the Maroons' homecoming game on Stagg field this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Marking the first intercollegiate six-man football game in which Chicago has taken part, the contest will see all five of the Maroon teams in action against the two intramural teams from Illinois Tech. Two games will be played simultaneously.

The games, played in four 10-minute quarters, will be on 80-yard fields. The Chicago teams will be sent into the game as separate units. The Red Devils, currently leading the Maroon intramural league with four victories in five games, are expected to make the best showing against Tech.

TWO MORE TEAMS ENTER LEAGUE BOXING TONIGHT

Madison A. C. to Oppose CYO Whites.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

The Catholic Youth organization White team and Madison Athletic club will open competition in the Chicagoland Amateur Boxing league when they meet in eight bouts tonight in the Madison arena, 4711 Madison street.

The winning squad will join the CYO Green delegation, Milwaukee, and the Ashland A. C. in a tie for the league leadership.

The CYO Whites will depend on Don Gallardio, bantamweight; Willie Moon, featherweight; Frank Bausone, lightweight; Al Reasoner, junior welterweight; Jimmy Hunt and Matt Kane, welterweights, and Harry McElroy, middleweight, to carry them to victory.

Name Eight M. A. C. Fighters.

Their opposition will be Johnny Mezzario, Francis Smith, Joe De Orio, Jimmy Baratta, Pat Maloney, Jerry Simmons, and Matt Slobodnick, respectively. The Madison team's eighth contestant is Joe De Falco, also a lightweight, but Paddy Kane, coach of the CYO Whites, yesterday said an opponent for De Falco would not be named until today.

Tonight's program will start at 8:30 o'clock. Ringside tickets are priced at 45 cents, plus tax, and general admission tickets are 32 cents, plus tax.

The Madison club's best fighters supposedly are Smith, Baratta, and Maloney. They will face formidable opposition in Moon, Reasoner, and Hunt. The match between Smith and Moon is outstanding. Altho these boys have impressive records both will be handicapped by idleness in recent months. Smith, 1940 Joliet Golden Gloves sectional winner, recently conquered James Calhoun of the Savoy A. C. It was his first match in several months. Smith, southpaw who resides in Aurora, has been boxing about three years with better than average success.

Moon Takes on Weight.

Moon, 1938 CYO and Illinois Athletic club flyweight champion and 1939 CYO bantamweight title holder, will be making his first appearance as a featherweight against the 21 year old Smith. Altho he hasn't fought in a year because of his employment in a south side drug store, the added weight will work to his advantage, his handlers said. They maintain Willie is stronger and hits harder now.

Maloney, welterweight residing in Maywood, is popular in the west side club. His skill, coupled with his speed, gives him a chance to beat Hunt. Baratta, Pat's junior welterweight teammate, also is a favorite in the Madison arena due to his record of 26 conquests in 28 contests during a two year period. Like Maloney, however, Jimmy is being pitted against a tough customer in Reasoner.

Three Inaugurate Cards.

The CYO Greens, Milwaukee, and the Ashland A. C. are tied for the league lead thru conquests of Camp Grant, I. A. C., and Fort Sheridan, respectively, in the opening round of fighting in the league on Wednesday. The Greens defeated Camp Grant, 6 to 2; Milwaukee beat Fort Sheridan, 5 to 3, and the Ashland A. C. defeated the I. A. C., 7 to 1.

These teams, winners as well as losers, will return to action next week along with the two Savoy A C. delegations and the West Suburban club, which drew first round byes.

Bolden and Mitchell to Box 8 Rounds

Nate Bolden, 1937 intercity Golden Gloves middleweight winner, yesterday was matched to meet George Mitchell of South Chicago in an eight round semi-windup to a 10 round bout involving Harvey Dubs and George Nyberg in Marigold Gardens Monday. In four round matches Hymie Dabb, west side welterweight, is paired with Danny Villa, and Arnold Dear, Indianapolis 147 pounder, with Jimmy Crow.

Dabb, who has lost only three of his 35 amateur contests, two of them in Golden Gloves competition, will be making his professional debut. He started boxing as a lightweight at the Jewish Peoples' institute in 1937 when 17 years old. He was a semi-finalist in the city Golden Gloves tournament in the Coliseum last winter.

A 10 round bout between Jack Marshall and Lee Savold, scheduled in Detroit Olympia tonight, has been postponed until Nov. 28. This is a semi-final match in the White Hope tournament conducted there and will earn for the survivor $4,000 and a chance to meet Frank Zamaris for an additional prize of $5,000 in the finals, date of which has not yet been set due to a hand injury incurred by Zamaris.

Bill Petersen, Indiana Harbor heavyweight, will oppose William [Moose] Kennedy of Gary in a six round event in Hammond Civic center next Wednesday. In supporting contests of six rounds Anthony Jones, Champaign middleweight, will encounter Jack Hill, and Hezzie Williams, 1941 Chicagoland Golden Gloves light heavyweight champion, will face Paul Frazier.

Pete Lello, 1936 Chicagoland Golden Gloves lightweight champion, has retired from the ring after a five year professional career, Issy Kline, manager of the Gary boxer, said last night. Lello, who is 25 years old, will open a billiard hall in Gary tomorrow. In 65 pro bouts Pete won 47, fought seven draws, and lost 11 verdicts. In his last two appearances he was beaten by Nick Castiglione in Chicago Stadium outdoor arena Sept. 10 and was stopped by Julie Kogen in Newark Sept. 24.

ITALIAN HURLS DISCUS 175 FEET FOR NEW RECORD

TURIN, Italy, Nov. 13 (AP).—The Gazetta del Popolo said today a new world record would be claimed for Adolfo Consolini, young Italian who hurled the discus 53.34 meters [175 feet] at Milan Oct. 26. This was 8 centimeters [3¼ inches] farther than the American star, Archie Harris of Indiana university, accomplished last summer, when he sailed the platter

Sasse, Former Army Coach, Quits Penn Military Post

Chester, Pa., Nov. 13 [Special].—Lieut. Col. Ralph Irvine Sasse, former head bootball coach at the United States Military academy, has resigned as athletic director of Pennsylvania Military academy because of ill health, it was announced today. Frank K. Hyatt, commandant and president of the college, said Sasse would be succeeded by a colonel of infantry and a colonel of cavalry who have been assigned here by the army. Their names were not disclosed.

Yale Prepares Pass Barrage for Princeton

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 13 [Special].—If today's practice of the Yale football squad meant anything, Princeton's back field will spend most of Saturday afternoon defending against passes. Three Yale pitchers literally filled the air with footballs, throwing to a variety of receivers and from a variety of formations, as the Blues went thru their last long drill before renewal in the bowl of this oldest football rivalry—Yale vs. Princeton. There was no contact work, and little time was spent on running.

The visitor here is immediately impressed by Yale's failure to regard its season of defeats as dreary. The Yale squad shows nothing akin to despair. And, despite the fact that no national or sectional importance is attached to Saturday's game, a brisk ticket business was being done all day, and a crowd of at least 35,000 is indicated by the advance sale.

PENN EXPECTS 65,000.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 13 [Special].—Coach George Munger today put the Pennsylvania squad thru a long offensive drill in preparation for the Army game Saturday, but no tackling was allowed. A crowd of 65,000 is expected to see the game on Franklin field.

Encouraged by the passing of Full Back Bert Stiff against Columbia, the coaches concentrated on an aerial game, using Bob Odell, Paxson Gifford and Joe Kane. Bob Brundage, recovered from an injury, understudied Stiff, while John Nolan, alternated with Davis at quarter back.

ARMY NIGHTWORK.

West Point, N. Y. Nov. 13 [Special].—Army practiced until dark this evening in a final workout before departure tomorrow for Philadelphia and the Penn game. Army will hold a light drill on Franklin field in the afternoon. Altho several first string men still are nursing injuries, all are expected to be in shape to start. A provisional battalion of about 475 cadets will go to the game.

SWITCH SYRACUSE BACKS.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 13 [Special].—Syracuse's last heavy workout for Saturday's game with Colgate here indicated today that the Orange may start a new back field combination because of injuries to regulars. Coach Ossie Solem worked with a quartet including Bob Heald, quarter back; Gerry Courtney, and Dick Whitesell, half backs, and Norm Michael, full back. The only change on the line saw Bill Mozur at right tackle for Dick Ransom, also injured.

DARTMOUTH'S READY.

Hanover, N. Y., Nov. 13 [Special].—In the last scrimmage before the Cornell game Saturday, the Dartmouth squad today rehearsed defense against the freshmen's simulation of the Big Red aerial attack, drilled on kick formations, and held a brief signal drill.

Coach Tuss McLaughry announced on leaving for Ithaca that Ray Wolfe, injured back field veteran who helped upset Cornell last year, would be able to start. Johnny Krol, blocking back, and Harry Gerber, regular end, who has a broken finger, also may start, McLaughry said.

N. Y. U. TACKLE INJURED.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—Jack Ryan, regular right tackle of New York university's football Violets, who sprained an ankle in the game against Missouri, hurt it again today in practice and was deprived of a chance to start in the Tulane tussle Saturday. His place in the lineup was taken by Irvin Kintisch. The Tulane squad will arrive tomorrow morning.

MARKET WISE IS PIMLICO WINNER IN RECORD TIME

Tufano Star Picks Up 124 Pounds and Steps Out.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 13 (AP).—Market Wise ended his 1941 campaign in brilliant fashion today by racing to a record breaking victory in the 29th running of the $10,000 added Gov. Bowie handicap before 10,000 closing day fans at Pimlico.

The son of Brokers Tip-On Hand, whose victories include a decision over Whirlaway, was guided over the mile and five eighths by Wendell Eads in the smashing time of 2 minutes, 43 and 1-5 seconds to set a new track mark. This clipped a second and a fifth off the former record made by Kayak II. in 1939.

Best Seller Is Second.

Market Wise, carrying top weight of 124 pounds, closed fast to defeat E. R. Bradley's Best Seller by two lengths. G. H. Bostwick's Nellie Bly was another, two lengths back in third place, three lengths ahead of A. J. Sackett's Tola Rose.

Market Wise spotted Best Seller, also a 3 year old, 22½ pounds in weight, but was still much the better horse in the long run to the finish and drew away with speed in reserve.

The favorite at $4.60 for $2, Market Wise picked up $9,750 to increase his 1941 earnings to $97,715, a good return for the $3,000 which Owner Lou Tufano, Jamaica, N. Y., contractor, paid for him and another horse.

Winner Breaks Last.

Market Wise broke last in the field of eight but improved his position gradually while Trois Pistoles and Best Seller set the torrid pace—Best Seller showed on top at the mile and one-quarter pole, but Market Wise surged forward in the final three-sixteenths to win going away.

A mishap marked the post parade when E. D. Axton's Bala Ormont tossed Jockey Don MacAndrews and bruised his left arm.

Bowie Opens Today.

Bowie, Md., Nov. 13 (AP).—Big time racing in the east enters its final lap tomorrow with the opening of a 14 day meeting at Bowie, operated by the Southern Maryland Agricultural association.

The minimum purse for the meeting will be $1,200 and the association will offer $32,500 in added money. The first of five stakes to be renewed, the $5,000 added Thomas K. Lynch Memorial handicap, will be run Saturday.

There is no stake race on the eight event program tomorrow and the feature will be the $1,500 Cherrystone purse for 3 year olds and up, over a mile and 70 yards.

Ten horses were entered over night in the Cherrystone. They were Grebe, Ranger II., Jamerica, Discouraged, Yawl, In Question, Seven Hills, War Key, Greedan, and Ingomar.

ARMOUR, SMITH TIE FOR LEAD IN MID-SOUTH GOLF

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 13 [Special].—Tommy Armour of Chicago three-putted the 18th green on the championship course of the Pinehurst Country club today and lost an opportunity to top the field in the first round of the 36 hole Mid-South golf tournament. His score of 34—36—70 was good enough for a first place tie with Horton Smith of Pinehurst, who had 36—34—70.

Eighty starters found the old championship course tough. Scores ranged high, such experts as Gene Sarazen taking 78, Harry Cooper and Tony Manero 75s, and others going over 80.

FEAR NO CURBS, AD MEN ASSURED BY HENDERSON

Terms the Industry a Dynamic Force.

Hot Springs, Va., Nov. 13 (AP).—Price Administrator Leon Henderson praised the nation's advertisers today and assured them that, so far as he was concerned, they need not fear their business would be curbed as a means of controling inflation or restricting production.

"Advertising must survive as a thriving, dynamic force," Henderson told a meeting of the American Association of Advertising Agencies. "It is threatened with no special or extraordinary peril which is not shared by other economic and social groups in this country.

"Should Be More of It."

"Some of your trade publications and other sources have ascribed to me a point of view about advertising. The clear inference has been that I am a charter member of some little cell of conspirators whose main purpose in life is to alter, reform, or perhaps destroy advertising as we know it.

"However, if I have a point of view about advertising it is that under the sort of expanding economy I would like to see there should be more of it. That is, more of the right kind.

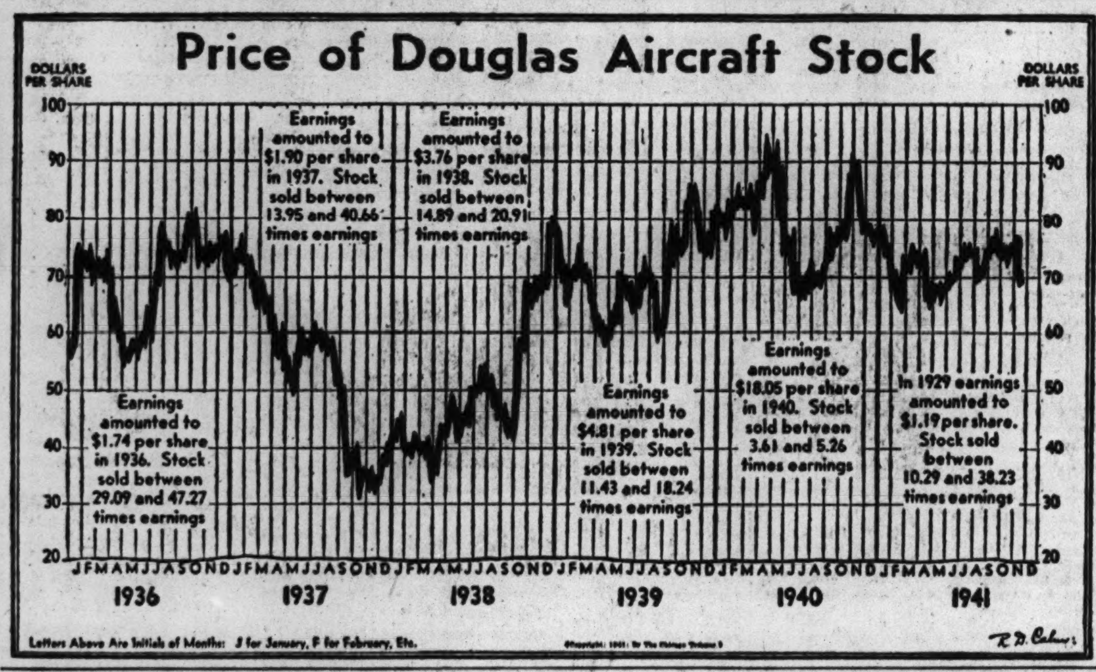
"You don't expect me to tell you that advertising is not going to suffer in this defense program. I wouldn't try to kid professionals. But I can tell you with all conviction that I regard it part of my job to do what I can to maintain the maximum of civilian activity in our economy consistent with the basic requirements of defense.

An Important Activity.

"Since the question has been raised I consider that advertising is included in the category of important civilian activity."

Henderson observed that the prospectus of the association's meeting referred to talk of advertising curbs to control production and inflation.

"All I can say about this is that I have not been a party to any such conversations," he asserted. "And if 'curbing advertising' as a means of controling inflation and production had been seriously considered, I think I would know about it."



DEPARTMENT STORES OF DISTRICT INCREASE WEEK'S SALES BY 12%

Department store sales in the 7th federal reserve district of which Chicago is the hub, were 12 per cent larger last week than a year ago and 6 per cent larger than in the preceding 1941 week, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday. Sales of stores in Chicago were 12 per cent above last year and 8 per cent above the preceding week.

For the four weeks ended Nov. 8 district sales were 10 per cent above the corresponding 1940 period and Chicago sales were up 9 per cent.

Sales nationally were 14 per cent higher last week than a year ago.

BRITON HINTS WE SHOULD PASS UP POST-WAR TRADE

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP).—A suggestion that trade organizations of the United States and Latin America should not expect to survive after the war at the expense of the British came today from Sir Patrick Hannon, president of the Institute of Export.

Hannon told members at a London meeting that Britons were "in positive, menacing danger of losing the whole of our trade in the western hemisphere" because of lease-lend obligations to the United States.

Sir Patrick said that since British sea power is defending the United States, "surely the peoples of the United States and the American republics must give some consideration in exchange."

Big Store Puts Out Welcome Mat to Sellers

BY LELAND FORRESTER.

In a reversal of the etiquet of salesmanship that prevailed before the world got turned upside down, a buyer of a big eastern retailer established himself in Chicago yesterday and announced he would be delighted to see any manufacturer or salesman who can provide any one of 360,000 items his organization sells.

The man who put out the welcome mat and made known his mission thru an advertisment in THE TRIBUNE is I. G. Kinzler, buying representative for R. H. Macy & Co., operator of six eastern department stores.

Chicago a "Logical" Source.

Said Kinzler:

"We came out here to buy goods because we think Chicago is a big supply source that has not been tapped as much as it should have been by the east.

"We have not encountered any shortage of supplies yet, but the time is coming when many items will be hard to get, and we regard Chicago and the middle west as the logical source of much of our future supplies."

Kinzler said he is particularly interested in getting in touch with small manufacturers who always have considered themselves too small to deal with department stores, and the larger manufacturers who up to now have not entered the eastern market.

He said he has found that Chicago manufacturers are "pretty well satisfied with their business in this area."

Kinzler has established an office in the Merchandise Mart, where he plans to remain thru today and possibly tomorrow. This is Macy's first invasion of the Chicago supply center on a big scale, he said.

The Macy company handles about 140 million dollars' worth of business a year in ready to wear clothing, hardware, sporting goods, groceries, and other department store lines.

SEATS ON EXCHANGE ARE GOOD INSURANCE, SAY WALL STREETERS

New York, Nov. 13 [Special].—When New York Stock exchange memberships hit a new low or return to an old one, there is talk of their insurance features.

At the 43 year low of $20,000, which was reached again yesterday, some Wall streeters said the purchase of a seat by a man of 55 is a better bargain than buying life insurance. The exchange pays $25,000 from its gratuity fund to the heirs of each member who dies and, at the moment, payments into the fund are being waived to reduce the large surplus.

Thus the annual cost of a membership could be figured at $1,000 in dues, at least for a year or so. In the event of death it would pay off $25,000 plus the value of the seat at the time. If the holder were in position to profit by his ownership of the seat, either thru handling commission business or trading for himself without commission, his investment would be even better, it was said.

U. S. CHARGES 3 WATCH MAKERS RESTRAIN TRADE

Indictments Name 26 Other Concerns.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—The Hamilton Watch company, Elgin National Watch company, Waltham Watch company, 26 other corporations, and 73 persons were indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of violating the Sherman anti-trust law.

The first indictment named the Hamilton company of Lancaster, Pa., its officers, and 23 distributors and their officers, located in principal cities including Chicago, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Kansas City, Omaha, and Dallas.

Conspiracy Is Alleged.

The indictment contains one count alleging a combination and conspiracy to restrain interstate trade and commerce in the distribution and sale of Hamilton watches, in preventing certain described persons, partnerships, and corporations from buying, selling, distributing, or dealing in those watches.

The indictment also charged that such dealers were discriminated against, arbitrarily eliminated as dealers, restricted or prevented from obtaining Hamilton watches by blacklisting and boycotting on the part of the Hamilton Watch company and certain distributors.

Based on Retailer Complaints.

The second indictment was similar to the first except that it named the Elgin company of Elgin, Ill., its officers, and 24 of its distributors and their officers. The third indictment named the Waltham company of Waltham, Mass., 17 of its distributors and their officers.

Federal officials said an investigation into the business practices and distribution policies of the three companies resulted from complaints from hundreds of dealers, mostly retail jewelers, who said they were unable to purchase Hamilton, Waltham, or Elgin watches thru the accredited wholesale distributors of the respective manufacturers.

In a joint statement, Frederick J. Whelan, special assistant to the attorney general, and Lawrence J. McManus, special attorney assigned to the anti-trust division, said:

U. S. Buys Trucks to Save Jobs; Orders Cut in Civilian Output

200 Millions at Once

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 13 (AP).—In a move to forestall anticipated widespread unemployment in the automobile industry resulting from the changeover from civilian to military production, the war department will place orders at once for 94,000 trucks, "jeeps" and ambulances costing about 200 million dollars.

Sidney Hillman, associate director of the Office of Production Management, made this disclosure tonight after receipt of a telegram from Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson.

Within one or two months, dependent upon favorable action by congress, the army will place additional orders for 123,000 vehicles costing more than 230 million dollars, Hillman said.

Addresses CIO Officers.

The OPM official who is also head of the CIO clothing workers' union, addressed a meeting of officers of the Congress of Industrial Organizations here preliminary to their national convention. The address followed a tour of Detroit plants working on military production.

The decision to order now the vehicles the army will need later was brought about, Hillman said, thru efforts of Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner and the United Automobile Workers [CIO].

"This is by no means all that will be done," he added. "Our requirements are limited only by the amount of material needed to beat Hitler."

Seeks to Speed Output.

Asserting he had come to Detroit to see what could be done to speed production, Hillman declared that "strikes at this time are all wrong." Labor, he said, "must recognize that whatever helps defense, helps labor; whatever hurts defense, hurts labor.

"Labor must learn to settle its disagreements with management by using ample government machinery which exists for the fair and equitable adjustment of labor-management differences.

"Labor must learn to settle its family quarrels without work stoppages and without jeopardizing our national security."

January Cut 35 Pct.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—January production of light trucks for civilian use must be held 35.9 per cent below January of this year under an Office of Production Management order issued today.

The order extended and sharpened the curtailment program begun in August. It provided that manufacturers might increase truck production above the quotas if they cut passenger car output correspondingly.

The order extended to trucks the ban on use of copper, nickel, chrome, and aluminum as "bright finish" or trim after Dec. 15. The January curtailment will permit the manufacture of a maximum of 24,169 trucks for civilian use, compared with 37,730 produced last January.

Deeper Cuts Expected.

OPM aims at a curtailment of 30 per cent for the entire 1942 model year which began Aug. 1. The new order will bring the total cut for the first six months of the model year, however, to only about 15.3 per cent —145,018 trucks of less than 1½ tons, compared with 171,260 in the same period of the 1941 model year. Deeper cuts will be necessary later, OPM officials said, to bring output to the desired yearly level.

Passenger car curtailment for January, 1942, was fixed at about 51 per cent. For neither trucks or passenger cars, however, was there any guarantee that sufficient material would be available to produce the permitted maximums.

Output of Electricity Dips, but Stays Far Above 1940

Output of electric power in the United States last week totaled 3,325,574,000 kilowatt hours, a gain of 16.4 per cent over that of the corresponding week last year but a decline of 0.4 per cent from the record high of the preceding week, the Edison electric institute reported yesterday.

TREASURY WILL BOOST SALES OF BILLS TO PUBLIC

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr. announced today the treasury would borrow 100 million dollars a week for the next few weeks by increasing weekly sales of 91 day treasury bills.

He told a press conference that the purpose of this method of borrowing, which is a temporary method, was to postpone any major financing of the treasury until at least next month.

Starting next week, the treasury will sell 200 million dollars of the bills each week until further notice. Since half of the proceeds of these sales will go to pay off maturing bills of the same character the net gain of the treasury from these sales will be 100 millions a week.

During the last four weeks the treasury has been borrowing 50 millions a week, by selling 150 millions worth of new bills weekly.

The federal debt now is at a record high of $53,584,047,871.

PLAN A RESERVE POOL TO SUPPLY CIVILIAN PLANTS

Failures Inevitable, Nelson Hints.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—Broad outlines of the government's policy toward nonarmament industries—particularly small manufacturers — took shape today with clear indication that in some instances federal agencies will be unable to prevent business failures.

Donald M. Nelson.

Donald M. Nelson, executive director of the Supply Priorities and Allocations board, declared in a Boston speech that "this defense program isn't a WPA program for industry," and warned that "the manufacturer who can think of nothing better to do than dump himself in the government's lap is destroying free enterprise."

Plans Reserve Supply.

SPAB is working on a plan for establishing a reserve supply of materials "to help men who face an absolute shutdown if something is not done," Nelson disclosed.

"We will be able to make limited amounts of material available for a limited time to plants which have been unable to convert their facilities to arms production," he said. "In some cases, unquestionably, where it would take a comparatively large amount of material to keep a comparatively few men at work, or where the product manufactured is something that we obviously cannot afford to keep on producing in a time of emergency, we will not be able to give that help.

On Scaled Down Basis.

"Where we do give, we shall be obliged to give it on a scaled-down basis. In most cases, I believe, we shall have to make it temporary rather than permanent help; help that is given so that a producer may have a little more time to get into some other kind of production, or to work out a way to substitute some

That "shrinkage" would have set me up in a business of my own!

Paying taxes twice is no man's intention, nor the government's requirement. An estate may be left in trust during the mother's lifetime, passing then to the children with only one set of taxes and probate costs. The resultant saving may send one heir to college, or establish a business for another.

If you haven't considered a trust for your estate, you may unintentionally be penalizing your family, depriving them of principal that is rightly theirs. Isn't this the perfect time for you and your attorney to have a meeting with our Trust Officers . . . to discuss with them your intentions and get their practical suggestions on how to transfer your estate most economically? STOCKS PUT UP BRAVER BATTLE, BUT END MIXED

Steels Lead an Early Rally in Lively Dealings.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—The stock market got its back against the wall today and stemmed the price assault that had knocked down many leaders to the lowest levels of 1941.

Steels led an early rally in fairly fast dealings and, altho numerous issues refused to participate, gains of fractions to 2 points or so were well distributed in the forenoon. The pace slowed and trends receded in most cases after midday. At the close 279 issues were higher, 324 lower and 213 unchanged.

CHICAGO LIST DECLINES.

Prices continued downward on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in transactions totaling 45,000 shares. Twenty-nine issues advanced, while 65 declined and 30 closed unchanged.

Volume leaders were Commonwealth Edison, on sales of 5,950 shares, off ⅛ to close at 20⅛; Chicago corporation, 5,350 shares, unchanged at ⅝; General Motors, 1,800 shares, off ¼ to 36⅝, and Middle West, 1,100 shares, unchanged at 3⅝.

14 RAIL UNIONS KEEPING STRIKE PLANS SECRET

Believed to Be Watching Brotherhood Action.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

What action the 14 nonoperating railway unions, representing 900,000 men, will take on the recommendations of the Presidential fact finding board for the settlement of their dispute with the railroads remained a mystery last night. The unions from their headquarters in the Morrison hotel issued a long statement sharply criticizing the recommendations and indicating that they would reject them, but failed to give a clear cut statement on their plans.

The 14 unions asked wage increases of 30 cents an hour, with a minimum of 70 cents an hour, and a two weeks vacation with pay. The President's board, headed by Chairman Wayne L. Morse, recommended they get a temporary increase of 9 cents an hour—equivalent to an average increase of 13½ per cent—and one week's vacation.

Spokesman Is Questioned.

Bert M. Jewell, president of the AFL railway employés division and spokesman for the 14 unions, was asked a number of questions. Will the unions formally reject the board's recommendations? Will the 14 unions set a date for a strike? Will the unions go along with the Big Five operating brotherhoods on their strike plans? Will the officials of the 14 unions explain their statement later?

To all these questions and one other, Jewell gave but one answer:

"Sit Back and Wait."

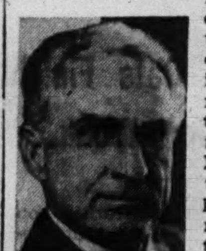
In railroad circles the comment was that the 14 unions proposed to sit back and wait to see what happens with respect to the strike ordered by the Big Five to start Dec. 7 Meantime the group will neither flatly reject the recommendations nor accept them. Presidential intervention is expected before an actual walkout occurs.

Indicating that they propose to reject the board's recommendations, the 14 unions said:

"Railroad employés believe in orderly procedure, but they are not willing to accept injustice. They are determined to press their demands for equitable consideration and relief against present intolerable wage standards and to gain reasonable vacations."

New Competition for Railways Visioned by Land, Air, Water

The railroads at the conclusion of the present emergency will have to face new and desperate competition for whatever traffic there is, Ernest E. Norris, president of the Southern railway, told the National Industrial Traffic league in the Palmer House yesterday.



Ernest E. Norris.

"We shall encounter an enlarged and aggressive highway transport system," he said. "We shall have to meet the competition of inland waterway lines, revived by the gift of man-made channels in many a creek. We shall find the bombers of war converted into air freight carriers and their new owners energetically bidding for a share of the country's hauling job."

Predicts New Traffic Lows.

Norris declared, however, that come what may the railroads will continue to operate. But they will have to fight harder than ever to keep solvent. The close of the emergency will bring about new lows in the volume of traffic to be moved, he predicted, which will complicate the railroads' problems.

"We can reasonably expect the railroads will enter the misty realm of tomorrow carrying the heaviest tax load in the history of industry," he continued, "paying the highest wage rates that have ever been paid, collecting the lowest average revenue per ton mile within the memory of moderns, and committed to standards of service and maintenance that drastically limit the flexibility of expenses."

Urge F. D. R. to Back Board.

Norris appealed to the shippers to help the railroad by giving them all business that they can.

The traffic league seconded the action of the National Association of Shippers Advisory Boards earlier this week by addressing a letter to President Roosevelt urging him to stand firm for the settlement of the present railroad wage controversy by the orderly democratic process, as reflected in the recommendation made by the Presidential fact finding board.

PRIORITIES SLOW BUILDING IN 160 ILLINOIS CITIES

All Types Show Declines in Number and Value.

BY AL CHASE.

Impact of priorities and other federal restrictions on building definitely were reflected in construction thruout Illinois during October, a review of activity in 160 cities by the Illinois department of labor revealed yesterday. All types of new building showed heavy losses in both number of projects and total cost, as compared with the same month last year and also with the preceding month. The only gain shown was in cost of additions to existing buildings.

The October valuations total of $10,428,873 for all types of buildings was $1,826,850, or 14.9 per cent less than the September total, and $1,729,663, or 14.2 per cent lower than October of last year.

Nonresidential Dips Most.

Altho federal priorities on building material are aimed more directly at home building than any other type of construction, their impact was felt more keenly by nonresidential classifications, which include business buildings, factories, and commercial structures of all kinds.

Last month there were 814 permits for new buildings other than homes, with a total value of $1,901,103. These were 91 fewer in number [a loss of 10.1 per cent] and $2,001,832 less in value [a decline of 51.3 per cent] as compared with October of last year. Comparisons with September of this year show a loss of 103 permits [11.2 per cent] and $1,163,452 in value [38.2 per cent less].

Home Building Slows Up.

Altho Illinois home building failed to heed the federal curbs on residential construction quite as much as business and industrial types, there was a noticeable slowup last month thruout the state in the erection of living quarters.

The October total of home permits was 1,094, valued at $6,599,294. This compares with 1,269 permits, with a total value of $7,730,241, in September, or a decline of 175 in number and $1,130,947 in value. Comparisons with October of last year show a loss of 100 permits, and $364,798 in value.

For the first 10 months of 1941 Illinois building of all types totaled $124,046,672, compared with $102,947,030 for the same period last year, a gain of 20.5 per cent.

DEVELOP NEW SAFETY TEST FOR BEARINGS IN AIRPLANE ENGINES

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 13 [Special].—A new development which will increase safety in flying for both military and commercial aircraft was announced here today by F. C. Kroeger, vice president of the General Motors corporation and general manager of the Allison division of General Motors. The development consists of the perfection of a new process for inspection of bonded bearings which it is said will prevent some of the occasional inexplicable airplane engine failures.

F. C. Kroeger.

Kroeger said that in the manufacture of engine bearings, the most exacting control of processes can minimize the possibility of poor bonding between the bearing surface material and the shell. However, no one has ever had any means of inspecting the finished part which would guarantee the bearing against possible failure resulting from a poor bond.

The new Allison method is said to provide a foolproof, inexpensive and highly practical way of detecting any flaw, no matter how infinitesimal. For military reasons details are withheld. Allison has made the process available to any manufacturer designated by the army.

OPM RED, WHITE AND BLUE TRAINS HUNT PRODUCERS

One of the red, white, and blue trains designed by the Office of Production Management to bring arms contracts to the small business man will be exhibited Nov. 25 in South Bend, Ind., it was announced yesterday. By displaying examples of what the government wants done, the OPM hopes to make clear the part of the small manufacturer in the program.

Each of the three trains—one is to visit the midwest, one the southwest, and one the east—will be loaded with 37 government technicians and exhibits of things needed by the army, navy, and maritime commission.

Total cost of the trip for the three gaily painted equipages is estimated by railroad men at $108,000 or approximately $1,000 per day per train. Salaries of the government travelers, of course, will be added to this figure.

The $108,000 will, however, take care of air conditioning, meals, switching costs, tickets, rent of cars, sanitation, light, and heat. While the trains go zipping thru the country, flushing industry's forgotten man, they will pause at 79 cities—mostly excluding the larger ones.

RAIL FREIGHT TRAFFIC DIPS AGAIN FOR WEEK; TOTAL IS 873,585 CARS

Revenue freight loadings by railroads during the week ended Nov. 8 totaled 873,585 cars, a decrease of 21,154 cars, or 2.4 per cent, from the preceding week, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday.

Last week's total showed an increase of 95,267 cars, or 12.2 per cent, over the same 1940 week. The decline from the preceding week was considered less than seasonal.

Federation Accedes to Federal Plea.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—A strike called for midnight Friday which would affect the American Telephone and Telegraph communication system in 42 states and the nation's capital was postponed tonight for at least a week.

John J. Moran, president of the Federation of Long Lines Telephone Workers, an independent union, said the walkout had been held up and the union's national council called into session here Nov. 21 at the request of Dr. John R. Steelman, director of the United States conciliation service.

Moran said the 21 member council would then decide "on further action to be taken" in the union's wage dispute with A. T. & T.

Cites Board's "Turmoil."

"One of the reasons for acceding to Steelman's request," Moran said, "is the turmoil and confusion with respect to the National Defense Mediation board resulting from the resignation of its CIO representatives.

"The union is still determined to obtain certification of its dispute to the defense board. The union will agree in advance to accept any decision the board might make."

Earlier the union canceled plans to interfere with the transmission of news and newsphotos by wire. It also had assured the Civil Aeronautics authority, the army and navy signal corps and communications branches that transmission for national defense and safety in flying would be maintained.

Effect Widespread.

Long distance private communication and 90 per cent of radio broadcasting would be tied up by such a strike, with the union maintaining radio broadcasts pertinent to defense.

The main issue in the dispute is the union's demand for elimination of geographical differentials in the pay scale, plus a basic wage increase of 4 per cent.

Settle Mack Truck Strike.

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 13 (AP).—A settlement was reached tonight in a two day strike which had tied up production at the plant of the Mack International Truck corporation. An election will be held Nov. 19 to determine whether the 2,000 employés will be represented in collective bargaining by one of three competing unions. The plant is turning out transmissions for the army's 28 ton tanks and gears for army trucks.

TRUCK DEADLOCK BROKEN

The two-day deadlock in the midwest truck drivers' wage dispute was broken last night when committees representing the motor freight carriers and AFL teamsters' union groups agreed to resume negotiations this morning.

A strike had been threatened after midnight tomorrow, when the present employment contract expires. The agreement was reached after separate union and employer conferences in the Hotel Sherman.

The present contract gives drivers 3 cents a mile and 80 cents an hour for pickup, delivery, and work other than driving. The union has insisted on an increase to 5 cents a mile and $1 an hour. The operators have offered 82½ cents an hour, but refuse to change the mileage rate.

More than 200,000 drivers and 900 truckline companies are involved in the controversy.

BANKS IN N. Y. RESERVE DISTRICT BOOST LOANS TO BUSINESS RAPIDLY

A spirited rise in the business lending activities of banks in New York City was disclosed yesterday by the federal reserve board in its report on the position of member banks as of Wednesday.

The New York banks had 2 billion 565 million dollars of commercial, industrial, and agricultural loans outstanding, 29 millions more than a week earlier. An increase of 1 million dollars was reported by Chicago member banks.

Won't Halt Failures, Nelson Hints.

Officials here said that Nelson's announcement appeared to indicated that a plan offered by Floyd B. Odlum, director of the Office of Production Management's contract distribution division, had been permanently sidetracked.

Odlum had suggested that a pool comprising 2 per cent of available supplies of critical materials be set aside and allocations made from it to small manufacturers. Under this plan, the allocations would have been guaranteed to employers of less than 20 persons who were unable to convert their plants to arms work.

Not Feasible, He says.

Such a plan, Nelson said, would not be feasible because the needed critical materials were not available and, further, "we can't set up any kind of blanket over-all guarantee."

A resolution calling on the OPM for detailed information on the operation of its priorities and allocations system was offered today by Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.].

O'Mahoney told the senate that while the economic system of the country was being "completely revolutionized" by the effect of priorities on thousands of businesses all the senators knew about what was going on was what they read in the newspapers.

OPA TO 'FREEZE' PRICES OF METAL BUILDING ITEMS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13—[Special.]—Nearly 100 items in the builders' hardware field will go under price ceilings Nov. 19 as a result of an order issued today by Leon Henderson, administrator of the Office of Price Administration. Manufacturers were asked to stabilize quotations at Oct. 21 levels.

Altho the order did not mention retailers, Henderson left no doubt he expected them to observe the Oct. 21 level also.

The new schedule covers eight types of knobs and handles, 20 types of door locks, 13 of hinges, 16 items of miscellaneous hardware, 10 items of window hardware, 5 of screen hardware, and 12 miscellaneous articles, such as numbers, transom chains, and snap catches. Painted, galvanized, commercial bronze, hand drawn copper, and fabric window screen cloth are included.

A record of selling prices during the period Sept. 22 to Oct. 21 must be available within 30 days for inspection of OPA.

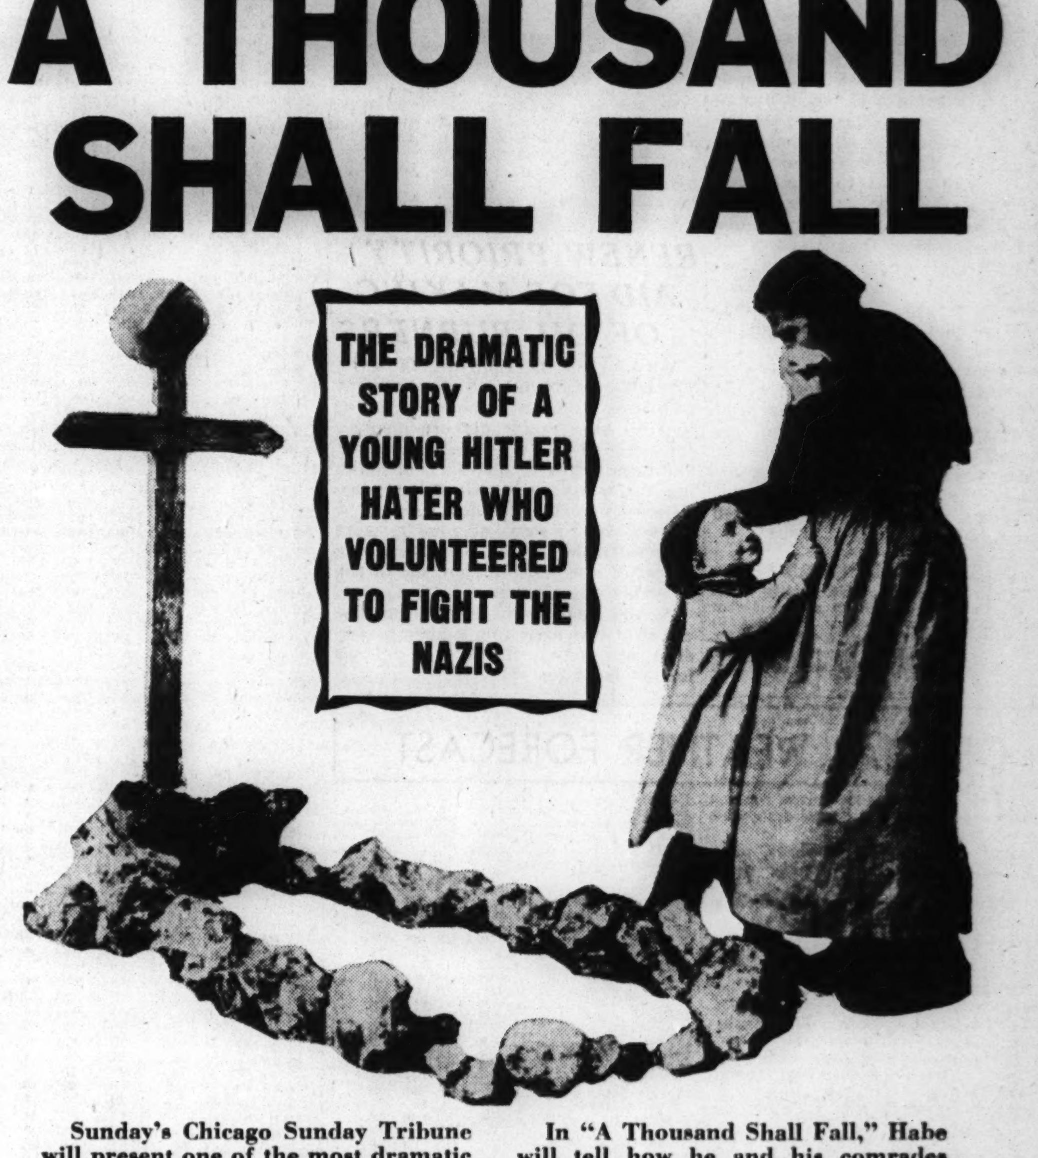
Sunday—

A THOUSAND SHALL FALL



Sunday's Chicago Sunday Tribune will present one of the most dramatic stories yet written about the war—Hans Habe's "A Thousand Shall Fall."

Habe hated and was hated by the Nazis whom he exposed. He left his spectacular career as a newspaper man and author to volunteer with the French army. He fought with extraordinary bravery until captured and sent to a German prison camp.

In "A Thousand Shall Fall," Habe will tell how he and his comrades fought with rifles against German tanks, how they retreated under the screaming Stukas, how he survived the horrors of a Nazi prison camp and how he made his spectacular escape—a story of the war as a soldier saw it.

PULLMAN TERMS CAUSE SHIFT IN SLEEPER ORDER

Rail Official Tells Effect on Competitor, Budd.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 13 (AP).—Terms of a contract with the Pullman company caused the Santa Fe railroad to change an order with another company for six lightweight trains, William K. Etter, vice president of the Santa Fe, testified today in the government's anti-trust suit against Pullman.

Etter, one of several railroad executives who appeared as witnesses before a three judge federal court, said the Santa Fe had contracted with the Budd Manufacturing company for trains, each of which would have had three sleepers and two sleeper-cocktail and lounge-observation cars.

He said after the contract was changed, Budd built only day coaches under the order, while the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company later built the sleepers. Five sleepers built by Budd before the contract change are under contract to Pullman, Etter said.

Complies with Contract.

"We changed our contract with Budd to comply with our contractual agreement with the Pullman company, which prohibits the use of any but Pullman sleepers during the life of the contract," he testified. "I heard only by hearsay that the Pullman had notified the Santa Fe that it would not operate any sleeper equipment on our road that was bought from Budd."

The government contends the Pullman company and its affiliates hold a monopoly on the sleeping car business and restrain trade in the manufacture of other railroad passenger cars.

W. A. Worthington, executive vice president of the Southern Pacific, told the court:

"I do not anticipate the Pullman company would ever attempt to force any contract upon us which we did not want, but, if they did—the Southern Pacific would not hesitate to refuse it and would operate its own sleeping cars."

Budd Cites Big Investment.

Ralph Budd, commissioner of transportation in the Office of Production Management, said small railroads "ought to have no trouble" in operating their own sleeping car equipment. "But I do not believe it is either feasible or practicable, he said, "for large connecting railroads to attempt this because of the large number of cars required and the investment involved."

Other witnesses included Daniel Upthegrove, president of the St. Louis Southwestern, and George W. Hand, assistant to the chief executive officer of the North Western railroad.

TARIFF ON BEEF FROM ARGENTINA DIPS TOMORROW

The new reciprocal trade agreement between the United States and Argentina will go into effect tomorrow, cutting the import duty on Argentine corned beef and canned meats from 6 cents to 3 cents a pound. Chicago meat packers said yesterday that imports of Argentine beef, which have been growing tremendously in recent months, will probably rise even faster as a result of the pact.

The department of agriculture disclosed Wednesday that imports of beef in September were the largest for any month since 1915. They totaled more than 20½ million pounds against only six million pounds in September, 1940.

The department's figures revealed, the packers said, that despite the fact that our exports of canned meat to England are of record size, imports of beef the first nine months of 1941 were almost five times exports. More than 95 million pounds of beef and veal have been imported so far this year.

U. S. CHARGES 3 WATCH MAKERS RESTRAIN TRADE

Indictments List 26 Other Companies.

the three manufacturers [Hamilton, Elgin, and Waltham] and their respective distributors have not only curtailed the distribution of American made watches but have actually forced upon the American consumer foreign importations, and this is unquestionably substantiated by the tremendous rise in Swiss imports into the United States during the last several years.

"This rise in importations is even more astounding, considering the difficulty encountered by importers because of the present European conflict in having these foreign products reach the shores of this country."

Chicago Firms Named.

A number of Chicago distributors and individuals were among those indicted.

Named in all three indictments were: A. Hirsch company and Herman Hirsch, president and treasurer, and Herbert E. Winterberg, vice president; Manheimer Watch company, and S. G. Cogan president, and Ed. A. Manheimer, treasurer; M. A. Mead & Co., and J. T. Montgomery, president, and Mead Montgomery, treasurer; Stein & Ellbogan company, and A. L. Ellbogan, president, and J. S. Stein, vice president.

Also named in the indictment against the Hamilton company were: Ball company and Sidney Y. Ball, president; A. C. Becken company and Austin N. Clark, president and treasurer.

Also named in the indictment against the Elgin company were the Becken company and Clark. Both the Elgin and Waltham indictments named Buss-Linthicum-Thorson, Inc., and Louis G. Buss, president and treasurer, and Royal G. Linthicum, vice president.

FEWER CATTLE ON FEED IN CORN BELT THIS YEAR

The results of a recent federal survey of corn belt feedlots disclosed "a considerable decrease in cattle feeding" compared with the last two seasons, but about the same number of lambs on feed as a year ago, the department of agriculture reported yesterday. Traders on the Chicago cattle market said that high cost of feeding stock from the range, and the fact that fat cattle are selling for less than in 1940 was responsible.

Yesterday's trading in finished steers and yearlings continued draggy, with prices weak. Top steers sold at $12.65 a hundred pounds, which was $2.10 less than a year ago, a reduction of 14 per cent.

All other meat animals cost substantially more than in 1940. Despite a setback of 10 to 25 cents yesterday, top grades of lambs sold 17 per cent above a year ago.

Soon after a stronger opening, the market for hogs weakened slightly, but the average majority of the largest droves was unchanged at $10.15 a hundredweight, up 69 per cent compared with 1940.

RENEW PRIORITY AID FOR MAKING OF OIL BURNERS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—The Office of Production Management priorities division announced today that oil burners for defense housing construction on the eastern seaboard had been restored to the list of building materials on which priority assistance may be obtained.

Such burners originally were dropped from the list because of the threat of a petroleum shortage in the Atlantic states area.

GREAT LAKES SHIPS.

I would appreciate a report on the American Shipbuilding company. What have its defense activities been? —R. R. E.

Answer: The American Shipbuilding company is important in the construction and repair of ships in the Great Lakes region. Plants and dry docks are owned and controled in Cleveland and Lorain, O.; South Chicago, Ill.; Superior, Wis., and Buffalo, N. Y. The company, organized in 1899, has general offices in Cleveland.

In March this year, American Shipbuilding organized a subsidiary, the Delta Shipbuilding company, to construct 25 emergency cargo vessels for the United States maritime commission in New Orleans. In October the commission also awarded American Shipbuilding contracts for six ore carriers. By September the company had completed six of twelve steel net tenders for the navy and had contracted to deliver eight mine sweepers in October and November, 1942.

American Shipbuilding also is expected to participate in the government program for constructing several Great Lakes freight vessels. Last month the company said its yards were working at capacity.

Earnings of American Shipbuilding have been irregular but have improved since 1939 when operations resulted in a loss. Dividends on the common stock have been paid regularly in different amounts since 1916. Earnings for fiscal years ended June 30 follow:

1941	$1,648,539	$598,075	$4.69
1940	924,306	226,185	1.76
1939	450,095	*207,722	....
1938	1,182,322	427,674	3.36

*Loss.

There are 127,044 shares of no par common stock and only 339 shares 7 per cent noncumulative preferred, $100 par, outstanding. The common is listed on the New York Stock exchange. There is no funded debt.

Last year, $1 was paid on the common, compared with dividends of $1.50 in 1939 and $3 in 1938. Two distributions of $1 each have been made so far in 1941. The company's total assets at the end of June exceeded $9,500,000.

CASH GRAIN

Estimated receipts of cash grain at Chicago Thursday: Wheat, 7 cars; corn, 215 cars; oats, 27 cars; rye, 1 car; barley, 9 cars; soy beans, 22 cars. Range of cash grain prices per bushel in leading markets:

SOY BEANS SLIP MORE, BUT MOST GRAINS ADVANCE

Wheat and Oats Finish Strong; Corn Weak.

Continued favorable weather conditions in the central west and reports that harvesting of soy beans was increasing steadily lowered bean futures as much as 4 cents a bushel in the early trading yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. At the bottom the December delivery showed a recession of 10⅛ cents from its close on Monday, and was 14¾ cents under the high of last week.

Commission house support developed on the break and a rally followed with the close ½ to 2 cent lower, the latter on December which closed at $1.63⅜.

Wheat and Oats Advance.

Action of soy beans had much less effect on grains than in recent days, and altho the latter were somewhat lower early, a stronger undertone developed later. Wheat rallied over a cent from the bottom and closed ⅜ to ¾ cent higher. Oats gained ½ to ⅞ cent on buying induced by reports that a moderate amount of that grain had been sold for export. Rye was unchanged to ⅛ cent higher. Corn was ⅛ to ½ cent lower at the close.

The Commodity Credit corporation will sell 2½ million bushels of soft red winter wheat to Missouri mills, due to an acute scarcity of that variety, but will purchase a like amount of hard winter to replace the grain.

Cash Corn Market Weak.

Pronounced weakness developed in the cash corn market late in the session, having a considerable effect on the price of futures. Industries were not inclined to take much new corn, and carlots of grain received late were sold at large discounts. Shipping sales to the east were finally placed at 200,000 bushels, but had little effect as a market influence.

Small lots of cash oats have been sold out of Chicago to seaboard interests during the last few weeks, it is reported, and a little business has also been done in barley. Inability to secure grain from Canada has facilitated the business, elevator men said.

CUBAN SUGAR EXPORTS.

Cuban sugar exports from Jan. 1 to Nov. 8 totaled 2,745,803 long tons, raw value, against 1,901,278 tons during the corresponding 1940 period, Lamborn & Co. reported. Shipments to the United States were 2,188,843 tons against 1,539,263 tons.
